Every Canadian wage-earner, and every Canadian with money will be asked next week to lend what little money he or she can to Canada, to help pay war bills. Canada should stand for enough in the mind of every Canadian to inspire a general desire to help. Those who are getting their living in Canada and enjoying all the benefits this country provides should think them worth a small loan to the country, particularly when the interest return on that loan is better than can be got for money placed on deposit in any bank. Buy a bond, and make the amount of your purchase the limit of your ability to pay.
