

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.30 A.M.

A JUST DEMAND.

LONDON, To-day. At a meeting of the Nationalist party held in the Commons to-day, it was agreed that John Redmond, Nationalist Leader, should ask the Government Leader of the House to grant an early day for the discussion of the following motion: "That with a view to strengthening the hands of the Allies and achieving recognition of the equal rights of small nations and of the principle of Nationalities against the opposite German principle of Military Domination and Government without the consent of the governed, it is essential, without further delay to confer on Ireland the free institutions long promised her."

PANAMA SUPPORTS U.S.A.

PANAMA, To-day. The Panama Foreign Office has replied to President Wilson's note suggesting that all neutrals sever diplomatic relations with Germany, and has endorsed the stand taken by the President and offers co-operation.

URUGUAY FLOUTS GERMAN.

MONTE VIDEO, To-day. The Uruguayan Government has rejected the German note on submarine warfare according to an official statement, declares that such a measure denotes the rejection of the rights of neutrals which Chile cannot accept, because contrary to the principles which have been for so long held sacred, for the benefit of belligerent foreign countries. The acceptance by Chile of the measure taken would divert her from the line of strict neutrality followed during the war. As a consequence Chile has reserved for herself liberty of action to protect her rights in the event of any hostile act against her interests.

SAFETY FIRST.

STOCKHOLM, To-day. The Swedish Government rejects President Wilson's suggestion that other neutral countries join with the United States in severing diplomatic relations with Germany and declares its intention to follow strictest neutrality so long as it is possible.

CHILE REJECTS THE NOTE.

SANTIAGO, Chile, To-day. The reply of the Chilean Government to the German note on submarine warfare according to an official statement, declares that such a measure denotes the rejection of the rights of neutrals which Chile cannot accept, because contrary to the principles which have been for so long held sacred, for the benefit of belligerent foreign countries. The acceptance by Chile of the measure taken would divert her from the line of strict neutrality followed during the war. As a consequence Chile has reserved for herself liberty of action to protect her rights in the event of any hostile act against her interests.

NOTHING KNOWN RE JAS. GERARD.

LONDON, To-day. Nothing thus far has been received here direct from Berlin with reference to the alleged detention of Jas. W. Gerard, the retiring American Ambassador to Germany and other Americans. It seems probable that American paper correspondents are not being allowed to telegraph anything more definite than that contained in the Associated Press dispatch on Wednesday, saying that Gerard had received his passport and did not know definitely when he would depart, although he had decided, on the route by way of Switzerland. No replies have been received here to the inquiries which have been made concerning Gerard.

CONDESNING!

MADRID, To-day. A Madrid despatch to the Petit Journal says that the German Government has announced that it grants a further delay of forty-eight hours for neutral ships at sea to regain neutral ports.

FURTHER VOTES OF CREDIT.

LONDON, To-day. The Parliamentary papers to-day announce that the Government will ask a supplemental vote of credit of £200,000,000 for war expenses to March 31, and also a vote of credit of £250,000,000 as a first instalment of amount required for the year ending March, 1918. The Government will introduce a bill in the House of Commons on Monday for the suspension of Grand Juries during the remainder of the war.

2.00 P.M.

GERARD TO LEAVE SATURDAY.

BERLIN, To-day. Gerard and party probably will leave Berlin on Saturday evening, although the date has not been settled definitely. It is expected they will travel by way of Switzerland.

IT IS TO TREMBLE!

BERLIN, To-day. Premier Radoslawoff of Bulgaria, in an interview with the Sofia correspondent of the Koelnische Zeitung, is quoted as saying that coming events would only emphasize the success of the Central Powers and would probably decide the whole war within a reasonably short time. The correspondent adds that he hears that the Bulgarian Government proposes to act towards the United States in accordance with its obligations as an ally of the Central Powers.

GREAT PROGRESS BY BRITISH.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE—Recent night fighting in frozen snow in a temperature near zero has carried the British lines well forward on both sides of the Ancre in the direction of Grandcourt, which was officially announced as taken last night. For some time the British have been gradually improving their position in the Ancre sector, but the latest and most important phase began on Saturday night, when under a moon almost too brilliant for their purpose the English troops swept forward five hundred yards over a frontage of three quarters of a mile, taking 200 prisoners. On Tuesday night the British occupied a long section of a trench just west of Grandcourt, and on Wednesday patrols were sent out, who reported that Grandcourt had been evacuated and that the enemy had retired toward Miraumont after abandoning many gun positions.

WHAT ARE THEY WAITING FOR?

WASHINGTON, To-day. Preliminary reports before the State Department to-day on the sinking of merchant vessels without warning by German submarines contained evidence of a technical violation of American rights, yet the Government was holding its peace until some outrage presenting a more clear cut issue would compel it to act. Information on all ships torpedoed is being collected and it was stated officially that up to to-day the situation had not changed.

GOOD RIDDANCE.

