

HOPE IN CHILDREN, WOMEN DECLARE

National Council Discusses Variety of Subjects—Hearst Papers Scored.

A strenuous day was spent yesterday by the provincial committee of the National Council of Women, which met at the Sherbourne House Club, with representatives from different parts of the province. Dr. Stowe-Gullen in the chair. News of summer activities and the consideration of reports took up most of the session. In her address the president spoke on the importance of the work of Canadian women in the foreign field. She told of instances of which she had learned in the west in which women teachers had been flag on the school it was repeatedly torn down. An appeal to the trustees in one instance had resulted in their acknowledgment that the same could be done with the adults, and that the hope was in the children. The speaker thought something should be done to eradicate such an action. Dr. Gullen stated that she believed that no one woman should think that the whole responsibility for social reform was upon herself, but that each should take upon herself some particular work.

The question whether the provincial committee should resolve itself into a council or remain a committee had advocates for and against. A point in favor was that as a council, provincial organizations such as the Women's Institutes and the Ontario Teachers' Associations could not be received, but at present having no special affiliation. An argument against the formation of a council was that in time the provincial might take from the power of the National Council. The matter was left over to be considered by the local councils, which represent the majority of women's societies, an amendment moved by Miss Falconer, and seconded by Mrs. Fowler, carrying the point.

The question of finance for the forwarding of provincial business was discussed, a suggestion being that local councils and affiliated societies pay an annual fee. The matter was not decided, the treasurer, Mrs. Lambert, of London, was appointed. A special committee was named to wait upon the Hon. Peter Smith, re closer censorship for films and vaudeville presented in the theatres.

Knowledge On Citizenship. Among the resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the National Council that were considered, one was one urging affiliated societies to initiate a strong movement among women for intelligent knowledge of citizenship; that Canadian citizens numbers honored for service during the war be recorded as history, and that the councils ask that in the treatment of women offenders in the women's court, the woman magistrate and the policeman be more generally available.

A good deal of discussion arose out of a resolution pointing out the "iniquitous and anti-British articles appearing in the Hearst publications." The resolution expressed sympathy with the government in its efforts to stop the Hearst papers, and stated that the National Council refuse to buy any of same. A list of these publications was read.

Other resolutions dealt with the desirability of having women act on juries, also women inspectors where women are incarcerated. A general resolution on teaching both English and French in all the primary schools of Canada, supervised playgrounds on a national plan. Dominion certificates for teachers and a national bureau for information for the National Council were other features discussed.

Care of children under various headings was the subject of several resolutions, one of which pointed out that as all citizens should have opportunity that the legislatures be asked to remove all legal disabilities from the children of unmarried parents. Still another resolution dealt with domestic science and art be compulsory in the third and fourth classes in the schools. That a cup of milk be given to all children under ten years of age in city and town schools, was also asked, and that state medical attention be for all maternity cases to be obtained thru an educative propaganda to be launched thru the federated associations.

This morning a delegation from the provincial will wait upon the Hon. W. E. Roney, attorney-general, for the purpose of presenting resolutions which can be made effective thru government aid.

WOMEN REPORT ON FOREIGN MISSIONS

At the annual meeting of the board of managers of the Women's Missionary Society, held last night in Parkdale Methodist Church, Miss Margaret D. Keasey, B.H. Sc., enlarged upon the part household science was playing as one of the important sections of mission work. Miss Laura Hamby, who is also home on furlough, has spent seven years in Tzeleutzing, China. She chose as her subject, "The Growth of the Boarding School," and the value of attracting to it as a means of drawing the girls in China together so that they may be influenced the more easily in the right direction.

Mrs. H. A. Lovell presided in the afternoon, when the Misses Hamby, Steele, Sherritt and Dr. Speer were introduced. All are speakers who are here to tell of the progress being made in foreign fields before they return to take up their duties again. The Rev. Dr. Young presided over the meeting at night.

Meetings are being held during the coming week which will cover mission work both at home and abroad.

CHARGED RECEIVING TWO STOLEN WATCHES

Joseph Freeman, 214 Palmerston avenue, was arrested last night by Detective-Sergt. Koster on a charge of receiving stolen goods. Freeman is alleged to have received two watches that were stolen from the home of Simon Frenes, 480 Palmerston boulevard, on Sept. 19.

At the time the alleged offence was committed Freeman is said to have been out on suspended sentence in connection with a conviction for receiving stolen goods from a furrier at 117 West Queen street. Furs valued at $2,000 were stolen.

