DORCHESTER HOUSE.
PARK LANE, W.
April 14, 1908.

Dear Mr. Mackenzie King:

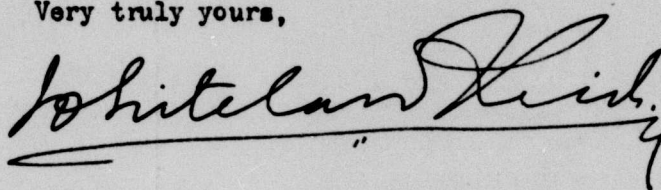

I have only recently returned from the Continent and have just heard to-day that you are sailing at the end of this week--a little earlier than my talk with you had led me to expect.

Since everybody is going out of town for the Easter vacation, there is no sort of chance for the little company I proposed inviting to meet you, unless we should have it on Wednesday, and even then it would be better to have it a luncheon at half past one. If you can tell me within an hour or two that this would be possible, I will then see if I can't find some of your Canadian friends, Lord Mount Stephen, Lord Strathcona, and perhaps some others.

They will try to reach you by telephone. If this fails, kindly do me the favour to send a response to this note as early as convenient to me at Dorchester House.

The luncheon I would propose would be here at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon. Hoping that I may be fortunate enough to find you still disengaged, I am,

Very truly yours,

Mackenzie King, Esq.
