

And so at length when I shall fall asleep
No shining soul shall ever rise from me,
Only long silence shall my dead soul keep
While winds shall blow my dust upon the sea.