

Past Record of Life Saving.

Paine's Celery Compound Is Now and Will Ever Be the Great Home Medicine. The past record of Paine's Celery Compound will live long in the hearts of tens of thousands of our Canadian men and women.

My DEAR ACADIAN—A Wolfville correspondent reminds us that you have not had a line from me for a long time. True, not because from the Hub there is but little to write about that my interest those far away, but too much, and it is difficult to find either a string or an ending place, and more, your columns are too full of local interest to afford much space for an outsider.

As this is a favorable stopping place to an endless round of subjects that might be indefinitely continued, I will close with the wish for a happy and prosperous New Year for yourself and all your patrons.

Just as the light-bow is a signal of danger to sailors, and the red light to railway men, so a nature equipped individuals with danger signals of one kind or another when their physical condition is not quite right. It may simply be a tired feeling, a slight cold, weakness of the muscles, fickle appetite or some other sign—slight at first—which indicates that your condition is not a healthy one. If the danger signal is not heeded, serious results will follow and a complete collapse may occur.

THE WHITE RIBBON.

"For God and Home and Native Land." Conducted by the Ladies of the W. C. T. U. OFFICERS: President—Mrs. Trotter.

When the midnight hour for the parting of the ways was announced by the tinkling of the bell of the clock, Dr. Lorimer and the congregation with bowed heads were engaged in silent prayer.

Boston is a city of humanitarianism and philanthropic institutions, magnificent school houses and churches, and claims to have the finest public library building on the continent, and the broadest and most bewildering streets in creation, and plenty of Irish Fenian blarney, and is honored with many devout people and Sabbath worshippers. Yet the god of this world evidently receives the homage of the multitude.

Of late the papers have had to record many sudden deaths of most worthy and useful men, and one of the saddest is that of this morning of the Hon. Mr. Baker, of steam-boat and railroad enterprise. In Boston the Baptists have lately lost two of their most useful and honored standard bearers in the persons of Deacon George Chipman, of Tremont Temple, and Daniel S. Ford, of the Ruggles St. church.

As a world's temperance congress is to be held in London from the 9th to the 19th of June, 1900, under the auspices of the National Temperance League, assisted by temperance organizations in all parts of the world.

A similar world's temperance congress was held about fifty years ago, but that was quite in the early days of temperance reformation. The young giant felt to triumph speedily over all the opposing forces, with all the enthusiasm and ignorance of youth.

One of the divisions of the Great Western Railway Temperance Union has held its first annual meeting in England, when the report showed a great increase of members. The chairman said that 10,000 out of 60,000 men employed on the Great Western Railway were members of the Union.

Scotland has 727 churches using unfermented wine at the communion service, an increase of sixty over the previous year.

Some of our readers may remember the shipwreck of the Stella and the brave death of the Stewards, Mary Ann Rogers. Miss Frances Power Cobbe has lately put into the form of an inscription the heroic deed of the woman.

Every brave man is a man of his word—Cornelius. Praise undeserved is satire in disguise—Broadhurst. Each present joy or sorrow seems the chief—Shakespeare.

Never suffer the prejudice of the eye to determine the heart.—Zimmermann.

Among the notable incidents of the recent commencement session of the Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., in an address to the students he announced that all applicants for tuition-cholarships must sign the following pledge: "On consideration of receiving aid from Wesleyan University in payment of part of all of the charges for tuition in 1899 and 1900, I hereby promise, so long as I hold a tuition-cholarship, not to visit a saloon nor to indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors."

When a man tells you that salary is no object to him you have found one of two things—either a man who is a fool or a man who takes you for one.

Mr. John Siddons, London, Ont., says: "I can say at most favorably of the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They prove invaluable in strengthening and tuning up the system when debilitated. Having used them for some time past I can speak most favorably of their beneficial results. As an invigorator of the constitution they are all that they claim to be."

Scraps for Odd Moments.

