

ROYAL BLUE ORDER.

In this, (as in the other Degrees,) no business connected with the affairs of the Order can be transacted, except in open Lodge, and guarded by a Tyler; and not less than Five Members shall be considered a quorum.

There shall be Two Tylers in this Order—one, whose post shall be outside, and the other inside the Lodge Room door.

The duty of the Inside Tyler shall be to put the Test to all who, (after having previously given the Annual to the Outside Tyler,) enter the room after the Lodge is opened.

The Tylers shall in all cases be examined by the Master, to see if they are properly qualified to receive or reject those applying for admission.

The Master and Brethren being assembled, and having taken their seats, and the Tylers duly placed, the
