EXPLOSION WRECKED MUNICIPAL PLANT

Boiler in Electric Light Station of Ontario Does
Much Damage

ENGINEER KILLED.

AYLMER, Ont., Oct. 13.—The town of Aylmer was shaken by a terrific explosion at 7 o'clock last night, when the Aylmer electric light and water plant was blown to atoms, fire completing the wreck and the Brandon Shoe Company building, which adjoined was also burned to the ground. Eighty men were employed in this factory, and as a result of the fire are thrown out of work. The engineer in charge of the city plant, Harry Fisher, was killed, his body being found under the demolished wall of the dynamo room. What caused the explosion is not known. The boiler, which was situated at the west end of the building, had been recently overhauled and was inspected a week or two ago. Last night was the first time it has been used since it was re-motivated. Fire broke out almost immediately after the explosion and within a few minutes the entire building was in flames. The shoe factory, which was under the same roof as the city plant, quickly caught and was destroyed. A barn adjoining owned by Martin Kidd, also was destroyed.
