British Scientists Make the Trip by Rail to Wellington and Nanaimo.

A Warm Welcome Extended by Mayor and People of the Coal City.

Members of the British Association and ladies of the party to the number of forty or more, and nearly an equal number of ladies and gentlemen from Victoria, took advantage of the kindness of Mr. James Dunsmuir, who placed a train their disposal, to make a journey over the names of Sir John Evans, president, and Lord Kelvin, the retiring president. Sir John Evans responded briefly. He spoke of the great pleasure the associa-tion had derived from its visit to Canada, and of the many things they had learned. He was particularly impressed by the loyal and patriotic spirit evinced by the people. Referring to the receptions of the reception of the receptio by the people. Much uncertainty prevails at present as to where the remains of the late Bishop Lemmens will be interred although an effort is being msde to have them brought here for burial. There is a law in Guatemala that prevents corpses being sent out of the country in all cases where death is the result of yellow fever, and there is another regulation that when once a corpse is interred it cannot be disintered for at least five years. THE TAX SALE BY-LAW.

Important Judgment Given by Mr. Justice Drake Upon the Subject of Sale for Taxes.

The train, which consisted of three cars, left Victoria at 9 a.m. At Duncan some of the party disembarked and spent the shall be given to them or their agents. A by-law was passed the 3rd July 1896 the party disembarked and spent the day very enjoyably visiting the Indian reservations. The remainder of the party went on to Nanaimo, where an elegant cold lunch was served in the Hotel Wilson. Fifty-five persons sat down to lunch, including, besides those who went from Victoria, Mayor and Mrs. Davidson, of Nanaimo. After the toast of the Queen had been drunk, Mayor Redfern in a very neat speech, in which he briefly sketched the work of the British Association and expressed the gratification which the the work of the British Association and expressed the gratification which the people of Victoria felt in being able to entertain them, proposed the health of the British Association, coupling with it the names of Sir John Evans, president, and Lord Kelvin, the retiring president. Sir John Evans responded briefly. He August, the sale to take place on the 1st October, 1896, and on that day and at a subsequent adjourned day sundry lots and portions of lots were sold. as any such judge may have directed.

The petition is now before me of the collector asking for a confirmation of the sales. It appears that the collector de-posited the notices of the intended was delightful. The country looked very beautiful and the whole party enjoyed the trip in the most thorough fashion. out knowing whether the person ad-dressed was a resident in the city or not. Although this may be a compliance with the by-law, it does not satisfy the obvious intention of the act. The act states that the judge is to be satisfied that the notice of sale has to be served on the reopened yesterday morning with a con-siderably increased attendance, especial-ly in the boarding department, students persons who appear on the city register; this I consider to mean the notice reom every part of the province being in tendance.

by Great Britain. The map will be letter: widely appreciated on this account. No point. The American maps naturally ignore the British line absolutely, and n fact place the American boundary line anywhere between the summit the Chilcoot pass and Tagish lake. And unfortunately Canadian maps show the American territory as being well inside of the British contention. This is a wrong idea. We are entitled to claim and mark on our maps the territory as claimed by Great Britain until arbitration has proved the contrary. Your line is the true line, and there is no doubt at all when the disputed territory is defin itely fixed both Dyea and Skagway will be in British territory. In fact it is even likely to include territory still further south. The most generous reading of the old treaty cannot under any reasonable construction place the American line further inland than Pyramid Harbor, just south of the Chilcat inlet; therefore both Dyea and Skagway may be accepted as British territory.

Those two points are of some value because, being at the head of deep salt water, they really constitute the only approaches to the headwaters of the Tukon. Not that it matters much to business men whether the Yukon is approached through American territory or not, it being a question simply of cheapest transportation.

But it will allay the apprehensions of those exceedingly patriotic people who are clamoring for "an all-Canadian route" when, if the American contention be upheld, none exists on the coast.
