HOME AND SCHOOL HELP EACH OTHER

The following paper was given by Mrs. Brazil Seeley at the April meeting of the Hartland Women's Institute:

We are all aware we are living in an age of great institutions. The three greatest of these are the Church, the home and the school. We cannot consider any of these three institutions without associating one with the other. And in the case of the child the home and the school seem to unite. In the home is laid the foundation of the church and the school. The kind of student the child becomes is largely due to the home influences. You all know the meaning of the term—home. It's not the house but the persons and their influences that make the home.

What is School? A place where instruction is given and we send our children to school to acquire an education.

Next comes the question—what is Education? Education is the development of all the powers of the individual, both physical and intellectual.

Now in the home we are responsible for the greater part of the physical education of our children. Here is a chance for the parents in the home to co-operate with the school in seeing that the laws of cleanliness, regularity and proper nourishment are duly enforced. To develop brain power the body must be kept in a good physical condition as the intellectual depends on the physical, thus an ill-fed body retards the education of the child.

Next comes Home Influence. In nine cases out of ten you can trace the failure of the boy or girl in educational matters to the lack of interest and help in the home. We realize that not all parents are able to help their children in their studies at home but they can all encourage them thus showing an interest in their work at school. If you do no more than ask if they are getting their questions right or how many words they misspelled the child readily sees you are interested in the school work and they almost invariably try to do better. If you are fitted to help them at the study hours never be too busy with the little petty cares of the home to deny them the help solicited. You may be busy but the education of your child is vastly more important than the ordinary things of life. Remember in co-operation with the school you are fitting a boy or girl for life. If they become a success or a failure is largely the responsibility of the home influence. Have the children observe regular study hours at home and see that the home work has been finished before they leave for school. The home study is just as important as the school study. Do not expect the teacher to have all to do in the education of your child. You in the home must do your part.

Then comes Criticism. How very careful we should be how we criticize the teacher and in fact the school in general before the child, and how often that criticism is most unjust; perhaps uttered in ignorance of the true facts and if we found out, these facts may be our own responsibility instead of the teacher's. In a great many cases on the teacher is placed the responsibility of the child not grading when perhaps at home there has been shown a lack of interest on the part of the parents and the proper encouragement has not been given to the child. We in the home are deeply responsible for the educational success of our children. Now I do not mean to put all the responsibility on the parents. I think the teacher's part is equally as responsible and I believe that no conscientious teacher will fail to do their part if they know they have the help and sympathy of the parents. On the other hand I think the school and the home should be so closely related that the teacher should know, as much as possible, the home life of the child, thus enabling him or her to better understand the child and the parents to be so familiar with the school life that they may be in position to help the child at home.

I might say in closing that the greater the bond of sympathy and co-operation between these two great institutions, the home and the school, the greater will be the power for the advancement along educational lines in the lives of children in our land.

MRS. BRAZIL SEELEY.

BATH BASE BALL TEAM ACTIVE

Stirring Games With Juniper and Woodstock—Now Ready for More

The baseball season is in full swing in Northern Carleton county. The local aggregation have played five games to date. The opening games were on May 26 when a double-header was played with the Juniper nine. The first game was called at 3 p.m. The first innings were marked by very loose playing both by the locals and visitors. As the game progressed many good plays were made and long before the game innings were terminated, the fans had become enthusiastic, despite the score piled up against the home team, Juniper carrying home the bacon. Score 11-4.

At 6.30 the teams again assembled and presented a different brand of ball, shutting out the visitors 4-0. Of special note, to many, will be the fact that the "Monquaters," possess this year an interchangeable battery—Shaw, pitcher in the first game, was back-stop during the second battle; Estabrooks, vice-versa.

On June 3 a return double-header match was played in foreign territory. The locals journeyed to Juniper. As a coincidence Juniper won the first game 6-5. Bath pitched the first game 1-9. Shaw pitched the second game. Estabrooks being on the mound in the second. The Juniper battery at these games was James Turner, catcher; "Club" Turnbull pitched. The boys were given a good reception at Juniper and as one of them remarked, "They are all clean sports—men after my own heart." Truly said, men after my own heart. Both aggregations are composed of good sports, the best that each community has to offer; aggregations of which any club, town or community might well be proud of.

On Friday, June 6, the Woodstock players were the guests of the local club and played a game of ball on the local diamond. The initial inning was loose, marked by errors by both teams, the remaining part of the game was marked by thrills. Seldom an inning passing without either double or triple plays being pulled off for the benefit of the fans. The game was fast, thrilling and was the finest exhibition of ball handed out to the fans this season.

Batteries: Visitors, Polchis, pitcher and McKinley, catcher. Home boys—Shaw, pitcher and Estabrooks, catcher.

MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

At the special meeting of the Town Council, held June 6 the following business was transacted:

Treasurer's report was read showing collections for May $140.84, with expenditure of $518.20.

Special committee on Hagerman rebate reported progress and asked an extension of time which was granted.

Committee on lock-up reported they had not been able to come to any definite agreement in regard to purchasing a lot of land to build on. This motion was given extension of time.

Committee on court assessment reported that some facts had been gathered on the matter and requested that a sub-committee be appointed to secure some legal advice. Aldermen W. White, A. Y. Dickinson and C. W. McQuarrie, financial committee, reported the assessment not quite ready, but would be so in a short time. Also reported the purchasing of two rubber stamps for Town Treasurer's office.

The Fire and Water Committee reported motor has been installed in pumping station and is working well. Report accepted. Bills and accounts ordered paid.

Mayor McFarland suggested putting the names of the streets at the corner of each street for convenience of strangers, also to request through the Observer those coming into town with horses to use the place provided by the town for hitching and not tie them to the poles along the street, and to those using cars to park them on the right side of the street. On motion recommendations were carried.

Mayor McFarland and C. W. McQuarrie and H. R. Nixon were appointed the committee to look after said signs and see they were put up.

The street committee reported they were soon to start work on streets and sidewalks.

It was moved by Ald. W. B. Nixon and seconded by Ald. A. Y. Dickinson that Heckbert Co. be given the following concessions: The first year the company operates they may be exempt from taxes, and that each succeeding year for a term of four years they be taxed on one-quarter of full valuation at regular rates, providing they have at least ten men on their pay roll in Hartland.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The annual memorial service for our glorious dead will be held at Hartland in the United Baptist church on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. June 22. Every returned man who can come please come and join in the parade in honor of our comrades who did not come back—it's in honor of them, our dead comrades.

Come with uniform or with civilian clothes, just as you please. The service button tells the story and the uniform does not matter—it's your presence that counts and shows honor to your comrades who sleep in heroes' graves.

Let every family that lost a loved one in the Great War come and join in our memorial service for one day let our hearts be in harmony, in honor or of our dead in thanksgiving to God, that the sacrifice was not made in vain, that victory was won by the sacrifice. Let us not forget the names of the ones who made the great sacrifice. Let the school child read over the names for their names shall live forevermore. These are the ones we will honor on memorial day together with the countless heroes in other places.

MORE THAN A MILLION EGGS

Were used last year in the making of Mott's Cake—the exact figures being 1,572,000 fresh eggs. This shows not merely the high quality of the ingredients, but the resulting popularity of the egg itself.

That's equal to thirty eggs for every man, woman and child in Halifax.

There's a treat in store for you—try the new Maraschino filled Chocolates. Just swimming in delicious liquor—the juice of the cherries.

Last evening His Lordship Bishop Richardson administered confirmation to a fairly large class at Holy Trinity. As usual the Bishop preached a sermon that held the closest attention of the large number present to hear the acknowledged leader among the preachers of the Maritime Provinces.
