LETTERS FROM A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS WOMAN TO HER NIECE.

EAR NIECE JOAN—

Of course I'm glad its to be stenography and typewriting, both because I started that way, and because I believe there will always be a great call for first class stenographers. What you say you have heard about the field being crowded is all very true. The field is crowded—most fields are—but remember this, niece—thehell isn't. And that's where I expect you to be.

I don't happen to be acquainted with either of the two schools you speak of, but when you say that one of them offers to make you a good stenographer in three months, that settles it. I don't want any introduction to that one.

Never lose sight, niece, of the fact that you can't get something for nothing in this world, and you'll have an axiom that will fit in, in love, and business, and a good many other relations of life.

Your specific training is to be your stock in trade, and if you pay little in time and money for it, you must expect it to be inferior, just as a shopkeeper's would if he didn't pay standard prices.

The most hindering haste you can possibly make is in preparation for work.

I had a stenographer once who came from one of those schools and after a few weeks, instead of dismissing her on some pretext, I had her four previous employers had, I told her the truth and said that I would lend a hundred dollars and give her a position when she was ready for it, if she stenographers today, but she wasted a year making haste too fast.

Of course I know you are anxious to get to work and earn money, but it's the race to the tortoise every time when preparation is the race track.

You think I'm lucky, niece, because I make better money than most of the men who started out when I did, but if it doesn't sound too much like self glorification your aunt would like to tell you that it wasn't all luck.

When I started in as a stenographer I was in as tight a place financially as anyone could be and then a bit tighter. I had to borrow the money to take the course, and I can tell you it took a good deal of courage to borrow one hundred dollars and spend eight months, when some schools were offering to do it for fifty dollars in three months.

One of my girl friends took the shorter course and tried to persuade me, and I don't think I'll ever forget how I felt when she began earning her eight dollars a week while I was still paying out money.

How I used to envy her the pretty new clothes she kept buying. The only new thing I had that winter was a five dollar coat that I bought of which was such an event in my life that the whole family went in to help me select it.

I can tell you her eight dollars a week looked like a fortune to me then.

But, somehow, the twelve dollars she is earning today doesn't.

You see, niece, you are getting just what you asked for—my honest opinion.

I wonder if you are like most people who only ask your advice in the hope that you will take the responsibility off their shoulders by advising them to do what they want, but know isn't best.

How about it? Your plain speaking but affectionate aunt.

Daily Hints for the Cook

GRAPE CATCHUP.

Stem and wash the grapes, then put in a kettle with a little water to scald up, then strain and to every 3 cups of juice add 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon each of black pepper, clove, cinnamon and salt, then boil half away.

COTTAGE PUDDING.

Best level tablespoon of butter to a cream with 4 level tablespoons of sugar. Add 1 egg, beat five minutes, and 14 cup of milk, 3/4 of a cup of flour with 1 level tablespoon of baking powder. Can be baked in loaf or five custard cups.

CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Pour boiling water over 1 peck of cucumbers, let stand until cold, then put in a dry and pack. Pour over them this prepared vinegar: Boil together 1 gallon of cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons of black pepper, 8 tablespoons of salt, mix in a little cold vinegar, 2 tablespoons of curry powder, 4 tablespoons of cornstarch, 8 tablespoons of mustard. Stir into boiling vinegar, let all boil up, then pour over cucumbers and seal.

NANTUCKET CORN PUDDING.

Select firm, fresh ears of corn, medium size, with a keen bladed knife scrape each row of kernels, then scrape out the pulp, leaving the hulls on the cob. To the pulp taken from a dozen ears allow a pint and a half rich milk, four beaten eggs, 1/2 tablespoonful salt, a half teaspoonful pepper, and if the corn lacks sweetness, two or three tablespoonfuls sugar. Bake in a well buttered deep earthen dish for two hours, in a slow, steady oven.

as a great blow to him when he learned of it while he was at the exhibition grounds.

HALF MILLION SEE EUCHARISTIC PROCESSION SUNDAY IN MONTREAL

Arch in Montreal Street

Montreal, Sept. 11.—The Eucharistic procession, the crowning event of the Eucharistic Congress, took place today and was participated in by 40,000 men, and was witnessed by half a million people.

