Brown and Brydges.

The Hon. Geo. Brown, the Dictator of the "Reform" party, director of ceremonies at Ottawa, and negotiator of the agreement that is courteously called a draft Treaty of Reciprocity, devoted much of the labor of a long and active journalistic career to the work of proving that Mr. C. J. Brydges, late General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, was a corrupt political schemer, a thieving official, and an incompetent railway manager. When the Government that acts under Mr. Brown's direction first refused to accept Mr. Brydges' resignation as an Intercolonial Railway Commissioner, and then selected Mr. Brydges for the virtual position of Minister of Railways, people wondered whether Mr. Brown and his friends had suddenly discovered that Mr. Brydges was honest, impartial, and capable, or whether they had arranged to share with him the proceeds of the system of corruption and speculation they long ago professed to have discovered under his management. The alliance with Brydges was an open confession that all that had been said about incompetence and dishonesty was untrue, and an emphatic endorsement of his much-abused Grand Trunk and Intercolonial career. And yet George Brown's paper, the Government's chief organ, the inspirer and mouthpiece of Cabinet and Party, comes out with an article arraigning the late management of the Intercolonial Railway, a management for which Mr. Brydges is responsible, as shamefully corrupt and incapable. After endorsing Mr. Brydges, after shouldering Mr. Brydges, after setting Mr. Brydges up as the Government Railway Anticorrupter of the Dominion, the great global Government organ charges Mr. Brydges with having made the Intercolonial a den of thieves, a sink of corruption and an asylum for scoundrels! In there a split between Brown and Mackenzie, the result of the latter's chagrin at the reciprocity fix Brown has got him into, is Brown blundering journalistically on a more extensive scale than usual, or is this merely a sample of the cheek which the Globe's scoundrelly impostor on the people of Canada has taught it to consider safe to venture on for the purpose of making a point?

Getting His Deserts.

Samuel K. Elliott, who killed one of a band that dragged him out of his house for the purpose of robbing him, and feathering him, was justified in the use he made of his pistol if over a man is justified in taking the life of another, and the man who died by his hand had richly earned his death. No matter whether Elliott had been guilty of a crime or not, no matter whether he held improper relations with his mother-in-law, or not, the attempt to drag him from his cottage, under cover of darkness, and subject him to the indignity of tar and feathers, was an attempt that called for resistance to the death from any one deserving the name of man. When one man seizes another's house, and unlawfully attempts to drag him out for the purpose of subjecting him to such an indignity, he has already forfeited his own life, forfeited all claim to the protection of the law against homicide and the sympathy of his fellows. Shooting him is no crime, and to punish as such would be an outrage on the meanness of humanity. Smith, we are told, had been drawn into the affair by the others, having no feelings of his own to gratify by the proposed outrage on Elliott. So much the less reason for his crime; so much more deserving of his fate; so much less excuse for pitying his tragic death. Elliott should be set free with a reward for the manner in which he has discharged personal outrages, and every one of Smith's captured companions should be sent to the State Prison. Too much cannot be done, either with protective pistol or condemning courts, for the discouragement of the growing practice of inflicting personal outrages on unpopular people.

Hunting Indians.

The United States forces are again on the trail of the Indians, and have succeeded in "bagging considerable game." The war with the Indians breaks out every few months, no method having been devised for the preservation of peace. The Indian looks on the settler as an interloper which should be driven off, and the settler regards the Indian as a reptile whose extinction is necessary to the progress of civilization. The Government sets apart lands for the exclusive rights of the aborigines, grants large sums of money for their support, and tries to protect them from the cruelty and rapacity of ruffianly whites, but fails entirely in its peaceful efforts. Various tribes periodically throw off the yoke of bondage, leave the bounds to which they are restricted, abandon the humiliating peaceful pursuits they are condemned to follow, and go on the war-path for revenge, scalping, scalps and spoil. After a season of savage joy at the sight of burning houses and shrieking victims, they are hunted down and the survivors make submission to the conqueror. The following dispatch from Washington, dated Aug. 1st, gives the details of the first important encounter that has taken place since the beginning of the present difficulty.

In London a prospectus has been issued of the Canadian Meat and Produce Company, with a capital of $1,000,000 in 20,000 shares of $50 each. The company is formed, it is mentioned, "for purchasing and slaughtering in Canada or elsewhere, cattle or other stock, exporting to Great Britain and elsewhere fresh loins of meat, manufacturing from fore cuts and other suitable parts of the animals preserved meats of various kinds, and utilizing in various ways the fat, hides, bones, and other parts." The wholesale price of beef sold by the carcass in Canadian market is 6 cents per pound, and the freight, carriage, and comings' amount to about 2 cents, making the price of beef delivered in London 8 cents per pound.