BERNE, To-day. The German Government was officially informed to-day by the Spanish Ambassador that Von Bernstorff will sail for Halifax on Monday.

The Sick List Song.

THE BUTTON SHOE.

The button shoe is a popular article of dress which is harder to get on and off than a lace evening gown with forty-two hooks and eyes. The inventor of the button shoe has never been discovered, but if he is ever found he will have one of the most abrupt and successful demises on record. Until the button shoe was brought out a man could dress in the morning while his wife was getting the kitchen fire started, and by the time she had lugged in two or three pails of coal and had shoveled the snow off the front walk he would be ready to sit down to breakfast and cause a lofty pile of wheat cakes to succumb in a heap. This was because men wore the good old Congress shoe, which could be put on without calling in a plumber.

With the advent of the button shoe, however, every man who owned a pair found it required more time to make his toilet than a June bride. It is a peculiar fact that a pair of new button shoes, which fitted perfectly down at the store, will begin to shrink as soon as they are exposed to the outdoor air. When the owner tries to squeeze into them the next morning he will be greeted by three or four sickening explosions, caused by the buttons flying off and rolling under the chiffonier. The buttons are then put back on by a machine which locates them in a new spot, where they can bite a hole in the owner's ankle at every step.

After the button shoe had been on the market long enough to expose its treacherous character some budding genius patented the lace shoe, which is about as easy to put together as a gasoline engine. A nimble woman can take a pair of high lace shoes immediately after the dinner hour and by working rapidly with the assistance of a capable maid can have them fully assembled in time for the theatre, unless she breaks a lace. Shoes never break, however, until there is nothing in the house that looks like one except the clothesline or the stores have been closed for the week end.

Must Put an end to Turkish Rule in Europe

Lord Bryce Says the Allied Powers Would Have Been False to All Principles of Right and Humanity, for Which They Demanded the Expulsion of the Turks.

London, January 26.—The demand for the expulsion of the Turk from Europe, included among the terms in the Allied note, in reply to President Wilson, is justified by Lord Bryce, in his views on that phase of the Entente reply, which were given to the Associated Press to-day.

Concerning Turkey Lord Bryce's views were formulated before the peace notes were exchanged and he appears in about a month for authorized publication in London and New York under Government auspices. Owing to their direct bearing upon the terms regarding Turkey laid down by the Allies, he has now made them available to the Associated Press.

PLEASING PLAY AT ROSSLEY'S. One of the prettiest little stories of domestic life was enacted at Rossley's British Theatre last night when "Questions" was presented by Mr. Edmund Fox and Miss Carolyn Carr assisted by Little Miss Patricia Costello. Through the machinations of a dandy scoundrel a happy home is in danger of being broken up but the little girl, Cicely, by her incessant questioning, exposes the plot and all ends happily. Regular patrons of the British Theatre have learned to expect something artistic and unusual in the plays put on by Fox and Carr and they were not disappointed last night. Little Patricia Costello played her part like an "old stager" and for a child of her years really gave a remarkable performance. The picture programme was up to the usual standard of excellence and was greatly appreciated. To-night our returned soldiers and sailors will attend the performance as guests of the management.

That the faults of the Turkish Government are incurable has been most clearly shown by the fact that the Young Turks gang who gained power when they had deposed Abdul Hamid have surpassed even that monster of cruelty in their slaughter of unoffending Armenians. The Committee of Union and Progress began by promising equal rights to all races and faiths. This was "union." It proceeded forthwith not only to expel the Greek-speaking inhabitants of Western Asia Minor, and to exterminate the Armenians, but to attempt to "Turkify" the Albanians, Moslems as well as Christians, and to prescribe their language.

"The Moslem peasant of Asia Minor is an honest, kindly fellow, when not roused by fanaticism, but the Turk as a governing power, is irreclaimable, and the Allied Powers would have been false to all the principles of right and humanity, for which they are fighting, if they had not proclaimed that no Turkish Government shall hereafter be permitted to tyrannize over the subjects of another faith."

Your Boys and Girls. Your baby's career should be started by the nurse as follows: She washes out his eyes very gently with a piece of gauze dipped in a weak solution of boric acid. Then she rubs baby from head to foot with oil, rolls it up in a soft, warm blanket, lays it on its right side and then turns her attention to the mother.

Later she gives baby its first sponge bath of warm water and pure soap. After the bath she washes out the mouth with gauze and a weak solution of boric acid and removes the piece of gauze away. With a second piece of gauze and more of the acid solution she then gives baby's eyes a second washing, dresses him, feeds him and tucks him away for his first sleep in perfect cleanliness and comfort.

"I Killed Him Because Could Not Have Him"

SAYS WOMAN NOW DYING.

Midnight Tragedy on Pine Avenue—Eva Boyle, 477 Aylmer Street, Murdered Burke Haynes, 61 River St. Verdun—Jealousy Thought to be the Motive—Think Woman Will Die.

