SPLENDID SPECIMEN BLACK FOX TRAPPED IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Sydney Daily Post Has Some Very Nice Things To Say About Our Fur-Bearing Animals And Their Possibilities.

Sydney, Feb. 4.—The Post had an opportunity to inspect the skin of a pure black male fox which was specially noteworthy in that the animal had been trapped wild in the woods of a certain district of Newfoundland.

It has been claimed by Mr. Charles Dalton, who may be considered the father of the fox industry in Prince Edward Island, that the black fox is peculiar to that island, and can only be produced by scientific inbreeding. The fox, the skin of which was inspected, was considered a perfect specimen of the black species and would have been most valuable for breeding purposes. Owing to the trap marks and the carelessness with which the pelt had been handled, the particular skin in question will not be so valuable as it might have been.

The finding of this black dog has, however, given every encouragement to those engaged or interested in the fox industry of Newfoundland, where it is being developed in a very large measure. The general opinion is that the black fox can be successfully raised in Newfoundland, and the finding of this specimen is taken as a pure proof of this. It is stated by most competent authorities that there is no reason why the Newfoundland production should not be of as fine a quality as the Prince Edward Island variety.

No better investment can be made than by taking a Contract Space in the DAILY MAIL.

FACE GRAFTED ON YOUNG CANADIAN.

Surgeons Will Build a New Nose For Ross Allen Who Was Badly Injured in an Accident in a Saw Mill.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 4.—With a part of his forearm substituting for new lips, Ross Allen, a young Canadian at a hospital here, seems to be in a favorable way to have practically the whole of his face disfigured from an accident in a saw mill five years previously, his nose and lips were missing.

A section of flesh, shaped to the form of his lower lip was cut on his forearm in December and a grafting juncture made with the lip base.

The arm was bound about the head until the grafting was complete. This consumed about two weeks, when sufficient adherence having taken place, the lip section was severed from the arm and lip shaped. The same procedure was followed in the upper lip treatment, a section of the arm flesh being grafted across the upper gum and the arm strapped to Allen's head and shoulders until this section, too, had taken hold.

When Allen accumulates sufficient strength for another operation the surgeon will try to build him a new nose. It is planned to cut away a piece of healthy cartilage from one of the ribs at the juncture with the breast bone, shape it to the form of a nose with the nostril openings, and insert it in place of the missing organ.

331,000 OUT OF WORK IN NEW YORK.

Conditions Are Abnormal, The Worst Known For Seven Years.

PROBLEMS TO FACE. Principal Section Of Unemployed To Be Found Among the Unskilled.

New York, Feb. 7.—Statistics gathered by the Employment Bureau of the Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor, show that 331,000 men in New York city are out of work. As a result of a canvass of manufacturers, contractors and merchants, the Bureau reported that conditions were abnormal and the worst since the winter of 1907-1908.

"Most of the employers felt, however," says the report, "that business relief was in sight and that a very few months would see the return of normal business conditions."

Unskilled Labor Worst. Of the total unemployed, 140,000 were unskilled laborers. The building trades came next, with 70,000. Then followed: Longshoremen, 18,000; cloak and suit makers, 18,000; waiters, 6,500; tailors and pressers, 6,000; clerks, bookkeepers and accountants, 5,000; mechanics, 4,500; boatmen, bargemen and sailors, 4,200; barbers, 3,800; drivers, 3,000; engineers and firemen, 3,000, and other trades in smaller proportion.

The Bureau acknowledged that these figures are only approximate, but said that in every case the most conservative information was followed.

NEW ACT WORRIES THE SUPFRAGETTES

London, Feb. 8.—Official figures show that the "Cat and Mouse" Act, under which militant suffragettes who start a hunger strike in jail are released, only to be arrested again when their health is restored, has broken up the militant cause.

Only 46 militants have been arrested in the nine months since the enactment of the law, while 240 were sent to jail previously. Only two are now in prison. Six completed their sentences or paid the alternative fine. Two were discharged on giving a pledge to behave. Thirty-seven fled from the country, while out of jail under the ticket-of-leave.

IRRIGATION TO CONQUER THE DESERT.

Big Undertaking Started to Reclaim Vast Tracts of Land in the Sudan. Two Rivers to be Harnessed.

London, Feb. 7.—Work has been commenced on another great scheme to reclaim by irrigation vast tracts of desert in the Sudan. It is believed it can be made to add enormously to the cotton output of the British Empire.

The tract which is to be watered is known as the Gilza territory. It lies between the Blue and White Niles, below Khartoum, and consists of 1,500,000 acres. The force and flow of the two rivers is sufficient to water the entire district when properly harnessed. The proposal is to build two dams south of Khartoum, one over each of the rivers. Thus the tract between the streams will be irrigated, while at the same time the force of the water flowing into Egypt will be controlled. At present the Blue Nile comes down in a raging flow, and the White Nile, flowing in steeper fashion, combines with it to make a huge overflow. The building of the two dams will enable the flow to be properly regulated and will practically mean the final harnessing of the Nile.

RISKS HIS LIFE TO FIND IT'S POLLY.

Policeman, Overcome in Vain Attempt at Rescue, is Saved by Firemen.