Sir John Hawkshaw, the well known English engineer, has received a commission from the Emperor of Brazil to proceed to his dominions for the purpose of surveying the extent of coast (about 5,000 miles) from Pernambuco to Campos, with the view of developing harbors and of mapping out such lines of railway as may be conducive to the extension of commerce on the southeast coast of Brazil. Sir John's staff has already embarked, and he will leave the country early in August and will not probably return to England before the end of the year.

Pledging physicians, and even the elder ones, who have exhausted their patients and find competition too lively, will thank us for the information (which is not a supply) that there are in France cities of 15,000 inhabitants which have not one single physician; there are cities of 20,000 inhabitants which have but one physician, and he not a graduate of a medical school. There are very few villages which have no physician, and only 15 or 20 towns or villages which have no physician. Little is a city with a population of 200,000 souls; it contains only 48 physicians. Houbaix is a city of 75,000 souls; it contains only 5 physicians. Go for 'em.

Reviews.
Messrs. McMurray & Black, dry goods dealers, Portland, have dissolved co-partnership. The business will be continued by Mr. Black.

Another crowded house greeted the Tableau of Erin entertainment in the Institute last evening. To-night there will be an entire change of programme. The views presented by Mr. Burke are very fine, while the acting of Dan, the songs, dancing and music, are very good. Every one who wants to enjoy an evening thoroughly should go to the Institute and see Irish scenery and characters to-night.

The City Engineer is very anxious to begin the work of paving Prince William street at once, but the owners of property have been so dilatory in getting sewers laid down that the work is being delayed beyond all reason. The season is rapidly passing away, and unless the work is prosecuted with but little further delay we shall have the contractors laying pavements and asphalt sidewalks amid the showers of the approaching winter.

The Board of Trade meets to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Home for the Aged directors meet at the Institution to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

An immense number of passengers came by the City of Portland yesterday afternoon, and the hotels are consequently well filled. The night train from Halifax also brought a considerable number, and some of the hotels were obliged to turn guests away.

Yesterday a game of baseball was played between the Dreadnaughts and Independents. The game lasted two hours and was won by the former club by a score of 37 to 18.

It will be seen by advertisement in another column that E. C. Spinlow has commenced the recruiting of files and regiments, while the acting of Dan, has had a number of years' experience in some of the leading houses in the United States, guaranteeing satisfaction.

The Western House, situate on Rodney street, Carleton, is under the management of Mr. C. Quintan. This house is very convenient to the Western Extension Railway and well adapted for permanent and transient boarders. Terms reasonable, and good stabling for horses. See adv.

Since the wholesale destruction of the awning posts, a new branch of industry has been developed, viz: the manufacture of iron frames for awnings. Many of the stores have been furnished with them and look very neat.

Remember the Germain Street Wesleyan Sabbath School Picnic at South Bay to-morrow. Two trains leave the city for the grounds during the day. Dinner will be served after the arrival of the 2 o'clock train.

Hon. John Robertson has shipped, per ship Empress for London, now in port, $500,000 worth of silver plate and furniture.

The Maritime National Club meets this evening in the Academy of Music building at 8 o'clock.

It was a bold day this morning at the Court, and the spectators crowded the building and made it uncomfortably hot. Jane Coulter was first called to answer a charge of drunkenness in Mill street. She confessed and will require to pay $8 and 25 cents cartage, or be for two months an inmate of the Penitentiary.

John McLachlan was charged by policeman Wilcox with being drunk and disorderly in Union street. He deposited $6 and left before the Court opened.

John Wilson confessed to drunkenness in King's Square, and was fined $4.

Edward Corbett, for the same offence, was fined $4.

Mary Marquet, a squaw, arrested drunk in Drury Lane, was pardoned, as she never appeared in any police court before, was fined $4 for drunkenness in Sheffield street.

Edward Nixon paid $6 for being drunk in Queen's Square. It is so annoying to those who occupy the seats in the Square to have drunken people round that a couple of dollars extra are always imposed on the offenders caught there.

Mary Ann Collins was charged with abuse to Mary Wickham, for which she was fined $6.

The trial of a charge of assault by William Collins was charged with using abusive language to Marion Griffith; York Point was the scene of the rumpus and Sunday the day. The charge was fully proved. Wm. Pugsley, Esq., appeared for Mrs. Griffith. John Kerry, Esq., for the defence, could get no rebutting evidence. A fine of $6, with $1.50 costs, was imposed. Collins insists in bringing Mrs. Griffith up for abusing his child, which he claims was the commencement of the row.

Portland Police Court.
Richard Larkins was fined $4 for being drunk.

Sailing Race.
There was quite an excitement at Reed's Point yesterday, on account of a sailing race between Mr. Charles King's and Mr. J. Miller's boats. The race was round the Island and returned. A splendid breeze was blowing at the time, and the boats flew as across the water. The two boats, on return, appeared round the Island almost at the same instant, and seemed right together all the way up. Mr. King, when at the basin, crowd it still more sail on, and, holding well to leeward, won the race by about 100 yards. The stakes were $10 a side. Within a few days there will be another race, several boats having entered for it.
