

Those entitled to Rev. Mr. Farries prize are Millie McFarlane and Emma Reynolds for reciting correctly the whole of the Shorter Catechism, and Lizzie Muir, Ada Swinburn, Thompson Ashe, and Fred McFarlane for reciting correctly half the Shorter Catechism.

Mary Turner, Eva Stalker, and Ethel Harrington are entitled to Mr. Blackburn's prize for reciting correctly the Epistles of John.

We are glad to state that Mr. Mutchmor's prize for introducing new scholars has been won by Sidney McMorran, Georgina McLean, and George McKinnon.

The following members of the Infant Class are entitled to Mr. Robinson's prize:—Douglas Corning, Merrill Corning, and Willie Ashe for reciting the Golden Texts for twelve months. Ethel Wardrope and Ruth Wardrope for reciting the Golden Texts for nine months. May McFarlane, Irene Leslie, Jessie Potts, and Sidney McFarlane for reciting the Golden Texts for six months. Marian Masson, Winnie Corning, and Louisa Wardrope for reciting the Golden Texts for three months.

The Treasurer's statement is very satisfactory, showing the receipts to be the largest in the history of the school.

A pupil at the Pointe-aux-Trembles Institute has been supported by our school, during the year.

It has been decided by the Teachers to make an effort during the present year to enlarge the Library, and to secure suitable maps, and it is to be hoped that the efforts of the Teachers will be heartily supported by the congregation.
