regarded by Conservatives generally, and spoke to him much along the lines of this letter. Possibly he has made some move toward organization for the purpose of bringing out a candidate, and I would suggest that you see him and discuss the matter with him.

At present I have no definite plans as to being in Montreal. I had agreed to be there for the 24th November, but am now required to be in Hastings that night as it is the eve of the bye-election there.

Yours very truly,
