FIVE NEW SENATORS PARLIAMANT OPENED ON THURSDAY EVENING

Some Surprises in Selections

Nathaniel Curry, William Dennis and W. B. Ross Among Them

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lieutenants Confer and Decide on an Aggressive Opposition — Immigrants Must Have $50 in Cash on Landing After Dec. 1.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The six senatorial vacancies from Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island have been filled after considerable difficulty on the part of Premier Borden in deciding how to distribute six places among a score or more of applicants.

The new senators from Nova Scotia in succession to the late Senators Bell, Conroy, Ross, Miller and Mackay are respectively: W. B. Ross, E. C. of Middleton; E. L. Girroir, M. P. P. for Antigonish; William Dennis, proprietor of the Halifax Herald; Dr. Wm. Mackay, of Cape Breton, ex-M. P. P., and former Conservative leader in the Nova Scotia legislature, and Nathaniel Curry, of Amherst, the millionaire ex-manufacturer and president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

The Prince Edward Island vacancy in succession to the late Senator MacDonald has been filled by the appointment of Dr. H. C. Murphy, of Tignish, the unsuccessful Conservative candidate in Prince county at the last election.

One other senatorial appointment will have to be made shortly when the seat of Senator Sullivan, of Kingston, is formally declared vacant by the senator at the opening of the session. Senator Sullivan has been absent for two sessions and therefore forfeits his seat. It is understood the appointment will go to a western Ontario Conservative, the millionaire cheese manufacturer, is slated for the position.

Senator Daniel, of St. John, will move the address in the senate.

Opposition to Be Aggressive.

In Sir Wilfrid's office today there was a preliminary caucus of Liberals. Those present were Messrs. Laurier, Pugsley, Charles Wilson (Leval), Turill, Lemieux, Beland, Murphy, Carvell, Turgeon (Oppeles), Emmerson, Sinclair, MacKenna, King, Fisher and Fyfe.

While a programme could not be drawn up until the government has shown his hand in the speech from the throne and has disclosed its naval policy, there was a general determination that the work of the opposition this year would be as watchful and aggressive as it was last session, when the government was on the defensive almost every day.

After December 1 the immigration regulation requiring that every immigrant shall be insured against being a care on the state during the winter months, having in his possession upon landing on Canadian soil the sum of $50 in cash, will come into effect in connection with all classes of immigrants.

The department's provision against vagrancy, as a matter of fact, came into effect on Nov. 1 in the case of all but British immigrants with sufficient property to support themselves. In connection with the latter time was extended for one month by special request from the authorities on the other side. After December 1 all classes and the $50 regulation insisted upon.

In the summer months, owing to the great demand for work on the newwork, no certainty of work for the newwork, no property qualification whatever was insisted upon.

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 19.—Another span of the southern bridge fell yesterday. Two spans had fallen in the summer and destroyed this means of communication across the Miramichi and nothing has been done to repair the structure. Other spans will likely go soon and the whole structure will probably go out with the spring freshet.

The ice formed in the river on Saturday night when the thermometer dropped to 19 below, the lowest so far this season. The ice completely spanned the big sheet of water from shore to shore. It held good during the day and was broken only at the points where the ferry boats crossed at Chatham and Newcastle. The temperature, however, went up last night to 25 degrees and this morning the ice was running down the river.

The date is very early for the river to be frozen from shore to shore. The fishermen had to be brought up river yesterday by a tug as they were helpless in the thin ice. Two rowboats started out from the Chatham side of the river on Sunday morning but could make practically no headway so thick was the ice. There was no wind yesterday and that kept the ice from being broken up earlier.

STRONG EVIDENCE AGAINST GIBSON

Witness Swears He Saw New York Lawyer Strangle Woman Client

A GRAPHIC STORY

Gives Details of Struggle in Boat on Lake—Doctor Confirms the Manner of Death—Bank Clerks Testify Accused Drew Out Deposits of His Alleged Victim.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Dr. George King, official physician of Hudson county (N. J.), testified for the state today in the trial of Burton W. Gibson for the murder of Mrs. Rosa Meneschie Szabo that Mrs. Szabo met death on Greenwood Lake July 16 last from strangulation, and no other cause. Of this he was positive.

