Fully 8,000 Orangemen took part in the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne here on the 12th. From early morning until noon crowds of people arrived by trains and boats and all the leading roads into the town were crowded with vehicles filled with people. At one o'clock the different odges formed into line and marched to the agricultural park, where the grand procession was formed. The celebration was up to the expectations of the most sanguine. The good order displayed by the gathering was remarkable

Accounts committee at Ottawa respecting the building of two bridges at with all the delicacies of the season. Montreal are of an astonishing character. Mr. Hannaford chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway in his evidence before the committee said that the G. T. R. offered to build the bridge for $70,000 and would have made a good profit off it. The government built it and it cost $170,000. Now those Conservatives in Ontario wno so strongly condemned the Mowat government for the extra eggs and sauces used at the Asylums should turn their attention to these bridges built by the Ottawa government. $100,000 thrown away on this one bridge would keep up all the institutions in Ontario in eggs and pickles for a long series of years. Then the Curran bridge cost $200,000 more than it should. This money was also thrown away. We call the attention of Mr. MeGilivary and the host of stumpers who expatiated so eloquently and loudly on the heinousness of supplying the Superintendents' of Asylums with eggs for their tables. This little experience should be treasured up for at prices which are not beaten use particularly when they call on the people to admire the beauties of the Administration at Ottawa in near future.
