

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WHEN OUR SHIPS COME HOME.

We need not send our cargoes Across the trackless foam. And wait with weary watching To see our ships come home.

We need not count the perils Of sharp and hidden rocks. Nor will our longed for treasures Be rent by tempest shocks.

We need not weigh the dangers Of false lights on the shore; The fury of the billows Is gone for evermore.

For high above the waters Their hopes and fears and longings On airships now will freight. —McLandburgh Wilson, in N. Y. Sun.

THE ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTES.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, of England, wife of the Labor member of parliament for Blackburn, addressed an open session of the National American Woman Suffrage Association at Buffalo.

"The woman's movement in Great Britain is the biggest thing in the political life of our country to-day," said Mrs. Snowden in opening her address. "I am understanding the facts when I tell you that more than six million people have, thru their organizations, come out in favor of suffrage and more than a million are working for equal political rights, working as they never worked before."

"Our methods may have seemed strange to you, for perhaps you do not fully understand. We are not demanding something new. English women had the parliamentary franchise until 1832. The country up to then was governed by a mere handful of people, less than 700,000. Few of them were women. It is true, for it is only within the last 40 years that a woman did not relinquish her property rights upon marriage; but up to 1832, women who were land owners had the franchise."

Mrs. Snowden went on to describe the reasons why, in the old days, women did not often vote, travel was more difficult, women stayed more at home, the household cares were more, their acquaintance with political questions not so great, their interest in the general subject of equal rights for all not so thoroughly aroused.

"We have the municipal vote, and we have used it for many years," she continued, much to the evident surprise of many in the audience. "To-day any English woman may vote for everybody except parliament; they may, moreover, sit in every political body except parliament. We are after that last right. The English politicians want it, the members of parliament want it. We have 420 members of parliament out of 670 pledged to this reform. Every reputable paper in England is with us. When the full suffrage bill went to its second reading, the votes stood three to one in its favor. We want that vote put thru. But it is the British cabinet we must get at to finally approve the act when once it has passed the two houses. It is parliament we are trying to annoy."

"Our government," continued Mrs. Snowden, "taking the audience into her confidence, 'never moves in any radical way until it is kicked.' Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, when prime minister, advised this country to harass the government until they got what they wanted, and that is just what we are doing to-day."

"The American newspapers have told you that we kick policemen, that we spit at them, that we go about the streets in slovenly dress, and with our hair hanging down our backs. 'If it were not so monstrous,' it would make you laugh, but it is unjust. These women are not the sloppy creatures you have been taught to think. They are refined, well-bred, cultured women who shrink with dread from becoming conspicuous in any way. At first they all shrank. They are good women who believe in a great and lofty principle of equal rights, and will not let their personal sense of dignity stand in the way of the thing they believe to be right and just."

Mrs. Snowden said the treatment accorded to English women at some political meetings, had it occurred in America, would have resulted in a lynching.

It was announced that the international council of women will meet in Canada, probably in Montreal next year, and will go to Seattle from that place by the Canadian Pacific Railway and take part in the convention of the Suffrage Association.

The Browning Club. The Browning Club will begin its work for the season this evening in the parlors of the Unitarian Church, Jarvis-street, above Wilton-avenue. Prof. Alexander of Toronto University will give the opening lecture on the subject of reading.

The old firm of Heintzman & Co., Limited, 15-17 King-street west, Toronto, are not manufacturers of organs, but they are constantly taking them in as exchange when selling their own pianos. They have a big lot now, all put in good condition, that they are selling at prices running as low as $50, $35 and $40—payable a trifle down in cash and a small amount each month.

How I Took My Wrinkles Out

After Facial Massage, Creams and Beauty Doctors Had Failed.

BY HARRIETT META.

Trouble, worry and ill-health brought me deep lines and wrinkles. I realized that they not only greatly marred my appearance and made me look much older, but that they would greatly interfere with my success, because a woman's success, either socially or financially, depends very largely on her appearance. The homely woman, with deep lines and frowns on her face, must fight an unequal battle with her younger and better looking sister.

