Wreck of Islander Recalls Loss of the Elbe.

Believed That 42 Lives Were Lost and 115 Saved in the Disaster.

London, Aug. 21.—The disaster to ination, and today Master Campbell the Canadian Pacific liner Islander is opened the letter. It proved to be the Canadian Pacific liner Islander is commented on by nearly all of today's papers. In some particulars the tragedy recalls the loss of the North German Lloyd steamer Elbe, which sank off the southeast coast of England in January, 1895. On that occasion 385 lives were lost, but the circumstances of both collisions were curiously sim-

THE LOSS OF LIFE. Victoria, B, C., Aug. 20.-Latest reports of the disaster to the steamer Islander place the loss of life at 42, but no further names are obtainable except that of Howard Fowler, which was given in the list published as Howard Smith, second steward. Another name has also to be added to the list of saved, that of Quartermaster Hintz. Purser Bishop has gone to Skaguay to get a full list of those who took passage on the steamer.

OFFICERS WERE SOBER. Pilot Leblanc and all the officers deny the report that either he or the captain were intoxicated, and assert that the Islander was well supplied with life belts.

DEVELOPMENTS OF INQUEST. Seattle, Wash., Aug. 20.—At the inquest held at Juneau, which Mr. Snyder attended, evidence developed which tend to excuse the captain for not beaching the steamer at once. Mr.

"The pilot testified that he was on the bridge and that as soon as she struck he told the captain that he was going to beach her, but the captain 'No, there's a better place about three miles from here and she will asily float that long."

"The testimony showed that there was a stowaway in the forward water tight compartment. When the vessel struck the water rushed in on him and he set up a big howl, and being immediately under the sailors' quarters one of them thoughtlessly rushed down and opened the compartment, which allowed the sea to come rolling into the hold, carrying the body of the stowaway and the sailor with it. This was done without the captain's knowledge, and I think excused him for thinking vessel would float several hours which it would have done had the water tight compartment not been opened, and he could have beached her in a small bay about three miles away "It was established that if the pilot had carried out his intention he could have gotten her on the beach without loss of any lives except the stowawav.'
