ch-making in the history of Toonto is the advent of the new technial school, which was visited yesterday by a large reresentation of the Women's Art Association, who were privileged to be the first outside organization to visit this wonderful institution. The guests were received by Dr. McKay, principal of the school. and Mrs. McKay, and in their tour of inspection were assisted by E. Howell of the art department and by Miss Davidson, superintendent of domestic

In a short address given in the amphitheatre-like lecture hall, Dr. Mc-Kay spoke of Toronto as an educational centre unsurpassed on the contin-ent, with a university equal to the greatest in England and with primary and secondary schools, all the best of their kind. In presence of these condi-tions it is often asked why the enorous expense of erecting the new chnical school. Dr. McKay felt that technical school. Dr. McKay felt that he had in a measure to justify the outlay, and he did so on industrial and educational grounds. Half of the manufactures of the Province of Ontario are carried on in Toronto and more than one-sixth of the industrial life of the Dominion is centred in this city. Out of our 500,000 of a population, 300,000 are directly maintained by industrial pursuits. What is to be done with the three out of every five who with the three out of every five who do things with their hands? asked Dr. McKay. It is in the interests of those that technical education is being naintained in Toronto As an educational centre the ex-pense of the school was justified be-cause of its infinite value in the direc-tion of culture. The cultured man is not always the university man, but the The industrial life of nto is exceptionally diversified and to meet the requirements of this development Toronto must have general industrial education.

Plan Special Work. The boy would enter the technical school from the fourth class of the primary school, and after a two years' course of mixed industrial and general subjects would enter upon a two years' application in any definite course. Reason Why City Has Paid What Appears to Be Big

The report of Commissioner Harris in regard to the south and north Toronto railway grade separations has been completed. It shows that the .G. T. R. has spent $1,062,502, and the city $155,477, for the actual work done. The grade separation fund has paid $15,000, and the city has paid 24 per cent. of other charges, amounting to $293,527. The land purchase in connection with the work cost $751,631, of which the city paid $259,925.

of which the city paid $25,925.

The amount paid to date in connection with the C. P. R. grade separation at North Toronto is $605,352, of which the city has pail $63,752, and it is estimated that $35,000 more will be required to complete the work. Of the property damage the city pays $278,838, the total being $500,000. These figures do not include the cost of the Yonge street subway, which will be Yonge street subway, which will be $453,000, plus the cost of land $100,000, and damages $273,000, to which must be added the cost of removing sewers, etc., amounting to $35,000.

The Brock avenue subway cost $184,929, the city paying $35,986.

shows that the city has paid as high as 100 per cent. over the assessment for some of the properties acquired. The commissioner points out that the discrepancies are due to a conservative assessment, and says that the prices pald were justified by reason of other property transfers in the different districts.

Particulars regarding the different purchases are given, one of the most notable being the sale by Frederic Nicholls of 28 feet of land assessed at $7000, for which he was paid $25,200.

J. A. MacDonald of Rochester has applied for the position of fire commissioner, and his name will be considered next week when the controllers again take up the question. which hid the trenches and batteries along the British front, was an almost along the British front, was an almost unbroken silence, but farther north a section of the horizon was roaring like a gigantic muffied snare drum.

There French guns, hundreds of French guns, were busy tearing away at the German works known as "The Labyrinth." There men were being killed or wounded every minute, but those living near the front thought nothing of that. They are as used to it as is anybody living in the neighbort as is anybody living in the neighbor good of Niagara Falls to their roar. Horrers of War Forgotten.

Then the war and its horrors were forgotten in the British love of sport. An Indian emitting a fierce screaming yell galloped down the field and impaled a small wooden peg, stuck in the ground, on his lance.
"Bravo" called the officers as he rushed by at top speed. Another Indian tried the same thing and failed.
"Too bad" was heard, but there were more "bravos" than "too bads" spoken their emotions.

These officers were in India in spirit. They were the leaders who had made solders out of the human clay of the east and had held them fast in the French Enjoyed Sport. When it came to demonstrativeness, the French were real fans. Grandfather, mother and children were hav-ing the time of their lives. It beat the movies in town and there was nothing to pay either. They liked the way the Indians yelled. They made them seem like real, sure enough Indians. A British cavalryman would only pick up a peg. He would not yell.

As four riders, looking as wild as any theatrical manager would desire, came tearing down the field abreast, their white teeth gleaming as they ut-tered their screaming challenges, pick-ed up four of those bits of wood at the same instant and waved their lance heads aloft, a token of their success, to the King, one old Frenchman said, "I wish it had been four Germans they had speared in a charge.'

It was a great day for the hardworked French peasantry when they could see both the hard-worked king of the Belgians and an Indian gymthe Belgians and an indian gym-khana. And the roar kept coming from that distant section of the horizon, where the steady hail of shells was eating its way into the German trenches with the mechanical routine of steam shovels cutting into the side of a hill.