Four bank clerks testified during the afternoon that within three weeks after the tragedy Gibson, as Mrs. Szabo's executor, had drawn her bank deposits amounting to $7,307. A fifth clerk, J. W. Armstrong, of the Franklin Savings Bank of New York, said Gibson had tried to gain three times to obtain $3,000 on deposit in Mrs. Szabo's name there.

"I saw Gibson seize Mrs. Szabo around the neck with his left arm, I saw his right hand thrust at her throat; then they both fell out of the boat."

John Minturn, an eye witness of the death of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, so testified today. Minturn rose from a sick bed to take the stand. His testimony was introduced to bear out the state's contention that Mrs. Szabo was strangled by Gibson and did not die of drowning.

Gibson and his companion were standing back to back in the centre of the boat. Minturn, who was sitting in the stern, saw them passing and seized Mrs. Szabo, they struggled for a moment, the boat rocked, they fell out, the woman first, the man afterwards.

"When they were in the water, I saw Gibson place his right hand on his left shoulder and his left hand on his right shoulder. I thought he was trying to pull off his shirt. It looked that way to me."

"Presently the woman was left to sight. The man then swam over to the boat, got his arm over it and turned it over. The boat remained right side up when they fell out, and stayed in that position all day. It tipped it over."

Minturn was standing at the water's edge, he said, when he saw the tragedy. The boat was about 700 yards away. He would not have been able to see it had he not been standing at the water's edge, he said.

The state probably will rest tomorrow with the testimony from Dr. Otto H. Schultz, the coroner's physician, who performed the autopsy. There will be no session of court on Saturday, and indications that the case will resume next week.

The department's provision against vagrancy, as a matter of fact, came into effect on Nov. 1 in the case of all but British immigrants with sufficient property to support themselves. In connection with the latter time was extended for one month by special request from the authorities on the other side. After December 1 all classes and the $50 regulation insisted upon.

Fighting Session Is Expected

Liberals Ready for the Fray—Speech from the Throne Likely to Announce Many Contentious Matters—Government's Naval Policy May Not Figure in Bill of Fare.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—With the usual pomp and circumstance of the twelfth parliament of Canada at 3 o'clock tomorrow

Today there was a steady stream of members arriving, and the general committee schooled the words of Hon. F. D. Monk on the day of his departure from the capital after resigning from the government. "I expect we shall have an interesting session."

The issues to be discussed and the political situation generally present a scenario which will prove one of the most notable in the history of Canada. Apart from "politics," considered from the standpoint of party strategy, and the match of the evening since the defeat of the Laurier government, the questions to be considered deal with large problems.

The main subjects of debate will centre around Canada's relations to the empire with special reference to naval defence, the tariff problem, involving the whole question of victor markets and reciprocal trade relations within the empire and with other countries, and provision on a large scale for the enlargement of the transportation needs of the growing dominion.

Liberals Ready for the Fray.

Liberals members of parliament, headed by the old chief, are ready for a fighting session and the attack will begin promptly with the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. The attack will be kept up with vigor, and with even greater vigor than last session, and protraction is not expected until the close of the session.

Since the close of last session three members of the government side, Messrs. Goodwin, Lemoyne, and Ayles, have been absent from the session. The opposition side, on the other hand, has been strengthened by the return of Mr. F. D. Monk and Mr. J. G. Macdonald.

The government's programme for the session will be to go into force at the beginning of the session. The government will be practically nothing ready, except the bank act, the West India trade agreement and the bill left over from last session. The estimates are not yet revised, and the special items of expenditure are all being left over for the supplementary estimates, which will be brought down next spring.

A policy of general expenditure has been unanimously agreed upon and it is certain that the house will be asked to vote this year a total sum exceeding by probably at least thirty millions any previous high record.

