RUSSIANS HAVE MEN AND GUNS

Nothing Can Stop Their Victorious March Thru the Carpathians.

HUNGARY TALKS PEACE
 No Adjectives Used as Was Case When the War Started.

 Their troops can promise success, and to achieve this the Russians must use superiority in numbers, and this they have.
 Another important factor in the great battles now raging in the Carpathians is the artillery brought up for Russian forces. Last month they were short of guns, but it is stated that now they are well supplied with heavy and small calibre guns, presumably brought from around Permyn. Owing to lack of these and shortage of men their offensive was not effective before, but having now conquered these two difficulties the Russian offensive cannot but be successful. Parliament will begin work April 19, and the session will not pass without incidents, for some independent members will ask questions regarding operations, especially the Permyn sort of March 19, when 10,000 men sacrificed their lives for no purpose whatever. As I wrote before in one of my previous articles, peace talk is quite general already in Hungary, and this is the only subject the people are keenly interested in. At first it was a question of victorious peace. Now the objective is disappearing. In most cases only officials and well-headed politicians, with a view of keeping up the nation's spirits, are talking of victory; but they talk peace too. Honor and peace is also a term very popular now. The gap between the two objectives lies somewhere in the spring mist of the snow clad precipices of the Carpathians.

FRESH ADVANCE ON METZ BEGAN

 that six German battalions were destroyed in succession in the course of recent attacks in southern Westveve. Offensive in Alsace Again.
 A fresh offensive has begun from Hartmanns-Werkkopf in southern Alsace. A small peak which served as the headquarters of a German column during the recent fighting for the possession of the mountain was captured, and progress was made beyond this peak with the capture of many prisoners.
 The rest of the front was generally quiet and it rained throughout the day.
 The effect of the new offensive in the eastern part of France and Alsace is expected to force the Germans to thin out their lines on other portions of the front and give the British and Belgian troops another opportunity to strike a decisive blow in Flanders. It will also stop the sending of many German troops to fight the Russians in the east, movements of which have been noted.

 Special to The Toronto World.
 L.T. Ont. April 6.—At tonight's meeting of the town council of Galt, the tax rate for 1915 was struck at 28 mills, an increase of two mills over the rate of 26 mills.
 Wm. Edwards, chairman of the finance committee, stated that the total tax to be raised was $192,000.50, an increase of $11,000 more than last year. The tax of one mill, the grant to the school fund, the proposed estimate for the public schools and other small items over which the council had authority.

MYSTERY IN HORSE PURCHASES

 A slighting reference by Mr. Knowles in the Province of Ontario provoked a stinging rebuke from Mr. Sutherland (South Oxford), who intimated that it would be good for this country when a prairie province ceased their constant appeals for aid to the Dominion Parliament.
 Several members protested against federal inspection of horses being restricted to abattoirs engaged in export and interprovincial trade, insisting that some efficient system of inspection should be established to safeguard all the consumers of Canada. Mr. W. F. Maclean of South York, in this connection, said that the municipal abattoir of Toronto might suggest a solution for the problem, which many localities were confronted.

GOING TO THE FRONT

The house put thru committee stage this morning the bill conferring jurisdiction upon the supreme court of Canada to entertain appeals in controverted election cases arising out of provincial elections in the Province of Manitoba.
 Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would not oppose the bill, although he thought it was wrong in principle. Provincial matters should be decided by provincial courts.
 R. B. Bennett (Calgary) was of a like opinion. He said the house was laboring to reduce appeals in Dominion election cases and at the same time was granting an additional appeal in provincial election cases.
 Hon. C. J. Doherty said he questioned the wisdom of the Manitoba legislation, but as that province had seen fit to provide for an appeal to the supreme court of Canada, the Dominion Government had no choice but to implement such legislation by conferring jurisdiction upon the supreme court. The bill did not create any new right of appeal, but merely permitted the federal court to ultimately decide provincial cases so far as appeals were concerned at the request of that province.
Demonstration Farms.
 The estimates of the department of agriculture were then taken up, and Hon. Mr. Burrell explained the demonstration farm scheme now being inaugurated. That scheme provided for the farmer cultivating forty acres of land with seed furnished by the department and under the expert direction of the department. All the farmers in the neighborhood could then see for themselves the advantages of scientific farming.
 Dr. Edwards (Frontenac) commended the plan, which he thought would be a great improvement over the big experimental farms. The farmers often visited the experimental farms at Ottawa, but they went home with the idea that the kind of farming they carried on required more capital than they could raise.
 Mr. Knowles, the Liberal member for Assiniboia, waxed sarcastic at the inability of Ontario people, who were so "sure they knew everything" to benefit from the experimental farm in their midst.

