Mrs. Adams Free
Of Murder Charge

Coroner's Verdict of Accidental Death of Husband in Fight Brings Her Liberty

SYLVIA PANKURST
MUST SERE TERM

Appeal Against Prison Term for Her Racial Actions Dismissed With Costs.

London, Jan. 5.—An appeal by Sylvia Pankhurst, from a sentence to six months imprisonment for attempting to cause sedition in the navy, was dismissed in Guildhall court today. Miss Pankhurst was viewed November 1st on £2,000 bail pending appeal from the sentence which was imposed October 28.

At the time of her release she signed an undertaking to sever her connection with the newspaper, The Workers' Dreadnought. An article in the newspaper entitled "discontent on the lower deck," secured in the charges against her. The undertaking also pledged her to abstain from attending public meetings pending the hearing of the case this month.

THE NEED OF TODAY.
Oh, it isn't reform that is needed to-day.
It's a change of heart, the spirit of the day.
It's being of the sober view
And seeing life as the children do.
It's taking time for the little things
That out of confusion calmness brings.
The time to idle and meditate
On the simple joys are it too late.

To tramp through the woods with a dog at heel;
To build a fire and eat your meal
'neath the spacious roof of God's outdoor.
And thank that the whole wide world
is yours!

Why, the greatest, most glorious hour of all
Is to be in tune with the seasons
and
To be alive to the soul of things
This year heart beats high and yet spirit sings.

And you laugh aloud with the careless joy
Of a happy girl or a merry boy.
Oh, the poignant need of the world today
Is joyousness, love of the earth—and play!

CHRISTMAS RAGEDY
WAS AN ACCIDENT

Toronto, Jan. 6.—A verdict to the effect that Gen. Adams came to his death as a result of a day "by accident" was returned today by a jury in the case of the general's death.

On January 1st, one case of scarlet fever developed in the children's ward, and on December 10, two cases of scarlet fever and one case of diphtheria developed in the same ward. On December 11, one nurse developed scarlet fever, and on the next day another nurse became ill with measles. All of the above were sent to the Epidemic Hospital on December 26. One nurse, who had spent six weeks in the Epidemic with scarlet fever, contracted measles after having been out one week, and was returned to the Epidemic. On December 25, a surgical case in Ward B, developed measles, and one of the above mentioned cases, having been recovered, was returned to the main hospital, and after having been here four days was today taken to the Epidemic with measles.

WILLING TO EXPLAIN
In reference to a section regarding improper practice on the part of a physician, it was stated that he had been notified and expressed his willingness to explain to the board at any meeting they would select. There was no report from the standardization of the hospital.

Discussing the purchasing of a new sterilizing plant, it was moved that the board and the medical members of the board and the superintendent with power to act.

The present plant is twenty-five years old and out of order. Regarding the danger of infection, it was moved that the sum of $2,500 be put on a supplementary list of estimates to come before the Council for an emergency lighting plant.

The meeting adjourned until Monday evening.

G. Marr.

Hospital Matters
Were Dealt With

Staff Presented Recommendations—Lack of Room Shown—Superintendent's Report.

Suggestions for improvements of a sweeping nature were brought before the Board of Commissioners of the General Public Hospital at their meeting held yesterday afternoon, when a delegation from the staff of the hospital appeared before them in the persons of Dr. W. W. White and Dr. L. M. Curran.

M. E. Agar presided, and there were present Alexander McMillan, F. Fleming, W. E. Barron, John T. O'Brien, Dr. G. R. J. Crawford, J. King Kelly, and Dr. Henry Hedden, superintendent.

Hospital Staff Session.
Dr. W. W. White and Dr. L. M. Curran asked that a letter from the secretary of the hospital staff be read before the meeting. In this letter the following recommendations were made by the staff—

That the present building be graded as a hospital unit to accommodate fifty private patients and fifty maternity cases; to have an outpatient department and to house the executive department of the hospital. That the present building should be preserved but converted into wards; and that a new epidemic hospital should be built.

Dr. W. W. White.

Dr. White first addressed the commissioners, pointing out the lack of room in the present building, and stating that he could not understand why accommodation for private patients, and the people who support the hospital, and make it possible for others to be treated free of charge, and yet paying patients are shut out from the hospital. He showed how many more people are going to hospitals for treatment than in former years, and what a bad thing it is for St. John to have to send patients to Montreal. He pointed out that this city had never been able to train its nurses in midwifery, and he is obliged to send them to another city to learn this important branch of their studies. Dr. White said he felt convinced that the commissioners saw the need of great changes. This plan as outlined, had met with the entire approval of the staff. It had been adopted after much time and thought, and he felt that immediate steps should be taken to carry out such a plan.

Specific Instances.
Dr. Curran took the commissioners, by his descriptions of specific instances, right into the wards and the outpatient department, and proved the necessity for radical reforms. Lack of room, and the impossibility of the present to locate cases which require isolation. Recovery is retarded, in many instances, because of crowded conditions.

Superintendent's Report.
Dr. Hedden's report contained the following facts: Total number of patients 212; discharged cured 89; improved 62; unimproved 7; not treated 2; discharged at own request 1; died 22; total 182. Remaining 170. There were 95 operations performed. Average number of patients per day 150.

Miss Mary C. Scott, of Lexington, Ky., who was engaged by a committee appointed for that purpose, arrived and went on duty as superintendent of nurses, January 1st.

On December 8, one case of scarlet fever developed in the children's ward, and on December 10, two cases of scarlet fever and one case of diphtheria developed in the same ward. On December 11, one nurse developed scarlet fever, and on the next day another nurse became ill with measles. All of the above were sent to the Epidemic Hospital on December 26. ## AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND
(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)
How To Be Loved

Everybody wants to be loved! It is the one thing that every normal human being wants MOST in the whole wide world. What? No? Oh, let's be honest—and admit it! To love is a glorious luxury—but to BE loved is a life-long necessity.

