

Magical Effect on Neuralgia Throbbing Pain Goes Quickly A YEAR'S SUFFERER CURED BY "NERVILINE"

No person reading this need ever again suffer long from Neuralgia. Nerviline will quickly cure the worst Neuralgia, and Mrs. G. Evans, in her strong letter written from Russel, post office, says: "One long year, the longest of my life, was entirely given up to treating dreadful attacks of Neuralgia. The agony I experienced during some of the bad attacks was simply unmentionable. To use remedies by the score without permanent relief was mighty discouraging. At last I put my faith in Nerviline. I read of the wonderful pain-subduing power it possessed and made up my mind to prove it valuable or useless. Nerviline at once eased the pain and cured the headache. Continuous treatment with this magic-working remedy cured me entirely, and I have ever since stayed well."

Simple Home Treatment for Objectionable Hairs

(Toilet Talks.) Here is a toilet help you should remember, because it may at some time be the means of saving you from embarrassment. To quickly and painlessly remove hair or fuzz from chin, lip or cheek, apply a thick paste made by mixing together powdered salicylic acid and water. Let this remain on the hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and let the hairs be eliminated. This treatment is entirely harmless, but caution should be used to see that you get salicylic acid.

RECALL FEARFUL HURRICANE OF A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Hundred and Forty-six Officers and Blue Jackets Were Lost at Apia, Samoa

German survivors of a great hurricane which destroyed German and American war vessels and cost the lives of 146 officers and blue jackets at Apia, on March 16, 1889, met in Kiel, Germany, this week, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the disaster. One hundred and thirty members of the crews of the German warships Eder, Adler, and Olga were present under the presidency of Baron Von Eberhardt, who was commander of the Olga. Fifteen merchant vessels and six warships were caught in Apia harbor by the storm and most of them were ground to matchwood on the rocks. Among these was the Trenton, flagship of the United States Pacific squadron, as well as the American war vessels, Vandalia and Nipsic. The Germans lost the gunboat Eber and the flagship Adler, but the Olga managed to get off. Altogether the German warships, Eder, Adler, and Olga, while the American war vessels, Vandalia and Nipsic. The catastrophe occurred during an international dispute over Samoa which had called together American, British and German warships. Several touching incidents of heroism were recorded during the hurricane. As the British warship Calliope, the only one to escape serious damage, fought her way out of the harbor in the teeth of the storm, the hand on the Trenton played "Hail Britannia" and the Americans manned the yards. The Englishmen played the Star Spangled Banner.

How are they housed and fed and otherwise cared for? What are the novel and interesting things they see on a great modern passenger ship? These are questions that must occur to everyone who has never made an ocean journey. The best way to answer them is by pictures that tell the whole story, and this is what is done in the April number of Popular Mechanics Magazine. A remarkable series of illustrations covering seven pages of that magazine serve to give a clearer idea of the daily life and routine of a sea voyage than could be conveyed by any number of words. These illustrations are from photographs made on board the "Imperator," the largest vessel that has ever sailed the seas, and tell half of the story of a voyage in that vessel. The remainder of the story is to be told in picture form in the May number of the magazine. Kent County Liquor Finest. Retalon, N. B., March 11—George N. BOSTON JUDGE DIES IN AUTO IN BEACON STREET WHILE AT THE WHEEL

Car Goes Zig-Zagging Along Till Doctor Walking Along Took in Situation and Leaped Aboard

Boston, March 18—Associate Justice Louis M. Clark of the Massachusetts Land Court died suddenly in his automobile in Beacon street, between Fairfield and Exeter streets while enroute to his home, in Brookline, after an early evening visit to his brother-in-law, Samuel G. King of 17 Marlboro street. The automobile in which he was riding proceeded slowly along Beacon street when the judge was stricken by a motorist. The doctor, Dr. William P. Cross of South Boston, noticed the automobile zig-zagging along the street. The appearance of the occupant leaning helplessly back against the seat, caused Dr. Cross to jump aboard. The physician saw at once that the man was dead. Mrs. Clark is traveling in California and word of her husband's death was telegraphed to her. Judge Clark was a prominent figure in the legal profession. He formerly lived in Dorchester and represented that district in the legislature and in the board of aldermen. He was also prominent in yachting. He was fifty-six years old and apparently had been in good health.

This Boy and Girl Had St. Vitus' Dance

Boy Lost All Strength and Girl Could Not Speak—Doctor Could Not Help Them—Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So great is the strain on the system of the growing child that even with a careful attention to the food supply it is often difficult to keep up vitality. It is necessary to supply a blood-forming treatment in condensed and easily assimilated form, so that it may be quickly taken up by the blood stream and thereby nourish the feeble nerves back to health and strength. It is difficult to imagine anything as admirably suited to this purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Mrs. D. Ardies, Brandon, Man., writes: "My son, aged fourteen, and little girl of three years, were both stricken with St. Vitus' Dance. The doctor told us what the ailment was, but could not keep them from getting worse and worse, so when I received a book about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it.