Ontario Showed Way.
 Donald Sutherland (South Oxford) replied with some warmth that the Province of Ontario had been the pioneer in agricultural education. The late Sir John Carling as a minister of the Ontario government had founded the famous institution at Guelph, and later on as a member of Sir John Macdonald's government had established the experimental farm at Ottawa. The province had accomplished a great deal in agricultural development. During the past year Ontario had produced dairy products valued at $125,000,000, live stock valued at $510,000,000 and had exported agricultural products worth $186,000,000. The province raised 80 per cent. of all the fruit of Canada and 90 per cent. of the peaches.
 Mr. Sutherland went on to say that the people of Ontario had generously contributed to the upbuilding of the west. He thought it was about time that the western provinces began to stand on their own feet. He regretted that the screenings from the government terminal elevators were marketed, as Ontario suffered from foul weeds imported from the west. Mr. Knowles replied that the west was under no obligation to Ontario. On the contrary, the west was suffering from the rule of Ontario politicians at Ottawa.

Danger of Epidemic

Mr. Duncan Ross (Middlesex) urged that the Animal Contagious Disease Act be amended so as to pay more generous compensation for animals slaughtered by the government. The act, he thought, ought to be amended at once in view of the danger from the hoof and mouth disease.
 The minister said that the United States Government during the present epidemic had slaughtered 50,000 cattle and as many hogs at a cost of $1,000,000. He was quite hopeful that the epidemic would not spread to this country.
 When the administration of the Food and Meat Act was under consideration, Mr. Edwards (Frontenac) complained that the government institutions at Kingston in calling for tenders for meat stipulated that all meat furnished must be inspected by the federal government. The federal government, however, only inspected meat intended for export or inter-provincial trade and, therefore, the local butchers could not tender.
 Mr. Douglas (Strathcona) made a similar complaint.
Toronto's Fine Abattoir.
 W. F. Maclean (South York) suggested that the solution of the difficulty might be reached if other places followed the example of Toronto. The city now owned probably the best abattoir in Canada. There cattle were slaughtered for the city and the district. Mr. Maclean could see no reason why this system could not be adopted in smaller centres, and urged

Why Not Nickel?

Hon. Frank Oliver could not see why the government prohibited the export of horses and cattle to the west. He had a peculiar monopoly, and it was more eagerly sought after by the enemy than horses, and the Dominion Government had given a substantial order. It was undesirable to weaken the resources of the empire in any way. The importation of products from the enemy's country was forbidden. The Dominion Government, however, acting in close co-operation with the imperial government might permit certain exports to certain countries at various times, and might even permit the importation of German products if necessary for the maintenance of some Canadian industry.

Middleman Excluded.

Sir Robert Borden said he was quite prepared to admit that the Canadian horse buyers should obtain a good price. The Dominion Government, of course, was not responsible for the way in which the imperial authorities had purchased their horses. At present it was the settled policy of the Dominion Government to buy directly from the farmer, to the exclusion of the middleman. He had been advised by Sir Adam Beck that there were more horses in Canada than the Canadian Government required for military purposes, and he therefore thought it advisable that the British and French buyers should be permitted to re-enter the market, and be

TYPHUS RAGING AMONG THE TURKS

Multitudes of Wounded Also Crowd Streets of Constantinople.

