butter—and she is not satisfied to make any other.

Windsor Dairy Salt is both a moneymaker and a money-saver.

It makes money for farmers and dairymen because it makes butter that brings the best prices.

It saves money for them because, being absolutely pure, it requires less to properly salt the butter.

A clipping from a Leeds paper, enclosed in a letter from Scotland to a lady in St. John, contained extracts written by one of the members of the Sheffield Choir to the editor giving a description of their John, contained extracts written by one of the members of the Sheffield Choir to the editor giving a description of their visit to this city. After describing the voyage out and regretting the delay which made it necessary to cancel the afternoon concert, the writer goes on to say: "Dr. Harris wired us to dress on the boat and be ready to hurry for the train at St. John. It was 9.40 p.m. when we reached the platform in the Opera House to commence the concert, timed for 8.30. The Opera House was packed and though one might naturally have expected an audience which had been waiting for almost an hour and a half, to be weary and impatient at the delay, the choir had a splendid reception, the audience being most enthusiastic. Nothing could exceed the kindness of the ladies and gentlemen at the Canadian Club reception, and after our long waiting and tiring concert, the coffee, cakes and ices were most acceptable. If the kind reception accorded to us at St. John, New Brunswick, last evening, is a sample of what we may expect on our tour, our only fear will be lest we should be killed with kindness." In speaking of the trip to Montreal this lady writes: "The comfort of the cars, the spotless cleanliness, and above all the courtesy and attention of all the staff, are things long to be remembered. It is not particularly pleasing to have to acknowledge that our great railways have anything to learn, but it is a conclusion to which one is forced after having breakfast and lunch served on the C. P. R." It is pleasant to known that the efforts made for the entertainment of guests are appreciated.

Encyclopaedia Britanni

Several thousand subscribers to the new Encyclopaedia Britannica who recorded their applications in advance of publication recently received Volumes I. to XIV. of the work. The Cambridge University Press has received hundreds of congratulatory letters from those who are now in possession of these volumes. The following extracts are typical of the general comments made by subscribers in their letters, and demonstrate with what an extraordinary degree of satisfaction and enthusiasm the new work—particularly in the India paper flexible binding format—is being welcomed by all classes of the educated English-speaking public:—

From a Distinguished Editor

From Subscriber No. 100: "The hand does not now get tired before the brain."

"It is Magnificent"

From Subscriber No. 1501: "It is magnificent, wonderful! I congratulate you on fulfilling all the hopes that you have aroused."

"My Delight and Happiness" From Subscriber No. 36: "After an examination of the books, I feel compelled to express to you my delight and happiness in being the possess-or of such a beautiful work."

More Than Satisfactory in Every

From Subscriber No. 2160: "The books are more than satisfactory in every way, and are a valuable addition to my library. Several of my friends who have seen them are unable to resist and are going to order the work.

"A Remarkable Book" From Subscriber No. 902: "I am very much pleased. The binding, paper, print and lightness make a remarkable book, and the contents are all that could be desired." Frice Exceedingly Keas From Subscriber No. 2031:

The first fourteen volumes arrived the other day in most to good packing, and I am very much pleased with their appearance and contents. . I think that the introductory price of four dollars a volume ($4.00) is exceedingly reason-

'Most Hearty Congratulations" From Subscriber No. 2298: "I received this morning one-half the volumes of the new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britan-nica and want to send you my most hearty congratulations on the form in which this edition has been produced. I do not see how it would be possible to improve on these volumes."

Beyond My Expectations in Every Respect From Subscriber No. 3725: "It is indeed a wonderful work, beyond my expectations in every respect."

'So Much Easier to Use"

From Subscriber No. 974: "I am much pleased with the volumes. They are so much easier to use than the old edition. I am particularly interested in the historical and biographical parts, and am quite elated at possessing such a valuable reference library in so small a "Most Satisfactory Work I Ever Had" From Subscriber No. 537: "I count the new edition the most satisfactory reference work I ever had. It is a special pleasure to be able to handle the volumes so easily, and the limp leather binding is a delight. The general standard is un-

"Easy to Hold, Delightful to Read" From Subscriber No. 1598. "Permit me to congratulate you upon the beauty of the work. The volumes are charming to look at, easy to hold and delightful to read. . . . Already what I hoped for has been realized; my children have begun to read them with pleasure." "A Splendid Work, Superbly Made" From Subscriber No. 856: "It is a splendid work, superbly made and reflects great credit upon its authors and publishers."

