MRS. COCKSHUTT ENTERTAINED

Wife of Lieutenant-Governor Is Guest of Municipal Chapter At Hunt Club.

Following the reception to Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt and his wife, on Friday, Mrs. Cockshutt was taken to the Hunt Club where she was guest of honor at a luncheon, given by the Municipal Chapter, L.O.E.E. The guests included the executive of the chapter, the war memorial children's hospital committee and the ladies of the primary chapters of the L.O.E.E. also of the leading women's organizations in the city.

Mrs. Cockshutt, who wore a navy blue dress with a steel band, a collar of squirrel and a large black hat with wide feathers, charmed all those who had the pleasure of meeting her with her gracious manner.

The tables at which covers were laid for one hundred, were extremely attractive, decked with yellow mums, gay autumn foliage and bright red berries. Those who assisted in serving were Misses Lorraine White, Ruth Robinson, Jessie Gillespie, Margaret McCrimmon and Miss Auden.

Before leaving the Kennels Mrs. Cockshutt was presented with a large bouquet of roses by Mrs. C. I. Campbell, treasurer of the hospital committee, who also received a corsage of roses. Mrs. Cockshutt gave a little in address, thanking the chapter for their hospitality and cordial reception.

Guests at Tea. Following the ceremonies at the Sick Children's Hospital, the Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. Cockshutt and the staff were the guests of Lieut.-Col. Cartshore and Mrs. Cartshore at the nurses residence, Col. and Mrs. Cartshore were assisted in receiving by Miss Elizabeth Ross, superintendent of the hospital.

A tea-table, which was effectively decorated with mums and large ferns, was presided over by Miss Robertson and Miss Davidson, who were assisted in serving by the head nurses. During the tea hour, Mr. McDonald gave delightful selections on the bakpipies.

Among the guests were, Gen. H. A. Paner and his wife and staff, Lieut.-Col. Frank Ware and Mrs. Ware, Mr. Frank Leonard, Miss A. A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. Jarvis, Mrs. C. I. Campbell, Mrs. Archie Becher, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Major Lawless, Rev. Col. Beattie, C. M. E. Dr. and Mrs. Fishburn, Mrs. G. A. Routledge, Miss Fitzhugh, Mrs. Egleton, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan and many others.

WITH BRIDES

MURRAY-SUTHERLAND.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, Oct. 23, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Sutherland, of the 7th Line of West Zorra, when her niece, Miss Mary Sutherland, daughter of Mr. Alex. Sutherland, was married to Mr. Angus Murray, Rev. J. H. Huxley officiating. The bride looked charming in a navy blue gown with fringe and bead trimmings, and wore the groom's gift, a wrist watch, also a pearl necklace, a gift from her aunt.

Mention Mrs. Edwards As Ontario President

A signal honor is conferred upon the Women's Institutes of Western Ontario in the fact that Mrs. George W. Edwards of Komoka, convenor of the Western Ontario executive, is mentioned for the honor of the presidency of the Ontario Federation to succeed Mrs. William Todd of Orillia, who is retiring, owing to the fact that she is now president of the Dominion Federation. Mrs. Edwards, it is understood, has been approached on the subject and will give her decision when she goes to Toronto for the Ontario convention which opens on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Need Last Hundred Thousand Before Hospital Can Open

"After the inspiration of the address of his honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, and the fine enthusiasm shown today, we feel we can go forward with renewed energy and strength to the task of completing this hospital," said a prominent member of the executive of the War Memorial Children's Hospital at the close of the unveiling ceremonies on Friday afternoon.

"When do you expect to have it completed?" asked someone who had overheard the remark.

"We could have it done by the end of the year if we only had that last hundred thousand. We will finish the hospital as soon as we get that."

"But, where are you going to get it?" "Providence only knows," and the reply was accompanied by a shrug of the shoulders. But there came an instant change of mood. After what his undertaker in faith, we mustn't start doubting now that we will get all the money that is needed, and get it promptly."

"We are going to carry on in faith until our dreams are realized, and then, I suppose, we shall start dreaming about extensions."

The plan which is being carried out is on a much more ambitious scale than was at first conceived by the committee, beyond the dreams of the convener, Mrs. Arthur H. Smith, who first suggested the idea of the living cenotaph in the form of a children's hospital for London in the summer of 1919.

Build For Future. The first idea was to build on the old plan, but it was found that this would not be satisfactory, and that it would be the better part of wisdom to build for the future.

When completed, it is estimated that the total cost will be $282,000, and of this amount, $180,000 has been guaranteed. Fifty thousand dollars was given by the city, $12,000 from the County of Middlesex, $15,000 from the United Welfare and $20,000 from the provincial government, payable this month. "The rest, states the honorary secretary, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, represents actual hard work on the part of the L. O. D. E. Women's Institute branches, the Red Cross, charitable and fraternal societies.

A campaign early in the new year is a plan under consideration to get the "last $100,000" under way. In the years to come, crippled children will have very special reason to bless the inspiration that started the hospital, the faith, patience and perseverance which carried it through.