HYDRO NOT AFRAID OF EVERY INVESTIGATION

Colonel McInnes Makes Statement Before Sutherland Commission—Hydro is Trustee for Municipalities, Mr. Gaby Says—Changed Conditions Cause of Difference in Any Estimates—Nobody to Blame for Delay of Inquiry, Counsel States.

"No one is to be blamed for any delay in commencing this inquiry," said I. F. Hellmuth, K.C. acting for the Ontario government yesterday at the first public sitting of the Hydro Radial Commission of investigation held at Osgoode Hall. "The Hydro-Electric Commission has done all it could, and it was impracticable to start without having on hand all the information," he added. It will be remembered that Premier Drury at Oakville last Thursday laid the blame for the delay in the progress of the investigation commission at the door of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

A fresh element cropped up at yesterday's proceedings when R. S. Robertson, representing the "dissenting" municipalities, voiced open hostility to Hydro radials. He pointed out that the Hydro was now quoting different figures from those on which the ratepayers had voted. He wanted the Hydro to produce the data on which they based their original estimates, so that he could have experts examine same and report. A remark by Mr. Robertson that counsel for the Hydro and the municipalities "had skillfully sidetracked" answering the position propounded by him led to a sharp retort from Col. McInnes, who declared the remark uncalled for and that it was offensive in an inquiry of this kind. Retorts in amplitude could be made with plenty of good ammunition.

Chairman Sutherland read a letter from Premier Drury dated August 18, to the effect that the province would pay the expenses of Mr. Robertson, as they were doing in regard to others.

Hydro Loses No Time. Mr. McInnes stated that all the estimates, with the exception of operating expenses and revenue, in connection with the three roads were now in. He stated that the Hydro officials had been working overtime in order to prepare the data required by the commission. Reports, plans, maps, etc., were then put in as exhibits, but Chairman Sutherland was not completely satisfied with some progress made at the sitting and suggested that Mr. Gaby or some other official of the Hydro should make a statement.

A long discussion between counsel and the chairman of the commission took place as to the best course to be adopted to expedite the inquiry. Mr. McKay thought if the commission were to go into every petty detail they would not be available for any other job in their lifetime. Mr. Robertson contended that the inquiry should go on on a broader basis than what was suggested by the information which he would not be available for some bridge while of road, etc., were too high. He said, "We have here a proposition to build not only one road, but a system of roads. A very important subject of inquiry should be as to whether the scheme in the details of the expenditure is a good one." He further stated that the estimates now put in were entirely different from those which the municipalities had voted upon. The material which the Hydro had when they prepared these estimates should be put in and an opportunity given to examine them.

Revenue Estimates Higher. Taking the Toronto and Eastern as an example, Mr. Robertson pointed out that revenue estimates on this road were now considerably higher than the original estimates voted. He could not be expected to state his position until all the information he requires was forthcoming. "I estimate take up the position that we are going to get a revenue of $1,190,000 from the Toronto and Eastern, then I will know where I am at. If they are further particulars," he stated that he intended to call expert witnesses later on, but these gentlemen must have data to work upon.

Mr. McInnes replied that it was not a question whether the past judgment of the Hydro Commission was erroneous. "The question is whether the present program of the Hydro should be approved. The estimates to which Mr. Robertson refers made several years ago in some instances, and the Hydro would be crassly estimate if it stuck to the original estimates, despite more recent information. The Hydro was not one whit afraid of any inquiry, he said, but if every detail was to be gone into it would take a lifetime, when the finding of the commission would be of no use. Mr. McKay took the stand that the original figures and estimates and population were cumulative, and it would be impossible to put it in any shape to be of service to the commission unless one knew exactly what was wanted. The engineers were quite competent to utilize the material which they had and put it in such concrete shape as would be of service to the commission. He would object, so far as estimates were concerned, to go into the portion as affecting any locality in 1915; it would be an absolute waste of time.

Mr. Hellmuth read from the order defining the functions of the commission, and said these were to enquire generally into the Hydro program, which called for an expenditure of around $20,000,000. In reply to an observation by Chairman Sutherland, Mr. Hellmuth said that if the proposition now before the commission was not the same one made to the government, it might alter the attitude of the government. He, of course, could not say.

Mr. Robertson asked if one portion of a line could be tacked on to another line. He instanced the portion from Toronto to Port Credit, which, he said, originally was to form part of the line to London, and now it was proposed to tack it on to the Toronto-St. Catharines line.