The preliminary debate will, however, serve to emphasize the continued covert alliance between the Nationalists and Conservatives, despite the apparent break through the return of Mr. F. D. Monk. In his connection it is worth noting that Dr. Paquette, Nationalist member for Lislet, today notified Premier Borden that he would resign to serve as chief ministerial whip for Quebec.

Speech from the Throne.

The speech from the throne did not forecast a very extensive programme of legislation, nor did it indicate the nature of the naval proposals. It was made in a confident and bounding manner, and rapid development of the dominion, following another bountiful harvest. His Royal Highness referred to the coast to coast, and commented upon the signs of continued and growing loyalty of the people of every province to the imperial crown.

Mr. Borden and his colleagues to England and France last summer was noticed in general terms.

Other measures of the government's legislative agenda will include the bill for the decentralization of federal aid towards the improvement of highways.

JAMAICA SWEPT BY A HURRICANE AND MANY KILLED

Western Portion of the Island Devastated by Five Days' Storm, and Tidal Wave Ravaged North and South Coast, Practically Wiping Out Two Towns.

Kingston, Ja., Nov. 20.—The western and the island of Jamaica has been devastated by a hurricane lasting for five days. A great tidal wave has swept over both the north and south coast, practically wiping out the town of Savanna La Mar and Lucoa, both towns of considerable importance.

According to a report brought in by steamer forty-two persons were killed at Montego Bay. All along the coast roads have been wrecked and along the southern coast considerable damage has been done. Communication between Kingston and the centre of destruction is not likely to be resumed for a week.

ready forecasted, will also be one of the big matters of debate this session. It is not expected that a redistribution bill will be passed this session. A measure for redistribution may be introduced but the government has no intention of pressing it this session, preferring to leave it over until next year, thus avoiding any danger of being forced to go to the country without running their full lease of office.

On the tariff question it is not expected that any radical changes will be proposed by the government at present, expecting possibly in the matter of the duties on iron and iron cement duties which will be submitted to a caucus for early consideration.

No Civil Service Reform Likely.

Premier Borden's promise of reform in the civil service by placing the outside service on a permanent basis and removing the evils of political patronage is not likely to be realized this session, pending a further welding of the axe, and the filling up of the vacancies by Conservative appointments. A few minor reforms may be inaugurated but little tangible result is expected from the two civil service commissions so far appointed.

It is worthy of note that the government has already dispensed with the services of Sir George Murray who was brought out from England a few weeks ago to investigate the civil service conditions, and who had expected to make his investigation a thorough one by staying all winter.

The cabinet meeting of the 19th inst. was a successful one, and the government will be practically nothing ready, except the bank act, the West India trade agreement and the bill left over from last session.

The estimates are not yet revised, and the special items of expenditure are all being left over for the supplementary estimates, which will be brought down next spring.

HE RAISED THE DEAD TO LIFE

Remarkable Work Done by Dr. Meltzer of Rockefeller Institute

OTHER WONDERS

New York Medical Congress See Dr. McWilliams Make a Nose from Finger—Surgeons Urge Campaign on Cancer in Women.

New York, Nov. 19.—New marvels in medical progress about which the general public never hears under normal circumstances, are coming to light daily as a result of the Congress of Surgeons now in session here. It became known yesterday that through the system of pharyngeal insufflation devised by Dr. Samuel J. Meltzer, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, a young man considered by his physicians dead in the ordinary acceptance of the term, was brought back to life some months ago, after the new method of resuscitation had been applied for many hours.

Dr. Meltzer described his method of pharyngeal insufflation in a preliminary note issued from the department of physiology and pharmacology of the Rockefeller Institute early last summer. This method of resuscitation was intended to revive those who had been asphyxiated, or who were seemingly dead, as the result of electric shock. It consisted in a new form of artificial respiration, applicable in such cases and he carried on his studies and experiments as a member of the commission on resuscitation from electric shock appointed by the American Medical Association. In his preliminary report, Dr. Meltzer announced that he had succeeded in restoring life and he held of having put two animals to death and of having subsequently resuscitated them. It had not been known until yesterday, however, that a human patient who was dead to all intents and purposes, had been revived as the result of Dr. Meltzer's discovery.