The building of the memorial gives Ontario its second orthopaedic hospital, and the only other one in the province outside of Toronto. From the beginning, the movement was enthusiastically endorsed by the medical profession in London.

One of the very first steps taken by the pioneers was to lay the project before the Academy of Medicine for endorsement.

Friday afternoon, after the proper sealing of the foundation stone by the Lieutenant-Governor, scores of visitors made a tour of inspection of the new building, now very much "in the raw," especially on a drizzly November day. The committee members, however, saw it as it is to be, in all the completeness of furnishings and equipment. A large, rectangular space, of which the chief beauty at the time was the number of windows and the view, was pointed out as an ideal ward, with sunroom beyond, to catch the first rays of dawn in the east. Here were three, and no less, so the story was proudly told.

When the last $100,000 is rounded up, the work of blessing the lives of little children will begin through making their twisted limbs straight and strong, saving them of their diseases, and having them for happiness, usefulness and service to the nation, in memory of those who died for them in Flanders fields.

New Corsets More Popular Than Ever

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Of "corset" is all settled.

Meaning that the question under discussion at the beginning of the season has been decided once and for all.

The well-dressed woman refuses to do without corsets and has influenced their design to such an extent that no longer do they offer any excuse for old-time prejudices.

Not only is the new corset more popular than ever, but its low-busted, slender-lined lines have become an aesthetic delight of varied necessity.

It is the fashion woman today who has corsets for all occasions.

There is the all-rubber, flexible short girdle for sports. There is the elastic hip for dancing. Gorgeously and hip for evening wear. Handsome brocades combined with lace and ribbons run from orchid, pink and blue—yes, to black. The black corset, once regarded as suspiciously utilitarian, is now the smart thing with thin black evening gowns. White satin shades attention, with brocade for bridal corsets.

Brassieres are, of course, necessary with these low-busted corsets for women who are not built on ultra-slender lines.

The first time since her marriage, on Wednesday, Nov. 2, at her residence, Centre Court, Alexandra Apartments.

Miss Eleanor Robinson is home from Macdonald Hall, Guelph, and spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson, St. James' street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smallman, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Morgan and Mr. Ernest Weld are taking their horses over to show at the Detroit Hunt Club races.

Miss Beryl Jewell, Miss Mabelle Purdom and Miss Shirley Johnston of Branksome Hall, Toronto, are spending the week-end with their parents in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCormick left Friday to spend the week-end in Port Dover, and while there will be the guests of Mrs. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Joseph Ivey.

Mrs. C. S. Hyman, "Idlewild," was the hostess recently of a delightful luncheon. The tables were effectively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, and covers were laid for twelve.

Lieut.-Col. W. A. McCrimmon and Mrs. McCrimmon, accompanied by Col. and Mrs. Murphy, motored to Port Dover this week, and while there were the guests of Col. D. Smith, Rosebank.

Miss Farleigh Hungerford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hungerford, Wellington street, who is attending school in Toronto, arrived home last night to spend the week-end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, 120 Horton street, announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Laura, to Mr. Harold M. Stover of Sombra, to be celebrated on Saturday, Nov. 13, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Campbell, 120 Horton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frailek, Bruce street, announce the engagement of their daughter Vera to Mr. William Henry Corby of Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corby of Byron, the marriage to take place on Nov. 17.

While in the city this month to address a meeting under the auspices of the Women's Liberal Association, Mrs. Grant Needham of Toronto will be the guest of Mrs. E. E. Reid, Talbot street.

Mrs. Frank Steele has returned to the city after a sojourn of four months in Colorado, U. S. A. Mrs. Steele took part in several mountain-climbing expeditions, but, unfortunately, was seriously injured during the last month of her stay. Her many friends will be glad to know that she is making a quick recovery.

Miss Lorna Rumball who is attending Whitby Ladies' College, is spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Rumball, Dufferin avenue. Miss Rumball brought with her as her guest Miss Marjorie Holmes. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holmes of Toronto are also guests with Mr. and Mrs. Rumball.

Mrs. Charles Keene, who was general convener of the bazaar held this week at the Cronyn Memorial Church, was presented on Wednesday evening with a new Canadian Prayer Book, besides a large basket of roses, by the conveners of the various bazaar. Rev. G. Q. Warner made the presentation, giving a short address, in which he expressed the thanks of the women for the splendid work Mrs. Keene had done in making the bazaar a success.

Col. W. Hendrie of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, was a distinguished figure on the G. T. R. platform on Friday forenoon, among the many who wished to pay their respects to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Cockshutt, upon their arrival from Toronto. Col. Hendrie was stopping over for a little visit in town with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, "Tudor," on his way to Detroit, where he is to be a judge at the Detroit Hunt Club races. Major Lawless, who represented the military with General U. M. Panet and Lieut.-Col. F. T. Ware, had the interesting experience of shaking hands with one another for the first time since meeting in France.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

OFFERS TO HELP.
Dear Miss Grey,—I saw in your very interesting part of the paper where someone wanted the song "Katy." I have two, so am sending one along—do not wait it back. Have also a very pretty lace to make a doll, also a pattern for a Tulip quilt, which I will give along with directions to anyone wanting it.
Thank you, M. A. for sending the song, and also for offering your crochets. We would like to hear from you again sometime.