"A Truly Wonderful Production"

"The Excellence of this New Edition" From Subscriber No. 1696: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the first fourteen volumes of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and desire to add my word of praise for the excellence of this new edition, which, to my thinking, places it far above any other work of a similar nature."

(1) The new edition is being published by the Press of the University of Cambridge, England.
(2) It comprises some 40,000 articles, 41,000,000 words, more than 7,000 illustrations, 450 full-page plates, and 417 maps.

(3) Though a lineal descendant of ten editions of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the new work is in no sense a revision of the obsolete text of its predecessor. It has been completely recast and re-written, and is an absolutely fresh, authoritative and up-to-date survey and exposition of the whole field of human knowledge.

(4) The plan of the encyclopaedia has been thoroughly reorganized with a view of combining comprehensiveness with brevity, exhaustive treatment of major subjects with the greatest facility of reference in the case of minor subjects.

(5) Something like 15,000 new headings have been added.

(6) The articles have been written by 1,500

(6) The articles have been written by 1,500 contributors—scholars of the highest distinction, and experts and practical men and women whose authority in their special subjects is unimpeachable.

(7) A large and distinguished staff of editors (constituting with the 1,000 contributors a virtual College of Researc) has been at rock for eight years on the production if the new edition; and the organization and editorial ontrol have all along been so perfect that an imprecedented congruity and coordination have been attained.

Bound to Quicken Intellectual Life

From Subscriber No.1820: "It seems to me that this publishing event is bound to quicken the whole intellectual life of our generation. . . I am especially struck with the delightful literary flavor of many articles on subjects which one expects to find treated in the dust and ashes

From Subscriber No. 108: "The new

"Incredibly Light and Thin Volumes"

From Subscriber No. 1641 : "Apart from the extraordinary perfection of the literary contents and their arrangement, I am amazed at the beauty and effectiveness of the material features of the India paper edition. It is indeed a pleasure to handle these incredibly light and thin volumes."

encyclopaedic enterprise.

"Models of Fulness and Condensation"

From Subscriber No. 4334 : "I must tell you how abundantly I am pleas-have read several articles or parts of articles and find them models of ful-ness, or of condensation, as required.

. . . Certainly the whole work is a new and wonderful departure in ed with these fourteen volumes.

"A Readable Encyclopaedia"

From Bubscriber No. 902 : "I am delighted to be the owner of a readable encyclopaedia."

"Reference is Now a Pleasure" From Subscriber No. 3307 : "I Special Features of the 11th Edition find it a pleasure to refer to the Encyclopaedia now, where before with the old edition it was a hardship. My hearty confratulations to you for your innovation in style and binding. I am simply delighted with the books, and the subjects, as I have found them, are pleasurable reading because presented and couched in understandable language."

"A Delight to Both Eye and

From Subscriber No. 114: "I can think of no modern work of such magnitude carried to as great perfection. The flexfible cover is a delight to both eye and touch. The little weight of each volume, the delicacy of each page of India paper, all are in extraordinary contrast to the profundity of knowledge contained."

"Far Surpasses All Previous

From Subscriber No. 39 : "We are much pleased with the new volumes; so light and so handy for constant use. . . This new edition far surpasses all previous ones. . . The more it is used the better it will be appreciated."

"Have Praised Them to My

From Subscriber No. 1309: "T heartily endorse all the nice things that have been said of the 11th edition.

these books, and I have praised them to my friends." "So Magnificent a Work" From Subscriber No. 1662 : "I congratulate you, on the production of so magnificent a work,'

From Subscriber No. 370: "A mag-hificent production." "All I Could Hope For"

From Subscriber No. 4049: "The work is certainly all I could hope for. It is simply wonderful, surpassing anything else in the way of an encyclopaedia in the English language, and I know them all. I like the fulness of your treatment. There are some things which cannot be stated in a brief way."

"A Triumph in Book-Making"

From Subscriber No. 178: "Needless to say, the new edition in India. paper affords me the keenest satisfaction. It is a triumph in book-