I therefore bought various brands of cold cream and skin foods and massaged my face with most constant regularity, hoping to regain my former appearance. But the wrinkles simply would not go. On the contrary, they seemed to get deeper. Next I went to a beauty specialist, who told me she could easily rid me of my wrinkles. So I paid my money and took the treatment. Sometimes I thought they got less, but after spending all the money I could afford for such treatment, I found I still had my wrinkles. So I gave up in despair and concluded I must carry them to my grave. One day a friend of mine who was versed in chemistry made a suggestion, and this gave me a new idea. I immediately went to work making experiments and studying everything I could get hold of on this subject. After several long months of almost numberless trials and discouragements, I finally discovered a process which produced most astounding results on my wrinkles in a single night. I was delighted beyond expression. I tried my treatment again, and lo and behold! my wrinkles were practically gone. A third treatment—three nights in all—and I had no wrinkles and my face was as smooth as ever. I next offered my treatment to some of my immediate friends, who used it with surprising results, and I have now decided to offer it to the public. Miss Gladys Desmond of Pittsburg, Penn., writes that it made her wrinkles disappear in one night. Mrs. Jas. Barrs of Central City, S. D., writes as follows: "My face has become fuller, the flesh firmer and my eyes brighter; all of which is due to your marvelous treatment. The change is so great that it seems to be more a work of magic." I will send further particulars to anyone who is interested, absolutely free of charge. I use no cream, facial massage, face-steamers or so-called skin foods; there is nothing to inject and nothing to injure the skin. It is an entirely new discovery of my own and so simple that you can use it without the knowledge of your most intimate friends. You apply the treatment at night and go to bed. In the morning, lo! the wonderful transformation. People often write me, "It sounds too good to be true." Well, the test will tell. If interested in my discovery, please address Harriett Meta, Suite 1250E, Syracuse, N. Y., and I will send full particulars.

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy, so that it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I thought that many of the things I tried were positively injurious, and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures I finally found a simple prescription, which I used with most remarkable results, and I can unhesitatingly state that it is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair, and for restoring grey hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair much easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his grey hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The preparation is as follows: 6 oz. menthol crystals, 1-2 drachm; lavone de compose, 2 oz.; To-Kalon perfume, 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls.

Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp. Go to your druggist and ask for the eight ounce bottle containing six ounces of bay rum, also one-half drachm of menthol crystals, and for a two-ounce bottle of lavone de compose. Mix the ingredients yourself at your own home. Add the menthol crystals to the bay rum and then pour in the lavone de compose and add the To-Kalon perfume. Let it stand for one-half hour and it is ready to use.

Public Amusements

There is an unusual charm to be found in "The Gay Parisienne," the musical comedy attraction at the Royal Alexandra this week. The patrons of this theatre have been treated to the Imperial Opera Company this season to look forward to productions marked with beauty and perfection of their staging, but in this instance the most sanguine expectations have been overshadowed. "The Gay Parisienne" is very humorous, very bright and dashing and well worth the while. The piece in itself is very good, but the greatest charm to the offering at the Royal Alexandra lies in the excellent interpretation and work of the Imperial's cast of principals. Miss Agnes Cain Brown, the prima donna, in the role of Mile Julie Bon Bon presents a picture seldom seen. Her refined and delicate conception of this role, which has but too often been spoiled by crudity, deserves unlimited praise. In the studied portrayal of the eccentric character, Ruth, Miss Carrie Reynolds is adding many new friends to her already large list of admirers. One and all the large cast deserves all possible praise, for step by step thru the entire piece the concerted work of capable artists is noticeable. Nor is this confined to the principals; the chorus, splendid in strength and drill, is one of the most prominent features in "The Gay Parisienne."

The program which Emil Sauer, the great solo pianist, will present at Massey Hall to-morrow (Thursday) evening, is of a very notable character. It includes Beethoven's Sonata Pathétique and Bach's concerto in D minor. The numbers are as follows:
1 Concerto D minor, Friedemann-Bach Arranged by August Sauer.

Fuga, Largo, Final.
