

could have it without cost and without trouble. French editors would refuse to print most of the trivial trash which cumber the columns of even the foremost American papers." By all means give us the Parisian paper. Surely the healthiest, for the mind at least.

HARPER'S Magazine for January is an appropriate Christmas number. There is a fine frontispiece associated with a fully illustrated article, "The Adoration of the Magi." We also find articles on the following subjects: "The Italian Chamber of Deputies;" "Modern French Sculpture;" "The City of Savannah, Georgia;" and "The Shore of America in Westminster Abbey;" with much other matter of interest.

ST. NICHOLAS, the foremost magazine in the world for "young folks," gives in the January number a full complement of very good things. One is "The Brown Dwarf of Rügen," a very pretty ballad finely illustrated; others, "The Amusements of Arab Children" and "London Christmas Pantomimes," both of course illustrated, are very good too, and the latter, very funny. A full page illustration, "He Barks Every Time I Try to Taste It," is very life like and attractive. "A Girl's Military Company" will attract many who are not very young. Besides all these are many other amusing and instructive things for big and little folks.

MONEY TO BE MADE.—It is said that dull times are not known by the agents for the great publishing house of George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine. The reason of this exceptional success is found in the fact that they always give the public that which is keenly appreciated and at prices that all can afford. At present we understand, their agents are doing wonderfully well on several new lines. They need many more agents in all parts of the country. Those who need profitable work should apply at once. Women do as well as men. Experience is not necessary, for Messrs. Stinson & Co. undertake to show all who are willing to work, not hard but earnestly, the path to large success. It should be remembered that an agent can do a handsome business without being away from home over night.

Another advantage—it costs nothing to give the business a trial, and an agent can devote all his time, or only his spare moments to it. Stinson & Co. guarantee grand success to all who engage and follow simple and plain directions that they give. We have not space to explain all here, but full particulars will be sent free to those who address the firm; their full address is given above.
