RUSSIANS CROSS THE LIPA RIVER

Force a Passage and Capture 1,000 Men and Four Cannon.

London, July 22.—The Russians have forced a passage of the Lipa and have captured 1,000 prisoners and four cannon from the Austro-Germans, who are retiring in disorder, according to a late official statement last night by the general staff at Petrograd.

Gen. Sarahoff has crossed the Lipa in the afternoon, which was received here at a late hour, and the enemy, retreating in disorder was heavily shelled on Thursday.

In the battle on the northern bank of the Lipa and at the Sty crossings the prisoners taken by us were increased to 75 officers and 2,817 men. Besides three guns and a vast amount of material was taken.

Berlin and Vienna had previously admitted the withdrawal of the Werbel-Lipa, and the Austro-German front has been broken, according to official dispatches from Petrograd.

The Russians also are striking blows which imperil the Austro-German lines in the Riga sector. Russian forces under Gen. Kuropatkin are attacking the troops of the Field Marshal Von Hindenburg along the front in the Riga sector.

At several points the Austro-German front is being broken, according to unofficial dispatches from Petrograd.

On the fronts before Kovel and Lemberg the Russians are hammering the Austro-German lines without cessation. Almost the entire civil population of Lemberg has fled from the city, and according to reports from the Austrian headquarters staff has decided to leave.

Berlin admits that a small Russian detachment succeeded in crossing the river, north of Deveten.

CITY SOCIAL CLUB STAGED POKER GAMES

Institution Once Here Goes to Toronto and Runs into Trouble.

Toronto, July 22.—In dismissing the application of Max Merker and Abraham Daniels to quash the conviction of keeping a common gaming house, Mr. Justice Riddell said that the Attorney-General's attention will be called to the conduct of the City Social Club, St. Patrick Street, where was played the poker game that resulted in the Merker and Daniels sentence of 30 days in jail. "For the abatement of the nuisance," is the lordship's reason for this reference. "The evidence is not long," says the judge. "It establishes the following facts: An incorporated body known as the City Social Club, came from Brantford to this city, and has premises on St. Patrick street. It has some 64 or 65 members who pay dues of 50 cents a month each. Merker is secretary and caretaker; Daniels is the treasurer. Whatever golden feathers and eyes like tiny jewels. He chirped and the bird answered. He put his head upon one side and the other bird did the same. "Hum!" said the ugly canary, "one must pay 50 cents, and also pay a technical detail—the sum of 10 cents is taken by the house. It does not seem that it is necessary to be a member of the club to be again and again at his rival and the rival fell at him, as beautiful in my losses, including prisoners, during the last ten days, have been extremely heavy. I estimated them at between 75,000 and 100,000 this week, probably it would be no exaggeration."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

THE UGLY CANARY

Once upon a time there was a canary who thought he must be ugly or he wouldn't have to live in a cage. "They put men whose minds are ugly in a jail," he moaned. "Therefore I must be ugly, too, for I live behind gilded bars." So the canary brooded over his ugliness, brooded and brooded, so much indeed that he wouldn't sing. Always he sat huddled upon his perch with his feathers puffed out or his head beneath his wing. Then the summer came, green and bright. One day a girl with a face like a rose, carried him out to a warm, sunlit perch and hung him in the window. Now the window was closed and the little canary, hopping around to get some seed, saw beyond the glass a beautiful little bird with golden feathers and eyes like tiny jewels. He chirped and the bird answered. He put his head upon one side and the other bird did the same. "Hum!" said the ugly canary, "one must pay 50 cents, and also pay a technical detail—the sum of 10 cents is taken by the house. It does not seem that it is necessary to be a member of the club to be again and again at his rival and the rival fell at him, as beautiful in my losses, including prisoners, during the last ten days, have been extremely heavy. Belgium's Hour of Deliverance Coming

Britain Will Demand Reparation for Wrongs Inflicted on It

London, July 22.—President Belding, speaking on the occasion of the celebration of Belgian independence day, said that the German government has issued a new law giving an increased stranglehold on Belgian labor for military purposes. The premier said that in spirit the Belgians refused to give up their rights to the spoils of the war, and that the law against Belgian workmen was a violation of the law of nations.
