

THIS PLATE and that on page 5 constitute the finest group-portrait illustrations ever printed in a Canadian newspaper. Each portrait is clear and distinct and this issue of The Toronto Sunday World will doubtless be treasured by the classes of '05 as an exceptionally interesting and valuable souvenir of an important event in the professional career of each graduate.

THE 1905 GRADUATING CLASS IN MEDICINE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO, REPRESENTING ALMOST EVERY PART OF THE DOMINION. THE CLASS NUMBERS 154. DEGREES WILL BE CONFERRED AT CONVOCAION ON FRIDAY.

men is ever at fault no one is permitted to discover it. It is a common saying among his subordinates that "Togo uses his men as if they were his own fingers." He was born on Oct. 14, 1857, just four years after the American squadron anchored in the Bay of Yesso and opened the eyes of Japan to the wonders of the west. He is consequently a product of new Japan. He speaks English fluently, having been a student in Great Britain's Naval Training School and afterward a member of the crew of the training ship Worcester.

Fourteen years ago on Tuesday next "the Chieftain" passed away at "Barncliffe" in Ottawa, and four days later his mortal remains were laid at rest in beautiful Cataraqui Cemetery, Kingston, the former home of Canada's "grand old man." The anniversary of his death is ample justification for the presentation to The Sunday World of one of the most striking likenesses of the Rt. Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald ever secured by a photographer. Sir John's memory will long be cherished by those of the old guard. His grave in Cataraqui will always be kept green, and the stone cross which marks it in the family plot will hang heavy once a year at least with garlands of flowers bestowed by loving friends, for the anniversary of his death is religiously commemorated in Kingston, where he was esteemed as an upright citizen and a good neighbor.

Our picture on page 7 of the students at Upper Canada College will be of wide interest. There are nearly 150 boys in the group—and here is one big institution of learning into which the proteges of the co-educationists have not yet penetrated. Upper Canada College has been called the Eton College of Canada, and the comparison is justified by the facts. The boy who passes thru the U. C. C. is thoroughly prepared to attack the great practical problems of life, and from its halls, back for many years, have come some of the first citizens of the Dominion. Who knows but in this group of bright-faced boys there are premiers of Canada and captains of great industries in the Greater Canada of a generation hence!

Convocation takes place at Toronto University on Friday next. There will be the usual exercises and conferring of degrees, and upon a quarter of prominent gentlemen will be conferred honorary degrees. The Hon. R. A. Fyfe, M.D., minister of education for Ontario; Amelius Irving, K.C., treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada; Dr. J. A. Temple, dean of the medical faculty of Trinity University; and John Smith, M.A., inspector of high schools for Ontario, will receive the honorary degree of LL.D., and on Prof. L. F. Barker (M.B., Toronto University), professor of medicine in Johns Hopkins University, will be bestowed the honorary degree of M.D. The University offered an LL.D. to Earl Grey, but His Excellency has found it inconvenient to come to Toronto again so soon, and the matter has been deferred until next year. The University grounds are very enticing at this season of the year. During the week Ben Greet and his company of Woodland players will present a repertoire of Shakespearean plays "under the greenwood tree." Then, convocation and the long vacation until college re-opens on Oct. 1. The World to-day takes pleasure in presenting a picture of President Lougheed standing in the entrance of the fine old grey pile in Queen's Park. Dr. James Lougheed has been president of the University of Toronto for thirteen years and professor of physics in the institution since 1887. Dr. Lougheed was born in Toronto and has long occupied a foremost place among the educationalists of Canada. He is entitled to a formidable array of letters after his name, holding a B.A., M.A. and LL.D. of Toronto University, LL.D.'s of Queen's (Kingston), Princeton, Johns Hopkins and Glasgow universities; a D.C.L. of Trinity University, Toronto, and F.R.S.C.

Old Swindling Game Has Been Revived

THIS letter was received by a young business man of this city. Only recently married, one of the propositions made by "L.C." might prove embarrassing. For this and other reasons, he decided not to accept the offer, tempting though it may be.

"My dear sir—Condemned to prison for cause of subtracting, I am required if you are willing to assist me in rescuing a sum of 675,000 francs in banknotes, which I was obliged some time ago to conceal in an iron box and to hide in the adjoining neighborhood of your place, what place I shall bring to your acquaintance if, as I hope, you will lend your assistance to me on the following conditions:

1. You will admit in your family my daughter, now in her 17 years, which is to a boarding school in Toledo now.
2. You must pay to the school the debt of my daughter so as we may be able to retire a trunk, which contains a secret partition, made in purpose, into which I hid the topographic plan indispensable for the discovering of my iron box.

"As reward for your help I am willing to cede you one-third of the whole sum, either 225,000 francs, but must anticipate the money necessary for the journey of my daughter and the lady of my confident from Toledo to your country, and pay also the debt to the directors of the school, in way to retire the trunk from where it now is.

"Being not sure upon your just direction I shall expect your answer before I sign my name and commit my dream, full secret to you.

"As I am strictly watched here and being not able to receive anything directly, I pray you to kindly put your letter under two covers, the one interior to my initials L.C. and the other exterior, as following:

"Josef Ferran—Piazza Tetuan 24 Barcelona. (Espana)

"He who receives your letter is my confident. He will bring same to me without awaking suspicion.

"I pray you will keep the greatest reserve about all I reveal now.

"Hoping anxiously the consequence of your answer, I remain, dear sir, your most obedient servant.

"Barcelona, April 26, 1905."

Another similar letter is going the rounds. This is signed by "C. de S." and relates to a trunk containing $20,000 deposited in an English railway station. The grammar of both is alike. "C. de S." is a bankrupt, not "condemned for subtracting."

POET AND DIPLOMAT.

John Hay, United States ambassador to the court of St. James is better known as a diplomat, editor and historian than as a poet and yet he is credited with some fairly good verse. The following stanzas, entitled "Humility" were written for the World's Christian Endeavor Convention at Washington a few years ago, but have just found entrance into the new "Hymns of Worship and Service."

Defend us, Lord, from every ill. Strengthen our hearts to do Thy will. In all we plan and all we do Still keep us to Thy service true. O let us hear the inspiring word Which they of old at Horeb heard; Breathe to our hearts the high command, "Go onward and possess the land."

Then who are Light, shine on each soul! Then who are Truth, each mind control! Open our eyes and make us see The path which leads to heaven and Thee!

Silk Stockings.
Who dances must pay the piper, and who wears fine clothes must go to trouble. And the purpose of this is that if you will wear silk stockings and can't afford a maid to wash them for you, you'd better do it yourself rather than send them out with the ordinary wash. Some experts say that delicate silk and lace stockings should always be cleaned with benzine, but benzine is so odorous that it should be used only when absolutely necessary, and here it is not. The most cobwebby quality will come out whole and unstreaked if they are washed in bran water. Buy the bran at a drug store, and if one is going away for the summer take a quantity of it. Put a handful of it into a

THERE are a great many automobiles on the market to-day. Most of them are made for smooth roads. Canadian roads do not, as a rule, come under this heading.

The "Russell"

is a car built for Canadian roads and for Canadian climate. It has a double opposed cylinder with direct drive to the rear axle. Roomy tonneau with side entrances. It has 12 to 15 horse power. Sells at $15000.

Don't buy any other car until you have tested the Russell.
