Beducation of Youth

The the Biliter of the Speal

Mr. Editor, as the excitement of the shelter of the year 1870; it may mobe be amiss to any something about School matters. The subject of selectation and sught to create a deep interest, in the mind of every good-thinking person in the world. First, Because it raises its votary to that elevated position in society; and, as a rule, is a blessing to himself—ivy and counfort to his relatives; and a general blessing to the community at large. If ye look at the general statistics of the world of crime and semantalty, what do we find, but, that nucleon-twentieths of those, engaged in the world of crime and semantalty, what do we find, but, that nucleon-twentieths of those, engaged in the world of crime and semantalty, what do we find, but, that nucleon-twentieths of those, engaged in the world of crime and semantalty, what do we find crime and semantalty, what do we find the seed of the semantal position in the world, they world. But the world of crime and semantalty shall be made and the semantal semantal to the case? Simply to use every evailable means within our reach to continue the continue of the semantal position in the world, they world. But the world were to form words—those words put together to form words—those words taught by compared to the propose. I saw that the late to the same before the prince, a late to the prince, a late to the late to

The Roman is not to Rock Contained Revent Backet and the state of the states, that there is any intention of evicting Miss Bell out of her house. On the contrary, I offered her, on Sir John Young's behalf, the house (a small thatched cottage) gardens, &c., about an Irish acre, rent-free, for life, and an annuity of £6 a year, or £30, in lieu of the annual payment. Your correspondent, the Rev R. McCollam, seemed to thing this proposal a fair one when I made it to him verbally.

The truth is, that though Sir John Young never made any secret of his intention to take these lands (which is really part of the demence,) into his hands on Mr Bell's death, shortly before that event a nicee of his came from the neighbourhood of Belfast to reade with him, sold, as it would now appear, in order to set up a claim to the farm after his death.

The alleged hardship in this case consists in Sir John Young's now assuming a portion of his own demense, with which Mr Bell had been accommodated during his lifetime, and on the understanding that it was only for his hie, at a rent greatly below its value.