Mr. McKay said it always seemed to him quite clear from a perusal of all documents that the Toronto-Port Credit portion stood by itself, and that the Port Credit-St. Catharines was in a like position. The logical result would be that the one would form a link with the other if so thought advisable.

Mr. Gaby's Evidence. Mr. Hellmuth then called Mr. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro, a position the witness had held from inception of the Hydro movement. Mr. Gaby told the commission that the first road proposed was what was known as the Toronto Northeastern section, which embraced Markham, Unionville, Newmarket and Whitby. The work had been held up owing to the war. No roads had been proposed to be commenced before 1919. The first line acquired by the Hydro Commission was the Essex line, called the Sandwich, Windsor & Amherstburg, which was taken over on April 1 of this year. The Hydro had acquired some right-of-way before that on the road east of Toronto, which would lead to the building of a railway. He agreed with Mr. Hellmuth that the acts of parliament of 1914-15 and 16 defined the building of radials, which were in practically the same position as that of health and religion. The health of every child was as important as its education, and the state should see that neither was neglected. The congested districts were conducive to tuberculosis and numerous other diseases, and already proper housing conditions were being overlooked for results.

It was the job of every serious-minded Canadian to strive for a greater unity of churches, as the stability of religion in the home would make for the stability of the nation, on which the evil forces of Bolshevism would have no effect.

Another serious danger was the lax view of marriage which was so common. Public opinion in the matter of divorces was becoming looser, and our national life without ideals was unworthy.

Only by a broader vision of the necessity of stamping out the existing evils which are undermining Canada's nationhood, of realizing the benefits to be derived from the co-operation of employers and employees, could we hope for a land which would produce the healthiest men and women, whose souls would be stamped with the highest quality of religion.

CHILDREN MUST BE GIVEN CHANCE

Health Important as Education, Canon Scott Tells Canadian Club.

In an address that closely held the attention of more than 400 members of the Canadian Club yesterday, Canon Scott painted a vivid picture of Canada's future. Her maturity had been hastened when her manhood had returned, moldered anew in the furnace of war, and the time had come when each Canadian had a solemn part to play in the building up of the nations of the world.

Too many things were neglected in the desire for wealth, said Canon Scott. Our children should not alone be taught the meaning of citizenship, but that of health and religion. The health of every child was as important as its education, and the state should see that neither was neglected. The congested districts were conducive to tuberculosis and numerous other diseases, and already proper housing conditions were being overlooked for results.

It was the job of every serious-minded Canadian to strive for a greater unity of churches, as the stability of religion in the home would make for the stability of the nation, on which the evil forces of Bolshevism would have no effect.

FACULTY CHANGES AT THE UNIVERSITY

Two Well-Known Medical Men Will Share in Governing Faculty.

Among changes considered in the faculty at the university this year are several of note. Dr. C. K. Clarke, at one time superintendent of Toronto General Hospital, has retired as dean of the faculty of medicine, and two well-known medical men have been selected to share in the responsibility of governing this faculty in the coming years. They are Colonel Primrose, so well known for his distinguished services in both medicine and surgery in the far east during the great war, and Dr. J. R. McLeod. In passing, it is interesting to note that Dr. Clarke, who had to relinquish part of his time to his private needs, is holding the chair of psychiatry at the university. Another important move made in connection with the faculty, Professor Howe having been appointed dean of the department of forestry. It is understood that he the two flattering offers from other colleges, but refused them in favor of his own alma mater.

One of the most important evolutions brought about in the life of the university is the inauguration of what is practically a chair of social service, a movement already in vogue with two other universities in the Dominion. Professor McIvor, who had charge of social service work at the university, having been hard at work on economic problems, asked to be relieved of his duties in connection with social service activities. Dr. J. J. Dale of McGill succeeds Professor McIvor. In connection with this faculty, it may be noted that at the request of the Red Cross Association a department has been opened to train nurses for work in university settlements and other fields of social service. The directress of this department is Miss Russell.

Woman Charged Stealing and Assault in Downtown Store

Bertha Hutchison, who gave several addresses to the police, including 98 Eastern avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Davy on a charge of theft from the Robert Simpson Co. In an attempt to evade arrest the woman is alleged to have struck Mrs. Almas, store detective, on the nose, breaking it, but the latter was able to hold her prisoner until Detective Dawn arrived. Because of this the Hutchison woman will probably face an additional charge of aggravated assault when she appears in police court this morning. She is said to have stolen a dress.
