Unnecessary Trouble.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

There is a great deal of unnecessary trouble in this world. No one who has been in it very long will deny that.

There is a great deal of inevitable unhappiness caused by sickness and death and money losses and other more or less unavoidable calamities.

I am thinking of a family where existence has been cramped and spoiled for the last twenty years—the very core of the life of two of its members—by the outrageous exactions of a nervous invalid. She is sick; she is to be pitied; she OUGHT to be kindly cared for. But she has absolutely NO right to have spoiled the happiness of that family as she has done by her domineering insistence of having her own way in everything. And they have no right to have let her. That woman is rotten with selfishness. She has heedlessly hindered the happiness of at least two lives, and for my part, I am certain that out of it all she has not gotten for herself any more happiness than she would have by making her share of sacrifice. Indeed I suspect she has gotten very much less.

That's one case of unnecessary trouble. Here's another.

A neighbour of mine was born with an inordinate tendency to worry. He has never made any attempt to conquer it; consequently it has conquered him. There have been many years in this man's life when health, an unbroken family circle and material prosperity were his, and yet all the time he insulted his good fortune by worrying over some possible ill. Needless to say this attitude was a cloud that was continually shutting sunshine out of his own life and that of all those who lived with him. Surely that was needless, trouble and unhappiness.

Again, I know another family in which there is health, comfortable financial conditions, an unbroken family circle and yet little happiness. The unnecessary trouble in this case is the husband's ungovernable—excuse me I meant ungoverned—temper. Life might be so very pleasant in that little family if it were not for that unnecessary trouble.

Somehow it seems to me as if real, unavoidable trouble must surely come to these people who, in lieu of it, make unnecessary trouble for themselves.

For no one has any right to waste his powers of coping with and enduring unavoidable trouble in creating and suffering under unnecessary trouble; and when he does that, fate must surely be tempted to supply him with the real article.

Is there any unnecessary trouble in your household?

Are you the cause of it?

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

The burdens woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A soothing and strengthening service—subduing nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, and the many symptoms which may be caused by distressing ill health to women. For those "dragging-down" pains or distress and for the derangements and irregularities the "Favorite Prescription" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to every woman is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, without the use of alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. Full list of ingredients given on bottle-wrapper and sworn to by Dr. R. V. Pierce—who is President of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.

Mrs. MORELL.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Favorite Prescription,' for all female disorders," writes Mrs. M. M. Morell, of 214 West 11th St., St. Paul, Minn. "During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used it in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver bile.

Fads and Fashions.

Violet shades are at present in favor. Buttons are used on the new prelate sash. Large shoe buckles are being worn again. Fur collars on the new coats are tip-top shaped. The shade of lace known as ficelle is most in favor. Plush and fancy plush are to be extensively used. Other long sleeves have kimono-shaped shoulders. Many of the new gown draperies terminate in a point. Tulle for young girls' dresses is becoming popular.

The serge tailor suits outlasts all the antics of fashion.

Tailored coats have lost entirely the ungraceful box effect.

The new double sleeves are exceedingly picturesque.

Linen eponge and taffeta is one of the summer combinations.

Even jabots nowadays are ornamented with crystal buttons.

The long, close sleeve is appearing now even in evening gowns.

The Japanese note will be strong in evening gowns this winter.

There is a new tone of blue, very bright and clear, the blue Vierge.

Pearl embroideries are to be in vogue; so are jet embroideries.

In the new corset for stout figures a great deal of elastic is used.

A superb wrap is of raven blue velvet broche on a black satin ground.

Narrow bands of fur appear on both tailored suits and evening gowns.

The new winter colors are extremely bright blues, greens and reds.

Many long-tailored coats have bolero fronts and high-standing collars.

Even the tailored skirts when draped display a decided cut up in front.

On the short bolero jackets the sleeves are three-quarters long and cuffed.

The new draped effects in dresses remind one very strongly of the polonaise.

Very smart, indeed, are ostrich plumes in shades of green, red and blue.

A great many of the new large hats have full crowns of changeable silk.

A French novelty is Chantilly lace with pattern stamped in color and outlined.

Beware of the Robespierre collar, unless you have a long and pretty neck.

Short coats are given a decided military air by braiding and metal buttons.

A Peculiar Woman.

The Parisienne is not and never has been representative of the Frenchwoman, although she might be described as the distilled essence of all that is French.

She is too volatile to be typical of the women of France. She is also bizarre, and the Frenchwoman, broadly speaking, never is. She is gay and morbid at one and the same moment. She is eternally young, yet born with the cynical wisdom of ages. She is brave to the point of folly. She is free from any taint of provincialism and in a way stands on a small pinnacle apart from the rest of woman-kind with a smile that has some fellowship with that of the sphinx. Her charm is world renowned and indisputable and of a peculiar kind.

She is not beautiful, and she is never merely pretty, but charm runs in her blood, and it is as natural for her to use it as it is for the sun to shine. Everything about her is witness to this attribute, and she herself accepts it as a law written by unseen hands, unchangeable as that which rules the "orderly procession of the stars" and powerful as that which brought her into the world and will one day send her out of it.—Fall Mail Gazette.

What's in a Man

A man has 500 muscles, 1,000,000,000 cells, 200 different bones, four gallons of blood, several hundred feet of arteries and veins, over twenty-five feet of intestines and millions of pores. His heart weighs from eight to twelve ounces, its capacity is from four to six ounces in each ventricle, and its size is 5 by 3½ by 2½ inches. It is a hollow muscular organ and pumps twenty-two and a half pounds of blood every minute. In twenty-four hours it pumps sixteen tons. It beats about seventy-two times a minute. In one year an average man's heart pumps 11,680,000 pounds of blood.

Newfoundlanders Labor Day Outing.

The Newfoundland Catholic Association's outing at Point Edward yesterday proved an extraordinary success in point of numbers, entertainment and enthusiasm. All the sports were well contested, but the event of the day was the four-boat race between crews from the Newfoundland Catholic Association and the Catholic Order of Foresters, in which the former won by about four minutes. The applause on the shore was deafening as the winning Newfoundland crew crossed the line. It is understood that the Newfoundlanders will make boat racing an annual feature and they hope to have several crews on the harbor next summer. They are prepared to meet all comers.—Sydney Post, Sept. 3.
