THEN showing goods, the traveller's cuffs as well as his goods are brought right before the prospective custom-er's eyes. A soiled cuff doesn't create a favorable impression. And it draws the attention away from the article to the soiled

The alert, particular traveller, therefore, has to take a big bunch of shirts on his trips and change often—unless he carries W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs with him when he needs just half the usual quantity.

Everyone knows that the cuffs-the most exposed portion of a shirt—get soiled first. And it doesn't take long for a dirty train or dusty road to

But when one side of his Double Wear Cuffs gets soiled the traveller just turns the cuffs, which fold easily and lie perfectly flat either way they're turned. He thus wears his shirt twice as long.

If he is away for a period of two weeks to a month or longer every inch in his grip or personal trunk is valuable. W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs save space for him, cut laundry bills for shirts in half, and wear longer. Ask your dealer to show you

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you we are glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that, according to Dr. Lewis, there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were falling say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain me dreadfully, now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to ome." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seemed clear I can even thing seemed clear I can even from any good druggist and is one of the slasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be sale to strengthen their eyes so as the spared the trouble and expense of the Strong and Company, to be spared the trouble and expense rural districts, and my fellow-laborers in the urban communities that I decided to let my name go to the Liberal convention last March.

At that time there was no thought of a U. F. O. candidate being placed in the field. On the contrary, their organizers were giving assurance that candidates would not be nominated. Subsequently, however, for some reason that has not been satisfactorily explained, this wise policy was reversed, with the result that we have many three-cornered contests throughout the province in this election. Now since the policies and platforms of the Reform party and the U. F. O. are essentially the same it is clear that both are in opposition to the Hearst Government. And it is just as clear that for the U. F. O. and the Liberals to both keep candidates in the field in the same constituency is to divide the Opposition vote and thus assure the election of the Government candidate. If this occurs in a sufficiently large number of ridings is means the return to power of the present Government and standard in the same to riding is means the return to power of the present Government and standard in the same to other present Government and standard in the field in the same constituency is to divide the Opposition to the Hearst Government candidate. In London's case, this percentage is supposed to be about 75, but the investigations of the committee revealed that the average is not uniformly maintained, and that a considerably smaller percentage of value of the larger properties is common. has been found by the members of the committee to vary form 30 to 96 prent of value. The recommendation will be presented to the city council.

Discuss Playgrounds.

Considerable discussion resulted from the reading of the joint report of the playgrounds and social service committees of the Chamber of Commerce by M. Adams. This report recommended action on the part of the city council, following the proposal that four or five playgrounds be opened in various parts of the city for the general welfare of the children, and that an increase of a playfrounds be opened in various parts of the city for the general welfare of the children, and that an increase of a quarter of a mill be made in the taxes to provide the necessary expenditure. By the opening of the new playgrounds, similar to the present one at Thames Park, the children will not have to play on the streets, and so accidents and unsuitable surroundings will be greatly eliminated. The report also stated that the maximum attendance at the present playgrounds during the summer season was 164 children.

Opened as Experiment.

That number would have been larger, it was explained, if the park had been opened earlier in the year and if there had been a more extensive provision of equipment made at first. In addition, the playgrounds were opened more as an experiment than as a permanent affair.

"Many people whe live in the said."

affair.

"Many people who live in the neighborhood of the playgrounds," said J. H. Laughton, "strongly object to the noise which was daily created. The city certainly will not grow and increase in importance without children, and the playgrounds is the proper, safest place for them, and they should be considered. If the city council cannot deal with the matter, then the people should be asked to vote upon it at the next election."

Advocate Half Mill.

"If a vote is to be taken on the matter," Jared Vining said in support, "an educative campaign should be started for the benefit of the people. What is even one mill on the dollar to citizens as against the improper training of the children?"

"That the city council ask Londoners."

"I'it the city council ask Londoners to vote on the matter next January, and that an increase of one-half mill be made to the tax rate to meet the required expenditure," was the substance of a resolution made by John Cottam, which was unanimously carried.

Gen. J. C. R. Foster, who was campaign manager of the Chamber of Commerce reorganization and membership drive last year, commended the efficient work done by the organization during the past period. The progress made, he said, proved that a comprehensive plan of work was absolutely necessary at the beginning of the year, which should be expanded at the end of the year.

Notes increased Building.

A great change, principally in regard to the building activities here, was noted by the speaker upon coming to London after almost a year's absence. He held the splendid work accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce to be partly responsible for it. The need of a firm community spirit and unity was never needed more than at the present time he said.

That steps be immediately taken by the city council to secure an independent valuation of the city by a competent expert, or experts in full cooperation with the present assessment department, and that the methods installed should be such that the average citizen can readily secure the data on which his or her assessment is based, and feel satisfied that it is fair and just, and in accordance with assessments made elsewhere.

When the bread drivers and milkmen went on strike, the question of food and drink became a grave one. A meeting of two members of the city league, labor men and the city council, which was supposed to have been neutral, was called, and decided to issue tickets in order that those men who had returned to their positions on the orders of the union, should not be mistaken for strikebreakers. For issuing these tickets, Rev. Mr. Ivens will stand trial. The accused stated that A. J. Clarke, prosecuting attorney, who appeared against him and the other seven labor men, was one of the committee which authorized the issuing of the tickets. The committee of one thousand, which was bucking the workingman, discouraged the strike, and asked the men to use constitutional methods, but at the same time said that these methods should be crushed. This committee is said to be composed of real estate men and other wealthy citizens. EMERY CLOTH. GLASS, FLINT and GARNET PAPERS citizens.
