

of Common Prayer, though without specifying every particular Sunday in the year.

There will be found an index of subjects at the close of the volume, in addition to the index of first lines.

In the selection of the Hymns, free use has been made of upwards of thirty Collections, and the best reading in every case sought.

With humble dependence upon the Divine blessing, they are committed to the Church at large, and, especially, to the Congregation of St. Thomas' Church, for whose more immediate use they have been selected.