It was said that a young physician who was serving on the staff of one of the hospitals in this city took an overdose of morphine, whether by accident or design was not known. The dose was so large that the patient fell into a deep coma, and the institution to which he was attached it was not believed that he could be revived. Some one recalling Dr. Meltzer's success in bringing the dead to life, suggested that it might be worth while to take the body of this man, who was already dead to all intents and purposes, and after twelve hours spent in restoring life, and he held of having put two animals to death and of having subsequently resuscitated them. It had not been known until yesterday, however, that a human patient who was dead to all intents and purposes, had been revived as the result of Dr. Meltzer's discovery.

From a layman's point of view, one of the most interesting operations performed during the day was the manufacture of a perfectly good nose from a man's ring finger, performed at the Presbyterian Hospital, after the death of a patient, Dr. Charles A. McWilliams. The patient had lost his nose in an accident, and as the result of his deformity was unable to find employment. Finally applying to the hospital for some sort of relief from the tragedy of his daily life.

Dr. McWilliams removed the nail from the ring finger of the patient's left hand and attached it to the base of the nose. He then had him place the finger, pointing upwards, over the place reserved for the nose. He cut the finger open underneath and inserted the bone to the face. A plaster cast supported the patient's arm in this position for 21 days, after which the surgeon amputated the finger from the hand, adding some finishing touches yesterday.

At the Metropolitan Hospital in Brooklyn, Dr. G. S. Harrington drove an iron nose through the joint of a fractured bone to save the limb. Dr. McWilliams, at the Presbyterian Hospital in Manhattan, transplanted a section of the tibia, or small leg bone, to the tibia, or large bone to remedy a defect in the latter.

"The Treatment of Cancer of the Uterus" formed the subject of the evening's discussion, papers on the subject being read by Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, by Dr. Wilhelm Wertheim, an assistant of the famous surgeon, Dr. E. Wertheim, of Vienna, by Dr. X. O. Werder, of Pittsburgh; Dr. Geo. Gellhorn, and Dr. Howard C. Taylor, of New York.

These experts pointed out that many cases of this kind of cancer could be cured, that the high death rate attributed to it came from the fact that the patients had their condition until it was too late to save them. If they would only put themselves under the care of competent surgeons when the presence of blood was the first sign of the cancer's existence, the speaker said, the percentage of cures would undoubtedly be much greater. Even under present conditions, some of them reported, permanently cures had been effected in from twenty to twenty-five per cent of the cases treated.

The scientific name of the operation which is to be so rigorously advocated as Wertheim's radical operation for carcinoma of cervix, named after Dr. Wertheim, of Vienna, who success with it was first brought about in Germany, and Austria that state of public opinion concerning it which the surgeons wish to arouse in this country and Canada.

After the discussion these resolutions were adopted: "Be it resolved, That the time has arrived when if the surgeons of American are called to do their duty to the citizens of this country that a campaign of publicity should be at once undertaken to bring to the attention of every woman in the country the early symptoms of cancer of the womb, and to point out that if the cancer be detected in its early stages that it can often be cured."

Be it further resolved, That this society at once appoint a committee of five to be named by the president, to disseminate this information.

And further, That this committee be instructed to write or have written articles to be published in the daily press, the weekly or monthly magazines, as may prove most expedient.

And further, That they report their progress for the year to the next annual meeting.

Verdict Reached in Short Order

Rosenthal's Slayers Hear Their Doom With Indifference

Counsel for the Four Condemned Men Serves Notice of Appeal and Their Ultimate Fate May Not Be Decided for a Long Time.

New York, Nov. 19.—"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louis," "Dago Frank," and "Whitey" Lewis killed Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, at the institution of Thomas Becker, and like him must pay the penalty of death in the electric chair.

