WHAT IS CATARRH ?

From the Med. (Can.) Dec. 15.

Catarrh is a mucous-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite amoeba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favourable circumstances, and these are—Morbidity of the blood, as the blighted corpuscle of ureberle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxemia, from the retention of the effeted matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fauces, or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat; up the sustentaculum tubae, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalants and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucous tissue.

Some time since a well-known physician of forty years' standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never fail in absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one year or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease, should, without delay, communicate with the business managers.

What the Rev. E. B. Stevenson, B.A., a clergyman of the London Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, has to say in regard to A. H. Dixon & Son's New Treatment for Catarrh.

Oakland, Ont., Canada, March 17, '83.

Messrs. A. H. Dixon & Son:

DEAR SIRS,—Yours of the 13th instant to hand. It seems almost too good to be true that I am cured of Catarrh, but I know that I am. I have had no return of the disease, and never felt better in my life. I have tried so many things for Catarrh, suffered so much and for so many years, that it is hard for me to realize that I am really better.

I consider that mine was a very bad case; it was aggravated and chronic, involving the throat as well as the nasal passages, and I thought I would require the three treatments, but I feel fully cured by the two sent me, and I am thankful that I was ever induced to send to you.

You are at liberty to use this letter stating that I have been cured at two treatments, and I shall gladly recommend your remedy to some of my friends who are sufferers.

Yours, with many thanks,
REV. E. B. STEVENSON.

THE

Magazine of American History.

The current December number completes the Fourteenth volume of this admirable illustrated Monthly.

The growing interest among the reading people of the United States in the former politics, affairs, and events which have contributed towards making this young nation one of the foremost in the world, is a matter of pride and congratulation to this periodical—which was the first in the land to make American history popular. During the past few months the circulation of the MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY has multiplied with such marvellous rapidity that it has required second and third editions to fill the increased orders. The broad field of American political and war history, which belongs strictly to this magazine, has been entered by the other great monthlies, accelerating their progress and material prosperity also, in unparalleled ratio. This condition of the public mind shows that there is no lack of appreciative intelligence and good taste in America, and promises well for the future culture of rising generations.

During the coming year, as in the past, the publishers will continue to advance, extend and improve this periodical, dealing with every problem in American history from the most remote period to the present hour, and with the continued promise of contributions and subscriptions from the most eminent historians and cultivated readers in all parts of the world. While aiming to make its pages readable and interesting for the general reader, whose desire for information is hardly less than that of the specialist and antiquarian, fancy will never be indulged at the expense of historical exactness and symmetry; and no efforts will be wanting to render this unique magazine authoritative and of permanent and priceless value. On all matters where differences of opinion exist, both sides will be presented without prejudice or partiality.

The Civil War from all Points of View.

This magazine will continue its special studies in the history of the civil war, through the year 1866—which began with the July number, 1865—from the pens of the ablest Generals and distinguished participants on both sides in the contest, Federal and Confederate. Fresh and hitherto unpublished material will throw floods of light upon many movements and events hitherto unexplained. This magazine holds the key to a mass of comparatively buried material, bearing upon the truth of modern history. The prominent men of the civil war period will also constitute a series of brilliantly written, instructive and intensely interesting papers, to be published from time to time during the months to come. The prominent men of the revolutionary period will comprise another series, to be accompanied with rare historical portraits, that will form a choice gallery of pictures when the volumes are subsequently bound. Historic Homes is the title to a series of papers which has been in process of publication for the past three years, handsomely illustrated; it will be one of the magazine's future attractive features; also, the Manor-Houses and Manors of America, of which two—the Manor of Gardiner's Island, and the Van Rensselaer Manor—have already appeared. Much of the material thus presented to the American reader is not accessible in any other form or publication.

The circulation of the MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY has not only become national, but international, reaching all classes and interesting all readers of intelligence, whether old or young. It is illustrated and printed with such care that it is a pleasure to turn its beautiful pages. That it should have achieved unparalleled success is no matter of wonder.

Those are two handsome volumes in each year, beginning with January and July; and with each successive volume an elaborate index is carefully prepared and added.
