HOWARD FELL FROM A TREE

Injured Internally, Right Leg and Jaw Broken and Teeth Nearly All Knocked Out.

THE POOR LITTLE FELLOW MAY DIE.

A Bicyclist Meets With a Mishap and a Horse Runs Mad.

Little Howard Curry, son of Mr. J. L. Curry, night chief operator at the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, met with a sad accident last night, while playing with his chums, about 6:20 o'clock he was up a tree gathering chestnuts. He stepped from one of the limbs and fell to the sidewalk, a dice with a red eye. The little chap was unable to get up and some of his playmates went for aid. One picked the boy up and placed him on a board. He was strapped down and carried to his home at 141 Nassau-street, where a physician was hurriedly sent for and in the meantime the family did all they could for the little sufferer. He is injured internally and may not get better. His right leg is broken below the knee and his right jaw broken. His teeth were nearly all knocked out and his face and head were cut.

Howard Curry is 6 years old and a particularly bright boy. He only started to go to school this term.

In turning out of the cut, Mr. Davis turned into a high wheel and his bicycle struck. He was knocked down and his bicycle wrecked. Dr. Gordon dressed the wounds and he was conveyed home in the ambulance.

A Brick Runaway.

One of the Robert Simpson Company's delivery wagons was standing on East Front-street yesterday morning, near the G. T. R. crossing, when the horse took flight and dashed toward the west. The animal crossed the tracks and collided with a brick wall. He was unable to turn in any direction. At Carlaw-avenue, he was stopped. The wagon was demolished and the horse cut, but no person was hurt.

NEW ST. ANDREW'S PASTOR.

Impressive Induction Services Held Yesterday Afternoon and an Informal Reception Tended in the Evening.

"Your pastor has come to you from another land, severed family ties, social ties, a disconnection of almost all the ties that bind him to his old home, to a place where he is formed by one loving and beloved; cherish and encourage him." Such was a touching point in Prof. Ballantyne's address to the people of St. Andrew's church, at the induction of their new pastor, Rev. Armstrong Black. That sentence went home to no hearts more than to those who have never surely saw the magnificent church filled with such an earnest and sympathetic congregation. Although Mr. Black is a man of great self-control, the sight of this congregation, with its responsibilities, and the sense of being far from home, caused emotion which it was impossible to conceal. The address was all able and remarkable for its sincerity. The sermon was that of a man of great faith and courage, and that inspired. The address to the minister was given by the Rev. J. J. McLean, who is a man of great faith and courage, and that inspired. The address to the congregation was given by the Rev. J. J. McLean, who is a man of great faith and courage, and that inspired.

These we guarantee absolutely to retain their original soft blue color, or, failing this, we will replace them entirely at our own expense.
