In anticipation of the discussion on the third reading of the deceased wife's sister's bill vesterday, the House of Lords was crowded, and the side galleries were filed with peeresses, including the Duchess of Marlborough, who appeared to be keenly interested. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were seated on the cross benches. Lord Dunraven moved the third reading of the bill, and the Duke of Argyll immediately moved its rejection. In so doing he described the proposal as an abomination directly opposed by the Bible, and claimed that it would reduce marriage to mere animalism and open the door to normous evils. Terrible Disaster Occurred of Saturday Night Near Logan, Iowa.

Excursion Train Bearing Large Party Crashes Head on In o Freight Train.

Horrible Scene Beyond the Power of Words to Describe.

Twenty-eight Dead and Many Wounded-Due to a Mistake in Orders.

Missouri Valley, Ia., July 11.—Thirtyrhee killed and half a hundred more or less dangerously injured is the result of the wreck that occurred on the Northwestern road near Logan this evening. The two engines were completely demolished, and the first two cars of each train telescoped. Both crews escaped by jumping. The dead were mostly in the first coach of the excursion train.

The dead were taken to Logan. Omaha, July 11.-A head-end collision that resulted in an appalling loss of life occurred on the Chicago & Northwestern road between Logan and Missouri Valley, Ia., at 6:30 to-night. The best estimate indicates that twenty-seven are dead and fifty-one injured, many of whom will die. The wreck occurred as a result of Engineer Montgomery, of the excursion train, mistaking orders. He was ordered to wait at Logan until the fast mail and the east-bound passenger train had passed. He waited for the passenger and then started out, having forgotten about the mail. The trains were going at the rate of 50 miles an hour when they met three miles west of Logan. Engineer Montgomery jumped and escaped with a broken arm. The officials of the road positively refuse to give any information concerning the matter, stating that it is something that concerns them and not the public. They even refused to handle Western Union business, and all the information cratic convention regarding Cuba and secured comes by the Omaha Bee's courier service and by telephone.

This morning the Union Pacific pioneers' picnic was taken out over the Competitor case until the Spanish par- Northwestern to spend the day at Logan, and to-night, as the excursion train July, in order to avert irritating and loaded with 1,200 persons, all residing in and about this city, was moving dut London, July 11.—A large number of of Logan, it was struck by a fast train members of the Ancient and Honorable going east. Reporters were detailed to accompany the train, but instead of allowing them to accompany the train the railroad men ejected them with the rerun over. He was only shaken and was mark: "We don't want any d-d rèporters."

Late information received at Ione was to the effect that the dead and dying were piled up along the tracks in the yards at Logan like cordwood. There were a few doctors on the ground, but not enough to give attention to onethird of the sufferers. Among the dead and dying, relatives were hunting for their friends and those who were dear refusing to furnish any information. In this city the office of the road was beseiged by people in search of information, but none was given out.

The excitement throughout the city was tremendous as the thousands of people who knew their relatives and friends were on the train became aware of the wreck, but not a word would the railroad people give to anybody, and there was a rush to the telegraph and telephone offices and every avenue of information was sought, but the Northwestern officers managed to block all. njured in a living tomb. Finally an axe was procured and the floor cut away. The sight revealed is beyond the power of words to portray It appeared the space in the car be tween the floor of the coach and the offor of the baggage car was packed with dead and dying humanity. The groans and agonizing appeals for help which came from the imprisoned spurred the rescuers to greater effort. As soon as a little of the space within was cleared the workers climbed inside the coach and the work of passing up the bodies of the dead and injured progressed more rapidly.

Five bodies were taken out and laid in a row on the grass along the railroad track, and the injured at once taken in carriages to Logan. In a short time the appeal for help had been answered by all the physicians from Logan and the Missouri valley and then some system was introduced in the manner of carrying on the work. Wagons and carriages were sent from Logan and the injured brought here for treatment. The Lusk house, New Moon building, opera house and Oddfellows hall were turned into hospitals and the injured cared for as well as possible. The dead were removed to the town undertaking establishment and laid out for identification. Twenty-five bodies were taken to that place.

It was after midnight vesterday when the work was finally completed. Before daylight came the dead and injured were taken to another train and sent to Omaha. After an investigation had taken place the police arrested James Gram, the engineer of the excursion train, William Dolan, fireman on the same engine, Mike O'Donnell, engineer of the switch engine, which was drawing the freight train; James Mechan, fireman of the same engine, and Jas. In French Canada the clergy were beaten. They ought to commence to feel, if not to understand, that and vexatious domination. The clergy had arrived at a point where they mixed in everything, but in politics rather than religion, and in certain counties and dioceses the bishops themselves descended into the lists to receive thumps they will remember for a long time. In Santiago de Cuba soldiers are in the hospitals. 4.500 Major General Linarez is stricken down and his life is despaired of. Physicians and nurses are utterly incapable of coping with the disease. The epidemic is also very serious all along the Trocha, and in some cases entire companies have been stricken. General Arelas and nearly every member of his staff is ill. Captain-General Weyler has ordered the erection of a new hospital along the Trocha, and will send to Spain for additional physicians. In Baracoa, and other places in Eastern Cuba, the fever is raging with great virulence and is spreading to central points.

From Matanzas come the most disressing tales. In that city it is said that the mortality is about 60 per cent. and it is becoming difficult to bury the dead. The hospitals in Havana contain nearly six thousand patients, and every day the number is being increased. Four hundred and fifty sick soldiers were brought from Pinar del Rio prov-