Wealth, power, honors, titles—what do you want them for? To make yourself lovable, admired, sought after, desirable. Why does an actress crave fame, money, popularity? So that she may shine in someone's eyes—and be loved! What do YOU want with success of any kind? To lay it at the feet of someone who loves you—or to dangle it in the face of someone whom you wish to love you.

Love is the hors d'oeuvre, the bread, the meat, the wine, and the dessert of life!

All ambitions, all accomplishments, all achievements, all struggles, all work, all romance lead to love! It is the goal at the end of every race, the prize in every game. And, as you grow older, and she glitters wears off your tinsel fancies, and one by one the little Christmas-tree candles of illusion sputter out, there is nothing worth while left—except to be loved!

Yet, how CARELESSLY we conceal our love-hunger, beneath our politeness, our vanity, our graces, our cynicism, our sneers, our intolerance.

How conscientiously we set out to make ourselves hated—and how gloriously we succeed! We are SO lofty, SO indifferent, SO hypocritical!

Any man would rather be loved than "superior"; yet somehow, he fancies that disapproval of everything proves his superiority. And he cheerfully spits the acid of criticism on the fertile hearts of those around him, and expects love to bloom on the fertile hearts of those around him.

Any woman would rather be loved than—well, than "important!" Yet she will deliberately build a wall of sensitiveness or vanity around herself, and expect people to climb over it in order to love her.

We tender women, we long for kisses—we expect to win them with brilliant arguments, scintillating wit, and impressive dignity.

Hush! We spend our whole lives struggling to acquire the things with which to inspire love—riches, knowledge, reputation, success, beauty—and then we sit back and figuratively remark, "Now, love me, if you dare!"

After all, you do not love a man because he is wealthy or successful—but because he is generous, genial, appreciative, kind, tolerant.

You do not love a woman because she is famous, but because she is sweet and gentle. You do not love her because she is clever and witty, but because she is gracious and cheerful and lovable and cuddlesome.

A woman doesn't love a man because he is "superior," but because he makes her feel that in her eyes, SHE is superior to every other woman in the world.

A man doesn't love a woman because she understands Deen, Browning, Euclid, Russian music, Freud, or grand opera—but because she understands HIM.

You do not love anybody for what he knows, or for what he has, or for the brilliant things he does, but for what he GIVES in sympathy, love, response, inspiration, understanding.

A bulldog is perhaps the most hideous animal that ever walked or waddled—and the most lovable pet.

But nobody keeps a pet porcupine or a pet clam or a pet wasp. You cannot shut out the sun and keep warm.

Yet, we poor, hungry, self-shielded human beings will deliberately shut out the sun of love—and try to keep our hearts warm over the little electric-bulb of pride, vanity, dignity, or conceit.

No wonder the gods laugh—but I think they weep a little for us, too.

MRS. ORFORD IS

Sympathy Catches
The Whole Bunch

Pals Accompany a Suffering Friend to Dentist's Office Get the Toothache.

Can you beat it? Four men entered a dentist's room of activity last night. Three of them were accompanying a man, a friend who was suffering with toothache. The suffering mortal was willing to go to any extreme to get relief from the pangs of pain brought about by that defective molar. The patient was placed in the chair, dressed by his attendant. The prods and picks were brought into play and at last the humble forerunner, the offending molar was removed and the victim stepped out of the operating chair smiling.

They All Got It.

That isn't much in itself, but here is what happened. The other three had entered the dentist's office with their out any thought of trouble with their molar, and let it be said here they were all sober and hadn't connected with any of the "barbed wire" brand of liquor dentists heretofore.

A sudden ailment in the teeth developed among the three who accompanied the man really affected. One began by holding on to his jaw and complaining of pain. On invitation of the obliging dentist, he jumped into the chair and submitted to the extraction of two roots. He left the chair smiling. A third began to feel the pain in the jaw and sought the dentist's examination. Sure enough a filling had become loose, and only an extraction would do it.

Turning to the dentist, he said, "I'm suffering from toothache. When number three left the chair, the fourth man in the party didn't say anything, but he was feeling the pain in his mouth. He was wrong with his mouthful of ivory and flopped into the seat of torture. His story remains to be told as to how the dentist and what notes are coming to him.

This may be regarded as a case of sympathetic attraction, or a demonstration of the sixth sense that scientists are now vainly trying to explain. The fact remains that the incident described above happened at a local dentist's office last night.

DISGUISED AS GIRL TOOK PART IN GAME
Unknown "Lady" Proved to be Champion Man Golfer.

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 5.—A sensational and laughable denouement attended the playing of a mixed Scotch sixsome match on which three well known golfers were respectively paired with women partners at Pinehurst yesterday. Jas. C. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., state champion, was paired with Miss Martha Thorne of Fort Wayne, C. C. Frost, of Abingdale had Miss Clara Metcalfe, of Providence as a partner. A Lucien Walker, Jr., winner of last week's mid-winter tournament, played with Miss Eleanor Fox, a tall and dashing brunette, whom nobody had seen here before, and who started the excitement by driving about 200 yards from the first tee.

When the unknown Miss Fox lifted an iron shot for another 200 yards on the second fairway, the effort shook off her tam o' shanter, her luxurious tresses fell with it, and Miss Fox stood revealed as William E. Donohue, winner of the mid-winter qualifying medal.

Walker and his fair partner were promptly disqualified for conspiracy, misrepresentation, failure to properly register at the Country Club, and on several counts, and the match broke up in disorder.
