PREPARED BY

J. R. LEE

Chemist and Druggist,

Cornhill Queen and Bay Streets

104 King St. East.

A clerk of Leech, Lee, sentenced to five years recently for embezzlement, had been convicted four times previously for the same offence. To be successful, he should, with his vote and by unifed action, make of Russia anything he wishes—so he is there, as everywhere, the majority.

We must, however, think of the Russian workmen if they got the vote and then failed to vote all together as workmen interested in the same laws?

The letter of acceptance of Roosevelt declares emphatically in favor of the protective system of taxation. To this doctrine he makes not the slightest reservation. It is difficult to understand why a man can thus bury either his conscience or his intellect. Some years ago

Roosevelt was one of the leaders in the free trade movement. From that movement he withdrew, and with any declaration that he had seen more light, "that he must withdraw from the free trade movement."

He should, with his vote and by unif-

the majority.

What do the average workmen think about himself in politics?

He knows that to gain his labor union points to him and other workers must work as a unit, sticking all together. Must he not also gain his political ends through united action?

The workmen in Russia have no vote. If he had the vote, he could establish an eight-hour day, establish a constitution in place of an autocracy.