A man must be a pretty good orator to make his troubles sound interesting to others.

A philosopher says a man occasionally gets light on a subject by scratching his head. So does a match.

Yesterday he prayed to be delivered from evil speaking, lying and slandering. To-day he proceeds to speak evil, lie and slander.

A woman's idea of a perfect man is a man like the man she likes best; a man's idea of a perfect woman is a woman unlike any he ever knew.

Minards Liniment Cures Colds, etc. The following illustrates the necessity of placing words in their proper connection: "Dr. — will deliver a lecture Saturday evening of the week on the circulation of the blood in the Baptist church."

A Frenchman of some literary ability, after studying English for some time, wrote to an American friend, "In small time I can learn so many English, as I think I can come at the America, and go on the seaford and lecture."

An Irishman shot at a sparrow with an old musket that kicked and knocked him over. When he got up he saw the sparrow chirping unconcerned at all that had happened, and exclaimed, "Be jabbers, you wouldn't be chirped if you'd been at this end of the gun."

Little George—Mamma, what's a dodo? Mamma—A dodo, my dear, is a very rare bird. It has been seen on but few occasions, and many persons believe it to be extinct. "Mamma, is a policeman a dodo?"

"There's a rather queer thing that I have noticed about people who follow the profession of letters." "What's that?" "The man who writes just to keep the pot boiling is not the one who produces the hottest stuff."

"New, stay ering, Tottie," said a Brooklyn mother to her little girl, who had been quarrelling with her brother. "I'm sure Bennie will take back all the mean things he said." "Yes, he'll take 'em back," was the sobbing reply, "so's he'll just have 'em ready to say over again."

Willie (looking curiously at the visitor): "Where did the hen bite you, Mr. Jones? I don't see any of the marks." Mr. Jones—Why, Willie? I haven't been bitten by any hen.

Willie—Mamma, didn't you tell papa Mr. Jones was dreadfully henpecked? Why, mamma, how funny you look! Your face is all red.

Dear Sirs—Your MINARDS LINIMENT is the remedy for sore throat, colds and all ordinary ailments. It never fails to relieve and cure promptly.

The angry father strode into the parlor. "Girls," he said, "who are those young men? For some time past I have noticed that the last woman was without a life preserver, the calmly unbuttoned her own and buckled it around the passenger's waist. Then, refusing to add her own weight to the already overwhelmed boat, she called a steward 'dodger!' and raising her arms upward with the prayer, 'God have me!' she sank with the ship! The last words of the inscription we quote as an incentive to worthy deeds.

Minards Liniment Cures Garget in Cows. They were dancing. The music was heavenly. The swish of her silken skirts was delightful. The fragrance of the roses upon her bosom was almost intoxicating.

The "Slatershoe" is closely watched during the process of manufacture. Every shoe undergoes a careful examination after leaving the hands of each operator.

The slightest flaw in the leather or workmanship—a stitch missed—a slip of the knife, only discernible to an expert, condemns the shoe that started toward the "Slaters" goal to the ordinary, nameless, unwarranted army of footwear sold to whoever will by them.

The "Slatershoe" is made in twelve shapes, all leathers, colors, widths, sizes and styles. Every pair Goodyear Welted, name and price stamped on the soles. $3.50 AND $5.00.

Fourteen Mistakes.

An English paper gives a list of what it terms "the 14 mistakes of life." While there are undoubtedly other mistakes than those mentioned, the list is a fairly comprehensive one.

And the last and the greatest mistake of all is to live for time alone, when any moment may launch us into eternity.

Henry George and the Porter. Henry George was travelling once on a sleeping car. The porter came to brush the dust off him, and "work" him for the customary quarter. George refused to pay, and the porter refused to brush him.

Dwight L. Moody Dead. With the words "God is calling me," Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, whose fame was world-wide, fell asleep in death at his home East Northfield, Mass., on Friday, the morning of his birth.
