

Recipe for A Perfect Husband

Select with care one large kind heart,
One liver, red and good.
Remove all grouch and throw away,
As anybody should.
Add twenty grains of common sense
And sweetness to your taste;
Fresh air and sunshine never stint,
But tears are only waste;
Handle with tact and loving care,
No matter how you toil,
Your efforts all will be in vain
If you bring to a boil.

--MRS. G. B. HAM