procession formed in the following order: Mr. E. F. Tibbot, Mr. Daniel M. Ramsdell, ushers; Mrs. Dimmock and Lieut Parker, and proceeded to the chancel, where Gen. Harrison, accompanied by his best man, Gen. Tracy, received his bride. For the march, Dr. George William Warren, organist of the church, played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," and during the entire ceremony played very softly Mascagni's intermezzo cavalleria. The marriage service proper was used, and immediately the blessing was pronounced Gen. and Mrs. Harrison, followed by Mrs. John F. Parker and Gen. Tracy, Mr. Tibbot and Mr. Ramsdell, Lieut. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot, walked down the aisle to the strain of Tannhauser. for their trip to Indianapolis. Mrs. Dimmock's wedding gown was of pearl gray, grosgrain silk; the skint, made plain, with a short train falling from the waist in full, soft godets; a Louis XVI. coat, opening in front, over a full vest of white chiffon, with broad revers, draped with rare old honiton lace, half a yard in width, extending down each side of the front, and draped over the hips, forming a coat effect. The sleeves were long and full, tapering to the arm. below the elbow, and ending in a fall of lace at the wrist. Around the neck was a plush collar of palest blue velvet, over which was entwined a rope of magnificent pearls, fastened with a diamond clasp, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a large bouquet of lily-of-the-valley. The bonnet worm by the bride was a dainty French creation, composed of lace and blue velvet, with a white aigrette, held in place by jewel-pins.

Mrs. Harrison, who is a small, but very graceful woman, of rather dark complexion, and very bright appearance, is related to Gen. Harrison through his late wife, who was her aunt. She was born at Princeton, Penn. where she married her first husbanl Walter E. Dimmock, who died a few months afterwards. She spent con-siderable time at the White House during Gen. Harrison's administration, and was a great favorite with her aunt, the late Mrs. Harrison.

Gen. Harrison was born in North Bend, Ohio, in August, 1833, and is in his 63rd year. He is a grandson of W. H. Harrison, eighth President of the United States. After graduating from a law school in 1853, he was elected official reporter of the Supreme Court of Indiana. In 1862 he raised a regi-ment, went into the field, as colonel and served through a number of important engagements with distinction. He was brevetted brigadier-general before the close of the war. On his return to Indianapolis after the war he re-sumed the practice of law, and in 1876, when the regular nominee withdrew shortly before the election, the nomination was forced upon Gen. Harrison for Governorship, who was defeated by a narrow majority. In 1880 he was elected to the United States Senterm, and in 1888 he was elected President of the United States.