Never has any city of the new world witnessed such a spectacle and the demonstration was of such a stupendous character that it took four and a half hours for the procession to pass a given point. More processionists passed at the rate of 10,000 an hour. Never has Montreal or any other Canadian city witnessed such a huge gathering of people. During the past two days more than 200,000 poured into the city from all parts of the continent. The tremendous influx resulted in something approaching a food famine and hundreds waited in line at the various hotels and restaurants waiting for a chance to get something to eat.

The members of the St. John's (Stone) church performed a very graceful act recently when they sent a golden bowl to Rev. J. M. Fox and Mrs. Fox, the parents of their choir leader, D. Arnold Fox, in honor of the celebration of their golden wedding.

The flavor of Estabrooks' Coffee is always the same, because its quality never varies. If you picked one in out of a hundred the coffee inside would be the same as in the other ninety-nine—rich, fragrant, temptingly good.

A. A. Dufresne, assistant engineer of the department of public works, Ottawa, with S. J. Chapleau, arrived in the city yesterday. The former has been in Van Buren in connection with the awarding of the contract for the International bridge, to cost $75,000.

A rough computation showed that the church, two priests, three princes of the church, two bishops and thousands of priests all united to proclaim their love for the mother church and faith in the Eucharist.

The route of the procession, which was two miles and three-quarters, was through long lanes of densely packed humanity, and when the tall commanding figure of Cardinal Vanuetti, bearing aloft the Host, passed by, the sight of the thousands kneeling in adoration was impressive.

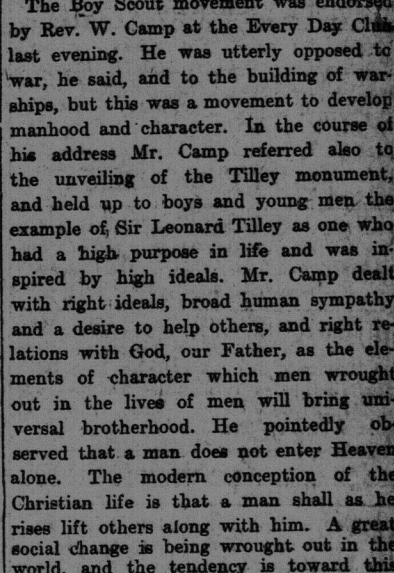

The first marchers reached the sanctuary erected on the slopes of Mount Royal long before the clang of Notre Dame's famous bells heralded the fact that the cardinal legate, bearing the Host, had left the mother church of Canadian Roman Catholicism.

The resources of the railways were taxed to the utmost and the dense throngs packed the stations waiting for the special trains which took them back to their homes. Until a late hour tonight the trains were leaving every fifteen minutes. Montreal tonight is invaded by hungry throngs and prices of food have soared.

The monster procession passed off without a hitch, and with the exception of a few cases of fainting the Red Cross stations along the route had little to do.

REV. MR. CAMP SPEAKS ON BOY SCOUTS AT THE EVERY DAY CLUB

The Boy Scout movement was endorsed by Rev. Mr. Camp at the Every Day Club last evening. He was utterly opposed to war, he said, and to the building of warships, but this was a movement to develop manhood and character. In the course of his address Mr. Camp referred also to the unveiling of the Tilley monument, and held up to boys and young men the example of Sir Leonard Tilley as one who had a high purpose in life and was inspired by high ideals. Mr. Camp dealt with right ideals, broad human sympathy and a desire to help others, and right relations with God, our Father, as the elements of character which men wrought out in the lives of men will bring universal brotherhood. He pointedly observed that a man does not enter Heaven alone. The modern conception of the Christian life is that a man shall as he rises lift others along with him. A great social change is being wrought out in the world, and the tendency is toward this spirit of brotherhood.

Mr. Camp commended the work of the Every Day Club and made an eloquent plea for the exercise of the sympathy that helps men. Referring to the saloons, he said that when the strong realize their duty to protect the weak, and greed and selfishness lose influence, the saloons will be closed.
