ANOTHER ARREST. Galt, Aug. 17.—It was reported after midnight Monday that a man was brought into town by Chief of Police Ahern and taken too the cell where Allison was confined. The latter is said to have identified him as the man he saw in the lane on the Monday morning Mrs. Orr was murdered. The the man, but he was held by the police as a material witness.

THE LATEST THEORY.

The latest theory is that whoever fired at the woman chased her through the garden to the lane and shot at her as she was trying to get through the butt end of the gun with which to fell her, and from there dragged the body the few yards to where it was found buried in the corn patch. Whether the woman fired at an assailant and missed or whether the assailant fired at the willing to remain in seclusion for a is more probable however, that the few days, being confident that he can gun was in the hands of the woman, gun was in the hands of the woman, likely miss his mark, and some shots which is about the elevation of the extent bears out young Allison's story that Mrs. Orr inquired of him on the morning of the tragedy how to use the presence of her Maker probably before gun. Then the woman, having missed,
