NAZIMOVA IN "THE RED LANTERN" AND VAUDEVILLE AT GRAND

The headline vaudeville feature at the Grand today, tomorrow and Saturday will be Liebert and Company, in a comedy playlet entitled "The End of the World." His present vehicle is generally conceded to be his greatest success. It was written by Aaron Hoffman, a prominent writer for the legitimate stage. He is co-author of "Friendly Enemies," a most distinguished dramatic success of the season. Jules LeRue and Jean Dupre, Parisian sand artists; Collier and Dewald, Gilmore and Demoyne, and another big time Keith act will complete the bill.

NAZIMOVA IN "THE RED LANTERN"

The expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars, costumes worth a king's ransom and the services of 1,200 persons from director, scenario writers and art designers to an ensemble that embodied a small army in size, represented in money, time and effort given by Metro, to the production of "The Red Lantern," in which the incomparable Nazimova is being presented at the Grand all this week.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA CO. COMING TO GRAND NEXT WEEK

Fortune Gallo, impresario of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company and the Gallo English Opera Company, believes in giving young American singers a chance. The Gallo English Opera Company, which is making a tour of the country this season in revivals of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, has recruited the chorus of the latter company from the studios in New York, and it is composed of young singers, many of whom are budding artists with Galli-Curci and John McCormack voices. The Gallo English Opera Company comes to the Grand for three nights and a Saturday matinee, commencing Thursday, Nov. 20. On Thursday and Saturday evenings "The Mikado" will be offered. Friday evening "The Chimes of Normandy." Saturday matinee only "H. M. S. Pinafore." The next act opens next Tuesday. Mail orders now.

FASCINATING PICTURE "EVANGELINE" NOW AT THE PATRICIA

Longfellow's Immortal Poem in Film Form Delights All.

"Evangeline," the William Fox motion picture version of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's immortal poem, which is showing at the Patricia Theatre all this week, is unquestionably the finest film achievement seen here in a long, long time.

Its outstanding features are its fidelity to the poem, the wondrous beauty of many of its scenes and the exceptionally capable interpretation of the title role by Miriam Cooper, long a favorite film actress here.

As everybody who reads knows—or ought to know—the story deals with the exile of the Acadians from their native land, with their subsequent wanderings in what now is the United States, and with the love of Evangeline and Gabriel—the latter well played by Albert Roscoe.

Scottswoods Aitken, the veteran actor; James Marcus and Paul Weisel are conspicuous for their good work in an exceptional supporting cast.

The picture was staged by R. A. Walsh, on whom it reflects great credit. It is a delight to the eye—a pictorial as well as an intellectual treat.

An entire change of vaudeville and comedies is made today. "The Longacre Trio," harmony and comedy singers, and a two-reel Rainbow comedy, and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon completes the bill.

TILLSONBURG CONCERT.

TILLSONBURG, Nov. 12.—The local G. W. V. A. befittingly celebrated Armistice Day by a grand concert in the opera house, which was packed to the roof. Before the opening number of the program, Dr. R. B. Weston, president of the association, requested the audience to stand for two minutes in silence to honor the heroic dead. He stated that the proceeds of the concert would go towards purchasing billiard tables and equipment for the veterans' club rooms.

Scene from "Bonds of Love," an exceptionally high-class and drama, showing at the Majestic today, Friday and Saturday. Pauline Frederick, the screen's most emotional star, is featured in this play. Also a comedy, a News Weekly, and a big Hawaiian act.

PAULINE FREDERICK IN "BONDS OF LOVE" NOW AT MAJESTIC

Excellent Photoplay Is Based On Wealth and Its Power.

Wealth, and its power to foster deception in family relationships, is the unseen motive behind the new picture, "Bonds of Love," in which Pauline Frederick will be presented at the Majestic Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. This underlying fact is not revealed until the end of the story, but on it the story rests.

Early in the life of Daniel Cabot's first wife, she had been in love with an attorney, Barry Sullivan, capably played by Charles Cary. But her parents had forced her to marry a man she didn't love. Subsequently, her lover acquired a large practice, and the relationship which her marriage had thwarted, was assumed clandestinely. After her death, however, her husband married again, and it was the second wife who discovered her predecessor's infidelity. But the second Mrs. Cabot, loving her step-child, refused to divulge the secret she had uncovered.

Nevertheless, her husband found out the truth in his own way. Moreover, he learned of his present wife's attempt to conceal her predecessor's shortcomings from him. The shock destroyed the halo which he had erected about the first Mrs. Cabot and he decided to divorce her.
