

FIG 7.

touches all other points or objects of the same height. We cannot see the deck of the small fishing boat ashore and the hull of the distant ship rises above it ; but we climb the cliff until we come on a level with the standing figure on the rock in shadow, the line of the horizon follows as it were, our movement. We now see the deck of the small ship ashore and the tops of the larger vessel come level with the horizon. One vessel

FIG 8