New York, Feb. 2.—"Help, Mamma! Oh, Mamma!" The words came from an upper floor of a house in Brooklyn to-day. Smoke and flames were pouring from the windows. "Oh, Peter's up there; save him!" cried Mrs. Bengran.

Petrolman Petrus dashed in and was driven back by the smoke. He wrapped his coat around his head and went in again. On the upper floor he was overcome. Firemen running in with hose lines got him out.

Peter was dead in his gilt cage, his bright green feathers singed and smoke stained.

Petrus came to, looked at the dead parrot, choked back a flow of language and finally contented himself with just two words—Mrs. Bengran was present. "Oh, well," was all he said.

King George Opens House of Commons.

Speech From The Throne Refers To The Gravity of The Home Rule Situation--Important Measures To Be Considered.

London, Feb. 10.—There was an unusual crush of members when the doors of the House of Commons opened at 8 a.m. to-day, instead of at midnight, as has been the custom. Amongst the earliest arrivals was a batch of anti-Home-Rulers, who captured prominent seats in the House.

The police duties, ordinarily perfunctory, were taken seriously, and the time-honored play of searching the vaults for a second Guy Fawkes' plot, was performed in grim earnest by the Yeomen of the Guard, who were accompanied by the Chief Inspectors of the Metropolitan Police. A thorough search was made, as suffragette tricks were suspected.

King's Speech. King George opened the fourth session with the customary picturesque ceremony, and by the emphasis on his words, and his manner indicated his personal realization of the gravity of the situation. He said:

"I regret that efforts which have been made to arrive at a solution by agreement of problems connected with the government of Ireland, have so far not succeeded. In a manner in which the hopes and fears of so many of my subjects are keenly concerned, and which, unless handled now with foresight, judgment and a spirit of mutual concession, threatens grave future difficulties, it is my most earnest wish that the good-will and co-operation of men of all parties and creeds may heal the dissensions and lay the foundations of a lasting settlement."

Visit France. The King returned to his forthcoming visit to France, as affording an opportunity of testifying to the cordial relations existing between the two countries.

Besides the renewed submission of the Home Rule and Welsh Disestablishment Bills, domestic legislation is promised.

The King's Speech includes proposals for the reconstruction of the Second Chamber, and Imperial Naturalization, and measures dealing with the Housing of the Poor and Education.

GUILTY OF MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

Jury Condemns Ex-priest Schmidt on Charge of Murdering Miss Anna Muller. To Be Sentenced To-day.

New York, Feb. 6.—Hans Schmidt was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Miss Anna Muller, a young woman he had married through a self-performed ceremony, while acting as a priest at St. Joseph's Church. The penalty of the crime is death in the Electric Chair. He will be sentenced next Wednesday. Schmidt's defense was insanity.

Schmidt is seemingly content with the verdict and declines to permit his counsel to appeal. The verdict was rendered late yesterday, a little over two hours after the jury had retired.

It seemed a great relief to the former priest who had sat through the twelve days' trial as if in a daze, and always blankly staring at the court room wall, for his bent figure suddenly straightened, a light came into his eyes and he smiled. Schmidt seemed to have been prepared for the verdict. Since his arrest on September 14th, he has refused to be shaved or to have his hair cut. He has worn a silk handkerchief in lieu of a collar.

MEMBER OF CANADIAN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Alleged to Have Received Money For Securing License For Life Assurance Company.

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Did an M.P. from the province of Quebec, during 1911, before the general election, receive $500 from the Security Life Assurance Company for services in connection with the obtaining of a license once refused the concern, but later granted it by the finance department at Ottawa?

The question came up during the hearing of a case before Mr. Justice Bruneau on Saturday. An accountant in the employ of the company, swore that he had made disbursements on one occasion to the extent of $745 towards the latter part of April, 1911; $500 of this, he said, went to Mr. _____ then a member of the House of Commons; $200 to the company's legal adviser, and $45 covering the expenses of Messrs. A. Desnoyers and Victor Morin, who were in Ottawa negotiating for a license for the company.

Witness, cross-examined, admitted that he personally had no knowledge of the actual payment of the money to the then member of Parliament; he had simply received the account from Desnoyers and had paid it, on order of the board of directors of the company.

ANNOUNCES CURE FOR SEASICKNESS.

Has Found the Injection of a Well-Known Drug Efficacious. Now We'll Go A-sailing.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—Ocean voyages no longer need be a terror to those subject to sea sickness in effect the announcement made to-day by Dr. Joseph Fischer, the well-known heart specialist of Nauenheim, in a Munich medical weekly. Dr. Fischer reports that as the result of extensive experiments with sea sick passengers he found that an injection of atropin completely cured the worst cases.

During a trip to New York in 1912 Dr. Fischer made experiments on the way across the ocean to endeavor if possible to determine what sea sickness is and what causes it. He found that an injection of physostigmina produced the exact clinical symptoms of sea sickness, and that this was caused by an irritation of the vagus nerve. He then discovered that an injection of atropin paralyzed this artificial mal de mer. He immediately began experimenting with atropin in real sea sickness, with excellent results in the worst cases.
