MONDAY, NOVEMBER 14. STOPS A WASTE OF MONEY.

Hon. J. I. Tarte says in his paper La Patrie, of Montreal, that the Conservative party from going to the country will have the effect of preventing the painful and regrettable scenes that have characterized the elections that are just past. There is more than one country in which the candidates of the two political parties have been obliged to make extravagant expenses, which are also illegitimate, such as the distribution of alcohol, etc. There must have been at least a million dollars expended by the Ministerial and Opposition candidates in this way. No person could dream of being a candidate in a city division without demanding of his party organiza-tion great election funds. Eight or ten thousand dollars are quite ordinary figures. A point is arrived at that everybody wants to make money out of political organizations." The quotation above appears to jus tify the oft-repeated assertion that the electors of Quebec have become college chum, G. Cleveland, get the Democratic nomination so that he might have come in for the defeat administered to Alton B. Parker. accustomed to wait for the money before going to vote. It is too pad that political morality has thus been discounted. It is just possible that Hon. Mr. Flynn, in deciding not to place any Opposition candidates in the field was actuated by motives of economy, and possibly that is the reations opposing each other in the same constituencies is well illustrated in the result of the election in Winnipeg. Evans and Puttee favored the Conservative policy of Government ownership of railways, and polled jointly in that city 1,000 son so many of the Liberal organs in Quebec are vexed about the Opposition leader's course. Where there is no opposition the newspapers will not be able to gather up shekels for printing and advertising. The situprinting and advertising. The situration is unique and unprecedented, but may have a good effect on political morals.

and polled jointly in that city 1,000 of the function of 1,000 of the voters in that city. This ought to be a lesson for the future.

A NEW ERA.

Lord Lansdowne's address at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London was one of the most significant utterances of the century. It was a strong and manly plea for the recognition of common sense in the settlement of international difficulties. It was a justification of the Government's conduct in seeking at once a peaceable and honorable settlement of the complications arising out of the North Sea incident; but it was more. It was a plea for the substitution of arbitration generally for the horrors of war. "Between the lines of every refernece the Foreign Minister made to the Russian-Japanese war," says the cable report, "was an urgent plea, amounting almost to a demand that it might be settled by arbitration." But Lord Lansdowne went even farther than that. He pleaded for the recognition of the simple truth that there are usually two sides to every story, and that justice demands a consideration of both sides. "By most of his hearers," we are told, "Lord Lansdowne'ss utterances were regarded almost as a plea for Russia. A dead silence greeted him, as after pointing out that, the two governments in good faith believed in contradictory statements, of facts, he Could we have done better than get full apology and compensation and leave the question of facts to an international tribunal with a guarantee of punishment of any who may be found guilty?" This is the spirit which will go far to make the abolition of war possible. It is the spirit which prevails among reasonable individuals; why should it not prevail among nations? The fact that Lord Lansdowne spoke to a rather unsympathetic audience is not surprising; but it is much less significant than the fact that he had the courage to face the coldness of an audience with a plea for reason and common sense. The spirit of conciliation in internaftional affairs is new to the masses of the people, and they cannot be expected to take kindly to it all at

The election of Mr. Folk as governor of Missouri is a striking instance of the truth of the assertion that virtue is more than its own reward even in United States politics, of which Missouri politics holds the record as the worst ever. It was Mr. Folk, who, as district attorney in St. Louis by his almost unaided efforts, broke up the greatest boodle organization that the republic has yet seen. At the risk of his life, for he was several times threatened with assassination, he pursued millionaires, senators, representatives and political heelers until he put enough of them in the penitentiary to break up the ring. The people have shown their apprecciation by electing him to the highst office in the state, though the rest of his party's candidates were slaughtered at the polls. There will be some hope for the republic if Mr. Folk's success induces the younger element in politics to imitate his

Mr. Frank M. Snort, a native of London, but who had for the past eighteen years been a resident of Michigan, died Thursday evening at the family residence in Reed City, Mr. Frank M. Short, a native of Michigan, died Thursday evening at the family residence in Reed City, Deceased was a son of the late Wm. Short, an old-time London builder and contractor, Frank being the youngest member of the family. He was for some time employed in the shoe store of Ashplant and Tanton, and left London about eighteen years ago for Chatham, where he was engaged in the shoe trade, and married Miss Sarah Martin, of that place, daughter of Mr. Warren Martin. Mr. Short afterwards went to the Soo, Mich, where he filled a responsible position in a large shoe house. His strict attention to business, his upright character, and his affable disposition won for him the respect and esteem onaracter, and his attack disposition won for him the respect and esteem of all with whom he had dealings. He was an adherent of the Methodist church. Mr. Short had not been in the best of health lately, and a very severe cold, was followed by complications that resulted fatally. Besides his widow, he leaves five childrenfour foys and a girl—the youngest about five years of age. His brothers and sisters are as follows — Mrs. ers and sisters are as follows — Mrs. Graham, of Edgar, Neb.; Job and Reuben Short, city; William, of Victoria, B. C.; Thomas, of Ludington, Mich.; James, city; Mrs. Fred. E. Morgan, Worcester, Mass.; and Mrs. Nellie Morrish, city. The funeral takes place on Monday, at 3 p. m., from the residence of Mr. James from the residence of Mr. James Short, 569 York street, services at 2.30. Miss Elizabeth Longworth, who has been the guest of Mrs. P. Khalan for some time, has returned to her home in Detroit.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's church, Raleigh, at ten o'clock on Oct. 26th, when John P. Lahey, of Merlin, was united in marriage to Miss Minnie Khalar, of Fletcher. The bride was given away by her prother William, of St. Thomas, and Miss Elizabeth Longworth, of Detroit, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was ably assisted by his brother Leo. Over eighty guests partook of a sumptuous repast at the home of the bride's mother. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by her numerous friends. We join in wishing the happy couple congratulations.

Mrs. John Hawkins has returned from Detroit, where she has been visiting her daughter.

H. Clements held a rousing Conservative meeting here the other night.

M. Hickey shipped a carload of cattle from here the other day.

Mrs. John Lahey has gone to pay a visit to Mrs. P. Lahey, of Merlin. W. Kelley and partner, were inspecting the Drake Road one day last week and have decided that it needs to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence. A selection of Love Songs from the Wagner Operas, rendered into English by Richard de Gallienne and beautifully illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker, occupies a prominent place, and a chapter in the Composers' Series, relating the Romance of Wagner and Cosima, is an interesting supplement to the lyrics. A very paper entitled "The Court Circles of the Republic," describes one unique phases of washington social life is from an unnamed contributor, who is said to write from the inner circles of society.
