WESTERN RUTHENIANS IN SECRET CONFERENCE

With the object of preventing the assimilation into Canadian nationality of the Ruthenians, who in Canada number now some 200,000, with from five to twelve children in a family, a secret conference of Ruthenian nationalist leaders of the western provinces will be held at Saskatoon on July 18 and 19. While the ostensible object of the meeting is to found a Ruthenian national church in Canada, of which Rev. Rodkervich of Montreal, a Ruthenian Catholic priest, has already been chosen as bishop, the move is acknowledged by its sponsors, according to prominent local Ruthenians, to be a political, rather than a religious one. Grass Cattle Moving.

Cattle marketing, generally speaking, has been comparatively quiet during the week, altho Brant reports considerable cattle going on the local market at from 11 cents to 14 cents a pound. In Ontario County, grass cattle are beginning to move, with prices slightly easier, owing to the tendency of some to dispose of their animals before they are properly dinished.

The flow of milk having reached its flood ds slowly falling off with the decline in the condition of pastures. A number of creamery managers declare that so far this year they have beaten their own records for business.

Hogs range in price from $17$ to $13$, but too many are being marketed under weight. About sixty animals are being raised in the Town of Clinton. Small plgs are in good demand, fetching from $7$ to $10 each, according to the very size of the year.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

GIVE THE CHILDREN A CHANCE

BY DOROTHY DIX The World's Highest Paid Woman Writer.

When they start out looking for work they find that nobody wants their unskilled services. Every employer's first question is: "Are you a good mechanic?" "Can you keep books?" "Are you a stenographer?" "Are you a salesman?" "Can you cook?" "Can you drive a car?" And when they answer "No," they are turned away, and the door of opportunity is shut in their faces.

They are like a merchant with empty shelves who is trying to sell goods that he does not possess. Nobody will be a worked ten years of time in climbing from the office boy's bench to the bookkeeper's stool that any good commercial school could have bridged for him in a six months' course.

An interesting case illustrating this came under my own observation. A bright, intelligent, energetic boy graduated from high school. His father that he wasted ten years of time in climbing from the office boy's bench to the bookkeeper's stool that any good commercial school could have bridged for him in a six months' course.

But the real fault is with the parents. They are to blame. The children have a right to reproach them for crowding them out of the home nest without ever taking the trouble to teach them how to fly.

There are many fathers and mothers of Spartan mold who believe that the best way to teach a child independence and to harden its character is to chuck it out into the world and make it depend upon itself for its own salvation. Sometimes this plan works out admirably. Oftener it ends in disaster. But in any case it would seem the part of the sheerest humanity to throw some sort of a life raft out along with the poor little swimmer to which it could cling.

This consists in giving the boy or girl some sort of a trade, in teaching him or her some definite useful occupation by which he or she can make a living. To do that is to give the young one a fighting change in life.

such a noble support to the cause which the allies are defending against German barbarism. "On the day of victory for our arms," says Mr. Godart, "the Canadian Red Cross Society will indeed be entitled to a please of honor." Lyons, France, and formerly undersecretary for war, who was visiting Canada as a representative of the French Government, wrote the chairman of the central council of the Canadian Red Cross, from Noel Marletter expressing the gratitude of the republic for the assistance received

In hundreds of thousands of homes in this country there are boys and girls who have just graduated from high school, and who must now take upon their young shoulders the burden of earning their own livelihood.

They face the world with quaking hearts and bewildered eyes. They do not know which way to turn, and their parents are either too ignorant, or too careless and indifferent to point out the path they should take. They must find a job, but they have been taught no trade or profession, they have been fitted to do no particular line of labor.

When they start out looking for work they find that nobody heiped him; that nobody gave him any training; that he went out and found his first job himself and began by sweeping out the office, and now look at him. He is floor manager. Fine! Congratulations to father! But he doesn't reflect that times have changed, that business men are too busy now-a-days to train their cub office boys, and that there work work. These are the days of professional not amateur business. Which makes father's case no guide for John.

They are like a merchant with empty shelves who is trying to sell goods that he does not possess. Nobody will buy, and so the boy or girl sinks into doing the most menial, ill-paid and discouraging labor, or else joins the ranks of the loafers and idlers and I-can't-get-a-jobbers.

In all such cases the parents blame the children. Mother sighs and says that she is afraid that Johnnie and Mary are not going to amount to much, they don't seem able to find anything to do. Father looks black and grumbles that he isn't going to feed any lazy, trifling, good-for-nothings who go out looking for jobs with their eyes shut.

But the real fault is with the parents.

him or her some definite useful occupation by which he or she can make a living. To do that is to give the young one a fighting chance in life To fail to do it is to send it weapon less out to fight the hard battle of life. The parents who have their children taught the knowledge and skill with which to do some work for which the world is willing to pay have safeguarded their sons and daughters frortwant and misfortune as far as human protection can go. They have done their duty by their children.

But the parents who teach their children no special trade, who cultivate no especial skill for any art or craftin them, but who let them blunder along from one bunglingly performed job to another have utterly failed in living.

SOME ILLS AND THEIR CURES. The insect world is at its busiest these days in the war garden and it is important that the pests be given attention just as soon as they appear. Delay in spraying or removal may prove fatal.

The following table may help the war gardener to make the best of his beet crop: Leaf Spot—(Red and purple spots, turning ash gray).
Remedy—Spray with Bordeaux mixture when plants are 3 to 4 inches high, repeating two and four weeks later.

Web worm—(Eats the leaves).
Remedy—Spray with arsenate of lead when worms appear; repeat when necessary.
Spinach aphis—(Sucks sap from leaves).

Spinach aprils—(Sucks ap Holi-leaves).

Remedy—Spray with nicotine sulphate when pests appear and repeat when necessary.

Beet-root aphis—(Sucks ap from roots).

Remedy—Pour a small amount of nicotine sulphate spray around roots and repeat if necessary.