DOCTOR FELL A VICTIM

Inspector-General of Sanitation Department is Reported Very Ill.
 Special to The Toronto World.
 WASHINGTON, April 6.—Typhus is raging in Constantinople, while multitudes of wounded crowd the city, writes Dr. Wilfred MacIver Post of the American Red Cross, stationed in the Turkish capital, in a letter to Miss Mabel T. Boardman. By special arrangements with the Ottoman authorities, two big hospitals in Constantinople have been turned over to the Red Cross.
 "Reports from the front," said Dr. Post, "tell of active work in Van, Erzerum, Sivas and Konia." Writing from Van, Dr. Usher describes the conditions in his field as calling for liberal aid. He had trained a small ambulance corps. He described many of the wounded as at first being brought in on rude ox carts or tied to the back of oxen, which were driven along, and when the unfortunate patient would have slipped from the position in which he had first been tied and would be almost dragged along the ground.
 One Doctor Died.
 "Dr. Sewny, who went from Sivas to Erzerum, fell an early victim to typhus and died almost before his mission of mercy had commenced. Suleiman Nouman Pacha, inspector-general of the military sanitation department, was in Erzerum recently and is reported also to have died of typhus."
 "Sivas was reported as suffering from an epidemic of typhus among the Kurds," and Dr. Dodd writes from Konia that the same is true of that city. Fortunately, by prompt isolation and careful disinfection, he was able to prevent the spread of the disease in the hospital.

BRITISH BUYERS RECALLED

Hon. Frank Oliver said in reply to the opening of the war he had accompanied a British army officer from Ottawa to Toronto who had been sent to this country to buy horses. That officer had opened an office in Toronto, but a few days later he received a cable from the war office telling him to make no more purchases, but to return home immediately.
 Hon. Frank Oliver said it appeared that the British Government had been misled from the Canadian market and he thought that the Dominion Government should have made strong representations on the subject, in view of the fact that we had so many horses to sell. As he understood it, the Dominion Government had done nothing of the kind.
 Sir Robert Borden repeated his former statement, that reasons which he could not disclose made it necessary for the British and French governments to purchase horses outside of Canada. He said that the Dominion Government had felt that it should first equip its own military units with horses purchased in Canada. It would have been quite undesirable for the Dominion Government to buy horses in the United States.

PIRATE SUBMARINE CAUGHT IN A NET

Raider Reported Trapped Off Dover by Ingenious Device.
 TWO MORE VICTIMS
 British Steamer and Trawler Sunk, But No Lives Lost.

LONDON, April 6.—The trapping of a German submarine in a specially designed net, off Dover, is reported by the Dunkirk correspondent of The Petit Journal. It is stated that the French naval authorities expect to capture the submarine when it comes to the surface.
 The sinking of two more British craft by German submarines was reported today. The steamer Northlands sank in ten minutes, after being torpedoed off Beachy Head in the English Channel on Monday morning. The crew of 24 was picked up by a Belgian steamer.
 The Northlands, which had a cargo of iron ore, was of 2000 tons, and was owned by a Cardiff firm.
 The trawler Agatha was sunk yesterday off Langstone, a Swedish steamer picked up the crew of 13 men. Stockholm reports that the Swedish steamer England, from Buenos Ayres for Gothenburg, was seized by German submarines in the Baltic and taken to a German port.
 Denial of the report that the Italian steamer Luigi Faroli was sunk by a German steamer comes from Genoa.
 Belridge Torpedoed.
 A Christiania dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Company says that the report of a committee of experts submitted to the government, confirms the fact that the Norwegian tank steamer Belridge, the first Norwegian ship to be damaged in the war zone around the British Isles, was torpedoed. The damage to the ship is estimated at approximately $67,000, and the despatch adds, the government will now present to Germany a demand for indemnification.

LABORER SMOTHERED IN SEWER TRENCH

While working in a sewer trench eleven feet below the level of the ground yesterday morning on Drofnas avenue, near Woodbine, Frank Ambrose, an Italian, was smothered to death by about three tons of sand and clay falling on him. The trench was boarded on each side to within two feet of the bottom, which was quicksand. The sand gave way below the boards and the side of the trench for some distance came down on him. His fellow workmen were digging for an hour before they located him.
 Ambrose, who lives at 30 Markham street, was employed by A. E. Jupp of Toronto and Halleybury, Dr. Hill, 469 Danforth avenue, was called, but the man was dead. The body was removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held.
