Counselman & Day to J. J. Dixon & Co.: Wheat ruled strong within narrow limits to-day. The important influence in the market was the tendency shown in foreign markets to follow an advance on this side. Exporters bought at higher prices and the demand was sharper for-cash wheat at primary points than for futures in the great markets. Bradstreet reported dearances for the past week less than for the two weeks preceding. The feeling that the visible on Monday would show a liberal increase held speculative buyers in check and prevented anything like a boom.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochran: The feature in corn was continued liquidation of Dec. and Jan, by longs at receding prices. Receivers generally are of the opinion that not only will receipts, be largely increased next month but grading will be much better. Should there be an abuncance of contract corn it will of course be through the to maintain year ordings at a premium ion. Oats dull and without material change, the flood of hogs which partly substided early in he week have broken out fresh, and market has een greatly depressed in consequence. Packers eem to be anxious to get prices low enough as a lasis for a bull deal later in the season. LOWNSBROUGH & CO.,

BANKERS AND BROKERS, 22 King-st. east, Toronto, Henry Allen: Dividend on Vanderbilts

ish on the market until after holidays.

Henry Allen to J. J. Dixon & Co.: The week's speculation closes with no cessation of the bullish feeling which has prevailed for some time past: Every stock on the list shows strength, which is materially assisted by a large number of pools and combinations, which are all working for higher prices. Every stock has its pool, and in some of them there are no less than two at work. In Erie Mr. Keene is credited with the manipulation of a powerful combination, and cable reports from abroad this moraling say that a strong London syndicate has underwritten a large block of stock which is held there. Forty is predicted for it, and that very speedily. These pools all have large paper profits, but show little disposition to accept them. About the only stock disposition to accept them. About the only stock that shows any signs of inside selling is Chicago Gas, and even in that the friends of the company claim that the present halt is but a temporary one preparatory to a still greater advance.
