Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to leif destruction. Distress after eating, sick headsche, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and horeasing disease. Hood's Sarasparilla tones the tomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy ligestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspeptia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed as, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the eraving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feelings. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to percommend it." G. A. Pade, Watertown, Mass. Il gone feening.

THE TRIGGER.

REPPATH'S GREAT SCORE.

There was a good crowd, plenty of enhusiasm and some pretry fine shooting at the London Gun Club's weekly event yester-kay afternoon. The occasion was a special pne, as prizes were offered for the winners, and competition was keen. In the handiap sweepstake, A class shot at 24 targets, B at 27 and C at 30, from three unknown raps. Redpath's 24 out of 24 was the best performance ever seen on the London grounds, and he was heartily congratulated for this fine exhibition of shooting, which crounds, and he was heartily congratuated for this fine exhibition of shooting, which won for him the first prize—100 shells. Winfield showed up in improved form and torred 19 out of 30, getting the Hobbs Hardware prize of one pound of powder. Greener defeated Brewer by two shots. The following score tells the tale:

CRICKET.

The defeat of a representative team of English cricketers is evidence that Australian cricketers are good enough, but some of the authorities are of the opinion that still they are not as good as they used to be. One of the most entertaining and accurate of cricket writers in the Antipodes is "Felix," and he says: "It is incontrovertible that we are now weaker than when Spofforth, C. Bannerman, Murdoch, Massie, Evans, Palmer, McDonnell, Bonner, Midwinter, Boyle, and others were at the senith of their faum. These fine players have gone from us or have given up the SIX CASES

WORDS THAT BURK.

Whichever way the wind doth blow, Some heart is glad to have it so; Then blow it east or blow it west. The wind that blows, that wind is best.

My little craft sails not alone; Are out upon a thousand seas;
And what for me were favoring breeze
Might desh another, with the shock
Of doom, upon some hidden rock.
And so I do not dare to pray For winds to wait me on my way, But leave it to a Higher Will To stay or speed me, trusting still That all is well, and sure that He Who laupahed my best will sail or Who launched my bark will sail with me Through storm and calm, and will not fail, Whatever breezes may prevail, To land me, every peril past Within His sheltering heaven at last.

Then, whatsoever wind doth blow, And, blow it east or blow it west, The wind that blows, that wind is best