SENDS NAMES.
Dear Miss Grey,—I received the clematis vine buds, and have a nice vine now, but do not know how to care for it during the winter, as it is outside. I am sending a small parcel for Tip. Would you please send me a pattern for a quilt, closing 50 cents for names on block.
LAUREL.

Can anyone tell Laurel how to care for her clematis vine? Thank you for making a patch, Laurel, and for the money sent in.

GAVE HER ALL.
Dear Miss Grey,—I enclosed find plaster for C. H., and will you please send me a few seeds? I have some Rose of Sharon seed I will try and send in later. It seems so nice to see something else than war in the Mail, even if it is still on the minds of some of us, who sent their all to France, never to come back. Wishing the Page every success, I remain, as ever,

A CAMERA! HERO'S MOTHER.
It was lovely of you to offer to send your Rose of Sharon seeds. I am forwarding the seeds you asked for, and thank you for sending our fund a "plaster."

Conservatory of Music—355 Dundas street. Phone 1101.

Violin Department.
The directorate have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Knight Wilson, the violinist, soloist and teacher. Mr. Wilson has the reputation of being one of the first violin teachers in Glasgow, Scotland, and also a leading member of the Scottish Orchestra. He was for years the student and assistant to Henri Vieuxtemps. Mr. Wilson is expected in London about the 22nd of November.

The policy of The London Conservatory of Music is to build up a permanent scientific and artistic teaching staff, and this is one amongst others of such appointments.

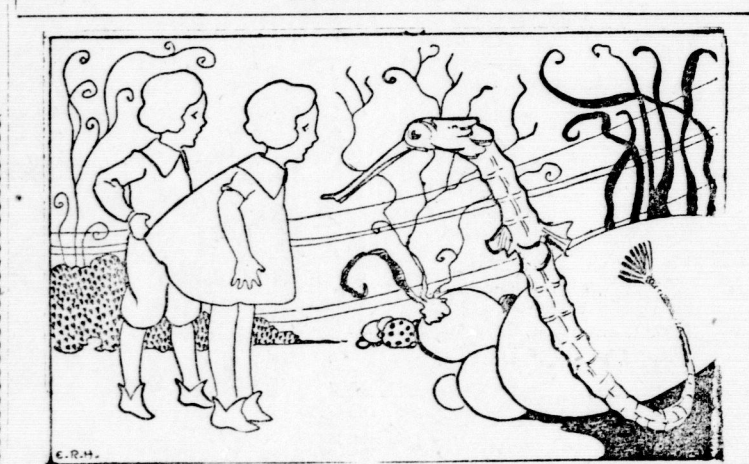

Whilst the Conservatory is going to considerable expense and is devoting great care and attention to the engaging of the highest class of professors it is doing so so judiciously that such teachers can be presented to the public at a price that is not prohibitive.

For further particulars, terms, etc., ring up 1101.
THE NEW TERM OPENS NOV. 9. FOR TEACHERS' TERMS AND PARTICULARS WRITE THE SECRETARY OR CALL UP 1101.

Vocal Department.
Miss Dorinda Abbott will be pleased to make special arrangements for classes of three. This opens up a field for the enterprising professional vocalist who wishes authentic expert advice.

MR. GORY'S NEIGHBORS

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"I take the eggs along when I go," he said.

BUT Mr. Fifteen-Spines Stickback didn't need to worry about the Busy Boar-Fish coming and eating up the eggs while his wife was away, for Mr. Boar-Fish was having troubles of his own.

As the Twins passed his front door wasn't he fussing around, too, about not being able to leave his children alone enough to hunt his supper. For, and isn't it funny, Mr. Boar-Fish was as much afraid of his three little neighbors as Mr. Stickback was of him, neither guessing about the other.

But poor, dear Mr. Goby was the worst of all. He, too, was a shore-fish and lived right along there near the water. Of course, he might have crept down his roof, and gone and hunted his wife, for Mr. Goby kept the egg, which would soon be little gobies, tucked away in a hollow place in the sand under a great cockle-shell. But he was afraid of the pipe-fish, long and thin, like grass-blades, for they could lift up the shell just as easy and slip their mouths under, and Mr. Goby knew it. To say nothing of Spike Star-Fish, who could pick up a cockle-shell with his suckers as easily as you could pick up a raisin cookie with your fingers. Yes, poor, dear Mr. Goby decided that he'd stay at home and starve to death before he'd let anything happen to his children. But he was cross just the same about Mrs. Goby's adding.

Nancy and Nick went on to Mr. Pipe-Fish's home, but he was away. They met him, however, hunting for his wife. "I take the eggs along when I go," said he, tapping his pocket. "Then they're safe." The kids looked too thin to move himself around, let alone a batch of eggs. What queer 'uns the Wigs-ifs were! (To be Continued.) (Copyright, 1921.)