(Montreal Star, Jan. 8.) "I loved him that's why I shot him. I knew I could not have him so I killed him. Oh, I hope I die because I know I'll go to jail."

With short gasps and labored breathing, this was the confession of Eva Boyle, on what the doctors and police believe will be her death bed at the Royal Victoria Hospital. She has a bullet wound in her left breast and the missile itself is imbedded in her lung. Her condition grows weaker hourly.

Between midnight and one o'clock this morning she shot and killed her lover, Burke Haynes, twenty-five years of age, who lived with his parents at 61 River Street, Verdun, while they were walking on Pine avenue. No one saw the murder, no one heard the report of the revolver, but from what has been learned by the detectives, the two had reached the centre of the road by the reservoir, when the girl pulled an automatic revolver from her muff, and shot Haynes through the heart. He dropped to the sidewalk and lay still. Then she turned the weapon upon herself and placing the muzzle at her breast pulled the trigger.

Alarmed at what she had done she fled by the nearest way, which was past the nurses home, to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where she confessed to the doctors that she had shot a man on the street, following a quarrel, and then had shot herself. She was immediately brought to bed, and later when Detectives Weston and Dalgrossellers were summoned to the bedside she made a confession.

Another Woman. Despite this the police are puzzled. "I knew I could not have him," she said. "Why?" asked the police and no answer came.

"Both, so far as is known, were single, and yet the girl added that during the past two or three weeks it had been firmly impressed upon her that she could never marry him. Jealousy is declared to have been the motive. There is thought to have been another woman.

"If I cannot have you, then, no one else will," she is reported to have said to Haynes when they parted at the front door of her boarding house at 477 Aylmer Street on Friday night. A neighbor was putting her milk bottle out at 11.45 and overheard this conversation.

Eva Boyle is a woman of about 30 years of age; Haynes is five years younger. They had been keeping company since last September when she took a room in the Aylmer Street house.

Her landlady declared this morning that she had found Eva Boyle a quiet girl, tidy in her room and in her habits. She could say nothing against her. When she took a room in her house last September, she was asked if she had any friends who would come to see her. She replied she had one only, and when Haynes came to the house he spent the evening in her room and always left between ten and eleven o'clock.

Lovers' Quarrel. "Did they quarrel," the landlady was asked. "Well just as much as most lovers do. I did hear them having words now and again but it never amounted to much so far as I know."

The landlady then said that on Friday night last when she was putting her milk bottle out the couple were standing at the front door; he was just going home. They were quarrelling then, but she could not hear the trend of it.

From another source it was learned that she obtained the revolver several days ago and that the quarrel on Friday night was over the weapon. Haynes took it away from her but on Sunday night she had obtained possession of it again and it was found in her muff by the detectives after she was in the hospital.

Was a Waitress. Eva Boyle is believed to be an old country girl. Her landlady thinks she is Scotch. She is sturdy and well built. She was employed as a waitress in the St. Catherine Street east branch of the Imperial Hotel and for a time last fall was employed in munition work. Haynes worked in the Allis-Chalmers Bullock factory at Rockfield.

On Sunday Haynes called on Eva Boyle early in the afternoon and they both left the house about supper time. They were both together in an uptown cafeteria early in the evening, but what they did between the time they left there until the shooting, took place no one knows. That they quarrelled again is thought certain by the police.

So far no ante mortem statement has been taken at the hospital. The detectives stated this morning that they had broached the subject at the court house, but owing to her confession to the police and the doctors, it had not been thought necessary.

At two o'clock her condition was reported unchanged. An inquest will be opened at the morgue to-morrow. Haynes' father identified the body there this morning but could tell nothing that would explain the shooting.

Despite the confession at the hospital the girl's story of having killed a man was not believed at first. Search for the body was instituted, however, but without success until daylight came, when it was found half buried in the snow.

South Africa's "Safe Man."

Westminster Gazette.—The disappointment that will be felt that affairs in South Africa will prevent General Botha from attending next month the Conference which is to discuss all that matters about the war and the peace to follow will be lessened by the knowledge that the Union is to be represented by General Smuts in his stead. The man who, a few brief years ago, was leading an army in the field against us has been called the "safe man of South Africa." Perhaps no finer tribute has ever been paid to Britain's policy in regard to her dependencies than that which Smuts paid in a letter to ex-General Beyers, in September, 1914, when Beyers resigned his post as Commandant-General, and, at the same time, his commission as an officer of the Union.

"You speak about duty and honor," he wrote. "My conviction is that the people of South Africa will in these dark days, when the Government as well as the people are put to the supreme test, have a clearer conception of duty and honor than is to be deducted from your letter and action. For the Dutch-speaking section in particular I cannot conceive anything more fatal and humiliating than a policy to lip loyalty in fair weather and a policy of neutrality and pro-German sentiment in the days of storm and stress." There can be no question now that his "conviction" was the right one.
