Principal O'Meara made a statement showing the attendance at the college to be 129. He referred to the new wing and new chapel, which has not yet reached completion. The new wing has been provided with accommo-dation for 98, he declared. Last year there were in attendance 116 of which number 13 graduated. "The Widening Ansaton of the Storical School," was the subject of an historical aidress by Rev. E. E. Wilbur, D.D., of the Methodist Protestant Church, who marked the growth of the Sunday school from the time of the priest Ezra, more particularly dealing with its growth from the time of the modern system of Sunday school teaching in-stituted by Robert Raikes in Glouces-ter in 1980. This movement fell upon propitious times. The dark ages had swept away learning. Learning, both secular and sacred, was confined to the elergy, and the renaissance was the greatest essential to the rapid growth of Sunday schools. of the cabinet, after which the new minister went to his office in the department of fands, forests and mines, where he made himself acquainted with his office staff. nber 13 graduated. with his office staff.