The jury which has been hearing the evidence against the four gunmen so decided today, when it returned against them a verdict of murder in the first degree after but twenty minutes of deliberation. Like Becker, the gunmen heard the verdict pronounced against them without a show of emotion. They stood at the bar looking straight ahead as the foreman of the jury read to make known the result of its deliberations and they continued to stare stolidly in front of them until the formalities of the proceedings were concluded.

Remanded to their cells in the Tombs until tomorrow morning, when Justice Gott will fix the day for imposing sentence, they turned and filed out of the court room with as firm a step as when they had entered.

"Whitey" Lewis, who was the most dramatic of the four when he testified on the witness stand, almost broke down when he heard the verdict. He was bowed. As they entered the door leading over the Bridge of Sighs, "Gyp" said something to "Lefty" in a sullen undertone, which some could hear. "Lefty" pronounced against them without a show of emotion. They stood at the bar looking straight ahead as the foreman of the jury read to make known the result of its deliberations and they continued to stare stolidly in front of them until the formalities of the proceedings were concluded.

Former Magistrate Charles G. F. Walsh, counsel for the gunmen, announced that he would appeal from the verdict and, as in the case of Becker, many months may elapse before their ultimate fate is determined. Although the prosecution in their case near that of the former police lieutenant in the death house at Sing Sing.

Although the jury was quickly finished out of the court room an hour and five minutes, it was but twenty minutes after the verdict that they were taken to the cell block of the court that they had reached the clerk of the court that they had reached the clerk. This was at 1:35 clock, but at that time Justice Gott was at lunch and he did not return until three-quarters of an hour later.

The final day of the trial opened with Justice Gott's charge to the jury, which occupied three hours. The charge emphasized many points in the testimony of the gunmen which the prosecution in its summing up had declared were discrepancies fatal to the credibility of their stories.

"If the defendants' contention were true that Rose and his companions, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, shot Rosenthal, would he have invited them around to the Metropolitan hotel to the scene of the shooting?" he asked the jury. "Did the defendants tell the truth when they said they saw Rosenthal shot and were near enough to distinguish the faces of those who did the shooting and did not see Rosenthal fall?"

"Was the testimony of the three defendants in support of the alibi of 'Dago Frank' interposed by prearrangement?"

WOODSTOCK MAN LOST AN ARM IN A THRESHER

Byron Wilson the Victim—Potatoes $1 a Barrel in Carleton County, and $1.45 in Houlton—Death of Mrs. Alex Henderson.

Woodstock, N. B., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Alex Henderson, widow of Alex Henderson, and an esteemed resident, died this morning. Her death followed a protracted illness and was not unexpected. The funeral will be held Friday. Rev. Frank Baird, of the Presbyterian church, will officiate.

Byron Wilson met with a distressing accident yesterday while operating a threshing machine. His hand was caught in the gears and before he could be rescued part of his arm was drawn in and horribly mangled. He was rushed to the hospital and the doctors amputated the arm at the elbow.

Very few potatoes are coming in, owing to the condition of the roads. Dealers are paying $1 a barrel, and storing for better prices. Houlton farmers are receiving $1.45 a barrel and looking for an increase in price, owing to the embargo by the United States government on shipments from other countries.

FAMOUS MAINE GUIDE KILLED FOR A DEER

Shot by One of His Party—Augusta Man Accidentally Shot by His Little Son While Hunting.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 19.—Warren Holden, who was shot Saturday morning, while acting as guide at Seney point above Jackman, is dead. He was acting as guide for Indians men. The body was brought to his home in Jackman. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Mr. Holden was one of the prominent guides in Somerset county. Besides his mother two sisters, Mrs. Cyrus Newton, Skowhegan, and Mrs. Omer Clark, of Portland, and two brothers, Sylvester Holden, of Brunswick, and Charles, of Skowhegan, survive. Mr. Holden was about 40 years old and his family consisted of himself and son.
