

Bits of Fun.

It would probably be hard to convince a bantam rooster that his crowing doesn't have a good deal to do with making the sun rise.—Ram's Horn.

The man who lets his wife split all the wood may mean well, but he shouldn't be allowed to do all the talking at a prayer-meeting.—Ram's Horn.

"Do you enjoy football?" he asked of the man who sat next him at the game. "Some." "Are you a player?" "No. I'm a surgeon."—Washington Star

An Advertisement.—"Any one proving to my satisfaction that my cocoa essence is injurious to health will receive ten canisters free of charge."—Deutsche Leschulle

Mrs. Carper (fretfully)—"Another button to sew on? It is sew on buttons and sew on buttons and sew on buttons from morning till night. Mr. Carper (calmly)—"My dear, you ought to have married a rattlesnake."—Life.

A pompous man called on a lawyer who was busily engaged, and interrupted him, saying, "I called to see you."

"Take a chair, sir," replied the lawyer. "I shall be at liberty presently."

"But I am the Honorable Thomas Smith of Lancaster."

"Oh, indeed! Then take two chairs".—School Bulletin.

Willie D. was given the word "gone," which he had missed in spelling, to write fifty times upon his slate. Before he had finished doing this, his mother was called away. When she returned, she found the slate awaiting her, with fifty "gones" on one side, and on the other. "I have gorn over to Tom's."—Harper's Young People.

"I'm sorry I can't let you have the two weeks you want," said Mr. Dimity to his bookkeeper, "but you may have one week." "Very well," replied the philosophical young man, "half a loaf is better than no vacation."—Detroit Free Press.

Elder Barry--I told Joblots he would have to give up voloties if he camein to the church. Dr. Thirdly--What did he say? Elder Barry--That his only object in joining was to pick up a few practical hints in that line.--New York Herald.

On His Dignity.--"Is Mistah Gwaynus in?" asked the sable caller. "He is, sah," replied the dusky functionary at the door. "but he is occupied." "How soon, sah," said the cillar, pulling up his shirt-collar. "will Mistah Gwaynus be vacant?"—Chicago Tribune.
