One Lakeview man has hit upon a rather unique idea to raise money for the church. Vince Mountford, a staunch supporter of Lyndwood United Church, is endeavouring to lose at least 25 pounds before October as his summer project.

To raise money, Vince is looking for people to sponsor him. If you wish to pledge a certain amount of money for each pound he loses, please call Mrs. Gill Evendon, 274-4962.

Anyone who is fighting the battle of the bulge will appreciate how difficult Vince's endeavour is.

ANNIVERSARY
Kay and Alec McAllister, Second Street, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently. A silver wedding anniversary party, complete with a beautifully decorated cake and presents, was held at the home of their eldest daughter, Linda, and son-in-law Gary Yearsley, (Aplewood Towers) Bloor Street. The McAllister's daughters Ann Marie and Mary Ellen acted as co-hostesses and helped plan the affair.

Approximately 30 guests joined in the festivities from Collingwood, Dunroon, Pickering, Toronto, Oakville and Mississauga. Kay and Alec were married in Collingwood in 1947. Their maid of honour and best man Viola and Bruce Cherry, from Collingwood, were delighted to be present at this silver wedding anniversary party.

The McAllister's have lived on Second Street for 10 years since moving here from Collingwood and their numerous friends wish them many happy returns of the day.

BROWNIES
The 173rd and 175th Mississauga Brownies have held a pack holiday at Camp Ma-Ke-Wa Girl Guide Camp, eight miles east of Orangeville.

Guiders Gail Andrews, Yvonne Robertson, Dagmar Hensel and Janet Nicholson, together with two pack leaders and 20 Brownies are away for a week where they will be making handicrafts, hiking, working on badges and helping with the kitchen and household duties of the lodge where they are staying.

This is the first time some of the seven to 10 year olds have been away on a holiday from their parents.

This is the second pack holiday for the Lyndwood District this year. The girls have attended the Girl Guide camp at Camp Wyoka, run by the White Oaks Girl Guide movement. This is generally referred to by the Guide movement as their area camp site.

A great deal of credit is due the leaders who, through their devoted efforts, have made it possible for the girls to enjoy two such holidays. Many packs have not yet had the opportunity to take part in one such outing.

MUSIC
Thursday, Aug. 24 will be Music Day at the Lakeview Library. Since this is their final meeting, the children will be making their own musical instruments and possibly will perform an impromptu concert for each other when they are finished. This will bring the children's Thursday morning meetings to an end for the summer.

HOCKEY
The Cawthra Hockey Association M.T.H.L. (Metro Toronto Hockey League) minor atom series try-outs will be held at the Lakeshore Arena, 300 Birmingham Street, New Toronto at 7 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 26. For information contact Ken Martin, 278-7095.

All boys, not over 10 years old as of Dec. 31, are encouraged to come and try out.

WEDDING
Singurd Ingrund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ingrund, Northmount Avenue, will marry Jeanette Aumond in Noranda, Que., Sept. 2. Jeanette is a private secretary in Toronto and Singurd is studying at Ryerson Technical Institute. The couple will marry in the bride's home town and will reside in Toronto following their wedding.

BAHAMA HONEYMOON
A wedding trip to the Bahamas followed the Aug. 12 wedding of Edith Elizabeth Stark to Glen Branning. Following the wedding ceremony at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, a reception was held at the Army and Navy Club, Lakeview.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stark, Ninth Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Branning, Atwater Ave.

Many friends and neighbours entertained for Edith. Mrs. Chris Bertrand, Ogden Avenue, gave a miscellaneous shower which was attended by neighbours and friends. Sharon Springer, who was maid of honour, gave a miscellaneous shower and reunion of the bride's school friends.

The bridesmaids, Wendy Ribbie, Glenda MacLaren and Helen Copeland also were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower.

dear susanne..

Dear Susanne:

Why don't you advise parents to quit picking on their kids? How are we ever going to be able to use our own judgement if our mothers always tell us what to do? Why can't they trust us? I'm sixteen, and mature for my age. When I go out my mother always has to know where I'm going, who I'm going with, what time I expect to be home. And if I don't know what time, she tells me when I have to come home. Sometimes I tell her I'm going to a friend's house, and then we change our minds. Maybe we go to a show, or just hang out somewhere. My mother blows her top if she finds out I went some place else. I'm still living at home, but I sure don't expect to stay here long. If I wanted to do anything, I could do it right here.

Wants Out

Dear Wants:

Your mother wants to know where you are going, and with whom because she cares about you. It isn't a lack of trust in you but a great deal of interest in your welfare. Sure, she knows you can take care of yourself, but sometimes things happen beyond your control. She wants to be able to help if and when she is needed. Rapes and assaults are on the increase, and hitch hiking has become as dangerous as Russian roulette. If you tell your mother you are going to a friend's house and then change your mind, have the courtesy to call her. Consideration doesn't cost a cent, but proves you are mature. And that's all your mother really wants to know, that you are mature. Just read the papers and you'll understand why your mother is uptight. It can happen to you.

Dear Susanne:

My husband has grown a beard, and I hate it. We've only been married for a little over a year, and I hate to hurt his feelings but I think he looks awful. I've hinted to him that it makes him look like a hippie, which he isn't. He says it took so long to grow that he doesn't want to shave it off until he's had it for a year. Even if he had it shaped it would be an improvement. His friends think he looks great so I can't get any help from them. His parents don't like it much but they never tell him what to do, so he thinks they like it. It sounds like such a little thing to write about, but Susanne, it's driving me crazy. Do you have any suggestions?

Unhappy

Dear Unhappy:

Sure I do, but he won't like them. You could tell him that his beard tickles you so much that you find it hard to kiss him. You can start admiring clean shaven men, saying how handsome you think they are. You could suggest that he go to a stylist and have it trimmed. Perhaps you could go with him, then both of you can decide how he looks best. If you are so miserable over his beard, stop hinting and tell him what you have told me. If this is the biggest problem you two have, you are lucky.

If you have a problem or want to share an experience, write to Susanne Sommers at The Mississauga Times, 2300 South Sheridan Way, Mississauga.

Park Royal

The congregation of the Sheridan-Park Royal United Church is asked to set aside Saturday, Sept. 9 for a fall barbecue. Further plans will be available later, but organizers hope to have a full turnout of members for a get-together before the fall season begins.

ASSOCIATION

It is almost time for children to go back to school for another year. Before this happens however, your association, the Park Royal Community Association, will be holding its annual field day, Labour Day, Sept. 4. As usual, this year will get off to an early start with a soapbox derby in the morning, starting at 9 a.m., followed by judging for the best decorated bicycle, tricycle and doll's carriage. The contest will be held on the tennis court in Hillside Park.

In the afternoon there will be the usual fun, games and races getting underway at about 1 p.m. also at Hillside Park. Small gifts will be given to the children of members. Your area representative will be calling on you with your free tickets.

If you are not a member, there is still time to become one. This year's chairman is Lorne Tosh, 822-1670. Give him a call and volunteer your help.
