To the Right Hon. Arthur Meighan,

Respected Sir:

I take the liberty of addressing you on the score of early friendship and hope you will pardon me for drawing your attention to the fact that our acquaintance began long before you ever even thought of being a political leader in the affairs of our dearly beloved Canada. When I tell you I am in my 86th year, you will, I am sure excuse my attempt to write a legible hand that a busy man has time and patience to decipher. To be brief and to the point, let me ease your curiosity by informing you that no less a personage than George W. Dawson, who lived next neighbor to you when you and your father (Joseph Meighan) were in the dairy business at St. Marys. It would cheer my declining days if you would condescend to drop a few lines to yours sincerely.

G. W. Dawson.
