Perhaps because they are, in a sense, my own people, speaking my tongue, looking at things from a view-point that I understand. That partly. But it was more than that.

THE POWER OF DEATH The seek a reason for the succession and continuance of this boundless ambition in mortal men, we may add to that which hath already been said; that the kings and princes of the world have always laid before them the actions, but not the ends of those great ones which preceded them. They are always trans-ported with the glory of the other, till they find the experience in themselves. They neglect the advice of God, while the wisdom of the world without speaking a word; which God wth all the words of the wisdom of the world without speaking a word; which God wth all the words of the wisdom of the world without speaking a word; which God wth all the words of the aw promises or threats doth not

SAINT JOHN. THE AGED

To preach unto my children. E'en my lips Refuse to form the words my heart sends forth. My ears are dull; they scarcely hear the sobs Of my dear children gathered 'round my couch; My eyes so dim they cannot see their tears. God lays His hand upon me-yea, His hand, And not His rod-the gentle hand that I Felt, those three years, so often pressed in mine, In friendship such that passeth woman's love. I'm old, so old ! I cannot recollect The faces of my friends, and I forget The words and deeds that make up daily life; But that dear face, and every word He spoke, Grow more distinct as others fade away, So that I live with Him and holy dead More than with living.

Some seventy years ago I was a fisher by the sacred Sea. It was at sunset. How the tranquil tide Bathed dreamily the pebbles! How the light Crept up the distant hills, and in its wake Soft purple shadows wrapped the dewy fields And then He came and called me. Then I gazed For the first time on that sweet face. Those eyes From out of which, as from a window, shone Divinity, looked on my inmost soul, And lighted it forever. Then His words Broke on the silence of my heart and made The whole world musical. Incarnate love Took hold of me and claimed me for His own; I followed in the twilight, holding fast His mantle.

Oh! what holy walks we had Through harvest fields and desolate, dreary wastes; And oftentimes He leaned upon my arm. Wearied and wayworn. I was young and strong And so upbore Him. Lord! now I am weak, And old and feeble. Let me rest on Thee! So, put Thine arms around me. Closer still ! How strong thou art! The twilight draws apace ; Come, let us leave these noisy streets and take The path to Bethany, for Mary's smile Awaits us at the gate, and Martha's hands Have long prepared the evening meal. Come, James, the Master waits, and Peter, see, Has gone some steps besore. What say you friends?

That this is Ephesus, and Christ has gone Back to His kingdom? Ay, 'tis so, 'tis so. I know it all; and yet, just now, I seemed To stand once more upon my native hills And touch my Master ! Oh ! how oft I've seen The touching of his garments bring back strength To palsied limbs! I feel it has to mine. Up! bear me once more to my church-once more There let me tell them of a Saviour's love : For by the sweetness of my Master's voice Just now, I think He must be very near-Coming, I trust, to break the veil which time Has worn so thin that I can see beyond And watch his footseps.

So, raise up my head. How dark it is. I cannot seem to see The faces of my flock. Is that the sea That murmurs so, or is it weeping? Hush ! My little children ! God so loved the world He gave His Son; So love ye one another; Love God and man, Amen. Now bear me back My legacy to an angry world is this. I feel my work is finished. Are the streets so full? What call the folk my name? The Holy John ? Nay, write me rather Jesus Christ's beloved, And lover of my children.

Lay me down Once more upon my couch, and open wide The eastern window. Seel There comes a Light Like that which broke upon my soul at eve, When, in the dreary Isle of Patmos, Gabriel came And touched me on the shoulder. See! it grows As when we mounted towards the pearly gates, know the way ! I trod it once before. And hark! It is the song the ransomed sang Of glory to the Lamb! How loud it souds! And that unwritten one! Methinks my soul Can join it now. But who are these who crowd The shining way? Say !- joy, 'tis the eleven ! With Peter first; how eagerly he looks? How bright the smiles are beaming on James' face! I am the last. Once more we are complete, To gather 'round the Paschal feast. My place Is next my Master. O, my Lord ! my Lord ! How bright Thou art, and yet the very same
